29. No appeal shall lie against any order or decree made or passed by any Court in any suit instituted under this Act; but if, at any stage of the suit, the respondent shall allege by way of defence that the marriage between the parties has been dissolved by the conversion of the petitioner, and that consequently the petitioner is not a Native husband or a Native wife (as the case may be) within the meaning of this Act, the Judge, if he shall entertain any doubt as to the validity of such defence, shall, either of his own motion or on the application of the respondent, state the case and submit it with his own opinion thereon for the decision of the High Court.

Case to state necessary facts and documents and suit to be stayed.

30. Every such case shall concisely set forth such facts and documents as may be necessary to enable the High Court to decide the questions raised thereby, and the suit shall be stayed until the judgment of such Court shall have been received as hereinafter provided.

Case to be decided by three Judges.

31. Every such case shall be decided by at least three Judges of the High Court, if such Court be the High Court at any of the Presidency Towns; and the petitioner and respondent may appear and be heard in the High Court in person or by Advocate or Vakeel.

High Court may refer case to Judge for additions or alterations.

32. If the High Court shall not be satisfied that the statements contained in the case are sufficient to enable it to determine the questions raised thereby, the High Court may refer the case back to the Judge by whom it was stated, to make such additions thereto or alterations therein, as the High Court may direct in that behalf.

High Court may decide question raised, and Judge shall dispose of case accordingly.

33. It shall be lawful for the High Court upon the hearing of any such case to decide the questions raised thereby, and to deliver its judgment, thereon containing the grounds on which such decision is founded; and it shall send to the Judge by whom the case was stated a copy of such judgment under the seal of the Court and the signature of the Registrar, and the Judge shall, on receiving the same, dispose of the case conformably to such judgment.

Saving of Roman Catholic marriages.

34. Nothing contained in this Act, or in Acts Nos. XXV of 1864 and V of 1865, shall be taken to render invalid any marriage of a Native Convert to Roman Catholicism if celebrated in accordance with the rules, rites, ceremonies and customs of the Roman Catholic Church; and no Clergyman of such Church shall be liable to any suit or penalty under the provisions of either of the two Acts last hereinbefore mentioned for solemnizing any such marriage.

Extent of Act.

35. This Act shall extend to all the territories that are or shall become vested in Her Majesty or Her successors by the Statute 21 and 22 Vic., cap. 106, entitled "An Act for the better Government of India," except the Settlement of Prince of Wales' Island, Singapore and Malacca. But it may be extended, with the consent of the Governor General of India in Council, by order of the Governor of such Settlement to all or any part of the territory subject to his Government; and he may, with such consent as aforesaid, determine the Court in which suits against residents in such territory shall be commenced under the provisions of this Act. In case of such extension, if the Indian Penal Code shall not then apply to the said Settlement, the respondent's personal appearance pursuant to this Act may be enforced by such procedure, as the said Governor, with such consent as aforesaid, shall provide in that behalf.

The Post Master receiving such letters, &c., by the Mail, shall then be guided by the instructions laid down in Section LX. of the Post Office Act; but unless for the causes specified above, and in Sections XXVIII. and LX. of the Post Office Act, and in Section L., Clause 8 of the Post Office Rules, all Post Office Authorities are prohibited from detaining any letter, paper, or packet received for delivery by post.

XIV. All letters, newspapers, or other articles received for despatch by Letter or Banghy Post shall be weighed at the Post Office of Despatch, and shall be stamped with the Office Stamp; and all letters, &c., the full postage on which has not been prepaid by stamps, shall have the postage to which they are severally liable marked on them. Banghy parcels shall, in all cases, be re-weighed on delivery. The re-weighing of private letters and other articles shall be at the discretion of the Officer in charge of the Delivery Office.

Examination of Post Office Records not permitted to the public.

Hours of receipt at Post Offices.

XVI. At all Post Offices registered letters and Banghy parcels will be received every day, Sundays excepted, for despatch, from 7 A. M. to 8 A. M., and from noon to 5 P. M.

XVII. Letter-boxes will remain open day and night; the hours at which each letter-box will be cleared will be marked upon it.

Letter-boxes to remain open day and night.

XVIII. Official references and personal applications to Post Office Authorities shall be made between the hours of 7 A. M. and 8 A. M., and between noon and 5 P. M., except on Sundays, when Post Offices will be open from 7 A. M. to 8 A. M., and one other hour.

Office hours for references.

XIX. A notice shall be conspicuously placarded, in English and the language of the place, outside every Post Office, giving information respecting the hours of attendance, the despatch of Mails, and the delivery of letters.

Notice of despatch and receipt of Mails to be placarded.

XX. The packets for all Mails to be despatched in the course of the night shall be closed at 6 P. M., but for Mails which usually pass in the course of the day the packets shall be made up half an hour before the time appointed for the arrival of such Mails. Notice of the hour at which each Mail is closed shall be hung up outside the Office, both in English and the language of the district.

Despatch of Mails.

XXI. Except when a Post-Master General shall deem a longer interval necessary, "late letters" will be received at any Post Office until fifteen minutes before the despatch of the Mails. But no late letter will be forwarded by the Mail preparing for despatch, unless fully prepaid by means of stamps, so as to include the ordinary postage and a late letter fee of half a Rupee.

Late letters.

N. B.—Late letters are such as are posted after the hour fixed for the closing of any Mail, and which, therefore, cannot be sent forward by the Mail then in preparation, unless extra payment be made. No Office shall be kept open merely for the reception of late letters after the usual hour of closing at night. Late letters can be posted only at a Post Office.

XXII. The Post-Master at any station, or person in charge of the Post Office, shall have power to refuse letters or other articles bearing the appearance of having been opened and re-closed, or otherwise improperly dealt with, unless the writer or sender thereof shall attest with his full signature that they were sent in that state. No parcel shall be received for transmission by Banghy Post, unless it be securely packed in cloth, or wax-cloth, or tin; and no such parcel, packed in cloth, or wax-cloth, shall be received unless seals, bearing distinct impressions of some device (not that of a current coin), be fixed at intervals not exceeding three inches along the lines of sewing by which the cover is secured.

Letters, &c., damaged not to be received.

XXIII. In order to protect, as far as possible, the public Mails from the chance of robbery, Officers in charge of Post Offices shall not knowingly receive coin, bullion, precious stones, or jewels for despatch, either by Letter or Banghy Post.

Post Offices not to receive valuables for despatch.

XXIV. Letters, newspapers and book packets will be registered on payment of a fee of four annas; and parties posting such letters, newspapers or book packets will be furnished with a receipt bearing the address of the letter and the Office stamp. The fee must, in all cases, be paid in stamps. On the delivery of a registered letter a receipt for the same must be given to the Delivery Peon.

Registered letters.

XXV. Receipts will not be granted for any letters, or papers, or book packets received at any Post Office for despatch, except in the case of registered articles; and will be granted for parcels only when presented ready written, either in books or on separate slips of paper along with the parcels. Receipts so presented will be duly stamped.

Receipts will not be given for letters, &c.

XXVI. The Master Attendant of each Presidency, Port, or such other Officer as may be directed by Government shall furnish the Post-Master with early intimation of the intended departure of all vessels to any part of the world; and the Post-Master shall cause a list of the vessels for which packets are open to be published weekly in the Official Gazette of his own Presidency.

Master Attendant to notify intended departure of all vessels.

Post Master to publish weekly Lists.

XXVII. The Post-Master shall also cause to be published weekly in the Official Gazette of the Presidency a Notice of the several dates up to which packets have been despatched by each vessel carrying a Mail that may have left the Port.

Post-Master to publish weekly Notice of packets despatched.

XXVIII. All Public Despatches are to be made up in the most compact form possible; and whenever two or more letters are despatched from any one Office to the same individual by the same day's post they are to be put up under one cover.

Public Despatches to be compactly made up.

XXIX. When the number of covers received at any Post Office shall cause the weight of the Mail to exceed the regulated weight, the Post-Master is authorized to keep back a portion of the heavier Public Despatches and imported newspapers till the following day, but private letters and public letters marked "despatch" shall not be kept back.

When bulk of Mails exceeds regulated weight, how to be disposed of.

XXX. As the employment of Expresses interferes with the celerity and regularity of the ordinary Mails, and is attended with expense, public Officers are enjoined to employ them as sparingly as possible; and any public Officer despatching an Express, when the exigency of the Public Service does not, in the opinion of the authority to whom he is subordinate, require it, will be held answerable for the expenses attending that method of transmission. Public Expresses from a Post Office at the seat of any Government or Administration can only be ordered by a Secretary to Government, in other cases by the Chief Civil or Military Authority of the place.

Public Officers to employ them sparingly under a penalty.

XXXI. Letters which individuals address on their private affairs to any Government Officer must be sent prepaid by stamps; and this rule is to be understood to include letters transmitting Bills of Exchange, Promissory Notes, Receipts, Government Securities, &c., to an Accountant-General, or any other public Officer. When public Officers write letters on such subjects to individuals, they shall subscribe on the envelopes, with their official signatures, the words "Bearing Postage," and in such case the letters on delivery shall be charged according to their weight with the rate of postage to which they would have been liable if prepaid.

Postage on letters on Public Service to be charged to the Department to which Officers signing them belong.

XXXII. The postage on letters and parcels sent on the Public Service by public Officers, from time to time authorized by Government in that respect, shall be charged to the Departments to which they severally belong; such letters must be addressed according to the subjoined form:—

Form of address.

On Her Majesty's Service only.

The Officer Commanding
John Smith, 1*st Regt., Lt. Cavalry,*
Adjt. Genl. Cawnpore.

The signature and designation of the Officer signing the same being written in full.

[Revised Regulations for the transmission of official correspondence will hereafter be published separately: meantime the existing lists of Officers authorized to transmit letters, &c., on the public service, without actual payment of postage, will remain in force.]

Delivery of Mails.

XXXIII. The hours at which Mails will be delivered must depend upon the hours at which they are received. The number of daily deliveries and the hours at which the Letter Carriers will leave the Post Office, shall be duly notified, from time to time, in each post town.

Letter Carriers.

XXXIV. Letter Carriers are forbidden to deliver any letter, newspaper, or other article without requiring immediate payment of the exact amount of postage. They are not bound to give change. If the amount of postage due is not at once tendered, and a Letter Carrier is subject to detention, the letters, &c., upon which postage is due shall be taken back to the Post Office for the next delivery. Letter Carriers are forbidden to deviate from their prescribed route.

Private boxes and bags.

XXXV. Any person can rent a private box and receive his letters, &c., at the Post Office window, who is willing to pay the appointed fee of twelve Rupees per annum, to be paid in advance, and for a period of not less than a year. The same also are the terms for a private bag, except that, in addition, a charge will be made for the cost of the bag itself, and for conveyance,—the maximum of the latter being five Rupees per annum, if the bag be conveyed by a rural Messenger, and ten Rupees if by a Contractor for a Mail Cart or other Horse Post. The weight of a private bag, when empty, is limited to one pound. No private bag shall be allowed without the permission of the Inspecting Post-Master.

Delivery at window.

XXXVI. No person living within any town free delivery, or within the limits of a rural post free delivery, unless he rent a private box, can claim to have his letters delivered at the Office window, if a delivery by Letter Carrier, or a despatch by Messenger, is about to take place; but letters which arrive by a Mail, after which there is no immediate delivery by Letter Carrier or Messenger, may be obtained by any person on application at the Office window, so long as the Office is open for delivery. But in order to prevent the additional trouble which is sometimes caused by letters being directed to a Post Office, although for persons residing within a free-delivery from such Office, but who have no private box, a Post-Master is authorized, when such letters arrive by a Mail for which there is a delivery from house to house, to refuse to deliver them at the window (even though initials may be substituted for the name), and to send them out by the Letter Carriers.

Complaints how to be preferred.

XXXVII. Whatever postage is marked on a letter, paper, or parcel, must be paid at once on delivery, after which any complaint of overcharge will be duly attended to. In all complaints of overcharge or unnecessary delay in delivering letters, or other articles, the covers or envelopes bearing the Post Office Stamp must be presented for inspection; and when any complaints are preferred against any Letter Carrier, the number on his badge should be specified.

Commanding Officers receive letters for their own Regiments.

XXXVIII. Letters directed to Native Officers, or men of Regiments or Detachments, shall be delivered to an Orderly or any other fit person, who shall be deputed by the Officer Commanding the Regiment or Detachment to receive the same; but letters on which postage may be due shall not be delivered to such person, unless the postage be first paid.

Notice to arriving vessels for disposal of packets.

XXXIX. On the arrival of any ship or vessel off any British Indian Port, a printed Notice, under the signature of the Post-Master of the Port or Station, shall be delivered to the Commander by the first boat despatched to board the vessel, according to the requisition of which the Commander shall proceed to dispose of such packets as he may have on board, as directed by Section XXXI. of the Post Office Act—a copy of which clause shall be communicated to the said Commander.

All letters, &c., received for despatch, to be marked with the appropriate Office Stamp, and with the amount of postage.

XL. All letters, papers and packets whatever received at any Post Office in India for despatch by Post, whether paid, stamped, or liable to postage, as the case may be, are to be marked with the appropriate stamp, bearing the name of such Office of despatch; and when slide stamps, shewing the date of the month and year, are not provided, the said date must be entered in writing across the middle of the face of the stamp. If the letter or packet received for despatch be bearing postage, the amount of postage due must be entered in writing on the face of the letter.

All letters, &c., received for delivery to be stamped; but the postage, unless under-charged, not to be marked.

XLI. All letters, papers and packets whatever received at any Post Office by post, for delivery at such Office, are, in like manner, to be stamped with the appropriate Office stamp, and marked with the date of the month and year; but the amount of postage paid or due is not to be marked, unless the letter has been under-charged with postage at the Despatching Office.

Obliterating stamp.

XLII. All postage stamps on letters, papers, or parcels must be carefully obliterated with the stamp furnished for that object; and the black composition supplied for the purpose must be used in all cases. Letters bearing stamps which have been previously obliterated or defaced must be treated as unpaid letters.

Post-Master not himself to affix a stamp on letters, &c.

XLIII. No Post-Master is allowed to affix a postage stamp to a letter brought unstamped to his Office.

Forward letters, &c., to be stamped and marked with additional postage.

XLIV. Forward letters, papers, or packets, i. e., those which follow the addressee from station to station, are to be stamped at each Office of fresh despatch, and marked with the additional postage due on such fresh despatch.

Exact weight of banghy parcels to be marked.

XLV. On banghy parcels the exact weight must, in all cases, be entered in writing on the face thereof.

Other letters, &c., how to be stamped.

XLVI. Supplementary rules regarding the shape and size of the Office stamps to be used on the several descriptions of letters shall be, when necessary, circulated by the Director-General of the Post Office.

At such Post Offices as have more than one delivery daily letters, &c., to be stamped A. M. or P. M., according to time of delivery.

XLVII. At such Post Offices as have more than one delivery daily, all letters, papers and packets must be marked with a stamp, shewing at which delivery they were distributed.

XLVIII. Labels should be placed on the front of the letter and upon the right-hand corner of the upper side. On re-directed letters, however, care should be taken not to place fresh stamps over the stamps which have been previously used.

XLIX. Receipt or other Inland Revenue stamps cannot be used in place of postage stamps, nor can postage stamps which have been torn, cut, or otherwise rendered imperfect be used.

Packet Post Rules.

L. In order to entitle books, packets of newspapers, and other articles to be conveyed by Packet Post, under the provisions of Section XIII. of the Post Office Act, the following conditions must be observed :—

(1.)—Every packet must be sent either without a cover, or in a cover, open at the ends or sides, so as to admit of the enclosures being removed for examination ; for the greater security of its contents it may be secured with string, but in such case the Post-Master is authorized to cut the string, although if he do so, he must again tie up the packet.

(2.)—No book packet may contain anything which is sealed, or otherwise closed against inspection ; nor must there be any letter, nor any communication of the nature of a letter, whether separate or otherwise, unless the whole of such letter or communication be printed. Entries, however, merely stating who sends the book, &c., or to whom it is given are not regarded as a letter. As respects the name and address of the sender, not only is the writing permitted, but it is recommended, in order that if the cover come off, or for any other reason, the packet cannot be forwarded, it may be returned to the sender.

(3.)—No book packet must exceed one foot and half in length, or one foot in width or depth ; and if any such packet be presented at a Post Office, it will not be received.

(4.)—Any packet which shall have any letter, or any communication of the nature of a letter written in it, or upon its cover, will be charged with the letter postage.

(5.)—If a packet be found to contain any letter not wholly printed, whether closed or open, or any enclosure sealed, or otherwise closed against inspection, or any other unauthorized enclosure, the letter or enclosure will be taken out and forwarded to the address on the packet charged with the full postage, as an unpaid letter, together with an additional rate ; and the remainder of the packet, if duly prepaid with stamps, will then be forwarded to its address.

(6.)—Samples of seeds, &c., may be enclosed in boxes, or in bags of linen, or other material, fastened in such a manner that they may be readily opened, or in bags entirely closed, provided that they are transparent, so that the Officers of the Department may be able to satisfy themselves as to the nature of the contents. If this rule be infringed, the packet will be treated as a letter or banghy parcel, as the case may be.

(7.)—The rule which forbids the transmission through the Post of any article which might injure the contents of the Mail Bags, or the Officers of the Post Office, is so far relaxed as to permit the transmission of scissors, knives, razors, forks, steel-pens, nails, keys, watch machinery, metal tubing, pieces of metal or ore, and such like provided that they be packed and guarded in so secure a manner as to afford complete protection to the contents of the Mail Bags, and Officers of the Post Office, while at the same time they may be easily examined. If any packet containing such articles as these be posted, which is found not to be sufficiently guarded, it will be stopped ; and a notice of its detention will be sent to the person to whom it is addressed, or to the sender, who may then obtain it upon pensonal application ; but the packet will be charged with a fine equal in amount to the postage to which the packet was liable.

Despatch of book packets may, when necessary, be delayed.

(8.)—To prevent obstacles to the regular transmission of letters, a Post-Master may, when necessary, delay forwarding any book packet, not a newspaper, for a period not exceeding twenty-four hours beyond the ordinary time ; the main business of the Post Office being the transmission of letters, the forwarding of books and newspapers (which no one is compelled to send through the Post Office), though an important, is only a secondary, object, for which no arrangement can be made which would interfere with the quick and regular conveyance and delivery of letters.

LI. Unless by an express order of the Government, or Director-General of the Post Office, or a Post-Master General, no letter, parcel, or packet, which has been delivered into any Post Office shall be restored to the sender thereof, except in the manner described in Section XXIX. of the Post Office Act of 1866 ; and except in the case of a letter or other article addressed to a place beyond the limits of British India, which, for any reason, cannot be forwarded to its destination.

Report of the Cultivation of Cinchonæ at Darjeeling during the Month of January 1866.

From T. ANDERSON, Esq., M. D., Superintendent, Botanical Gardens, and in charge of Cinchona cultivation in Bengal, to the Officiating Junior Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(No. 30, dated the 6th April 1866.)

I HAVE the honor to forward the report on the cultivation of Cinchonæ at Darjeeling for the month of January 1866.

Report for the month of January 1866.

JANUARY is always the coldest month at Darjeeling, and accordingly vegetation is completely arrested until the return of spring about the middle of February. I have, therefore, little progress to report this month. No cuttings of C. Succirubra were made; and only 1,100 of C. Officinalis were obtained during January. The valuable species C. Calisaya, however, yielded 12 cuttings, making 1,112 cuttings of all species as the increase made during this month. The total number of plants planted out permanently in the open air has been increased to 6,598 by the formation of three small plantations in the Teesta valley. The young plants of C. Succirubra in open unprotected beds for the formation in April of bark yielding plantations have been increased this month to 16,783. The total number of plants and cuttings of all species of Cinchona on the 31st January was 1,38,008.

2. A quantity of seed of C. Officinalis yielded by plants grown at the Cinchona plantations in Ceylon has been sent to me by Mr. Thwaites, the Director of the Ceylon Botanical Gardens. The seed has been sown at the distribution nursery at Rungyroong.

3. Eighty-eight plants of Cinchona were distributed during the month.

4. The repairing of the road through the plantations (about five miles in length) was completed during the month. A bridge across the Rungbee stream has been commenced in order to admit of the plantations now being opened up at Rishap being visited during the rains when the Rungbee is impassable. The site of the permanent plantations at Rishap has been cleared of jungle, and the stumps have been rooted out over an extent of nearly 3 acres.

5. The weather during January has much resembled what prevailed during December, only that the temperature has been lower and a small quantity of rain has fallen. 2·2 inches of rain were recorded at Rungbee during this month. At the second plantations 5,000 feet above the sea the mean maximum temperature was 54·6, the mean minimum 37·4, and the monthly mean temperature 46. At the fourth plantation the mean maximum temperature was 59·4, the mean minimum 48·4, and the mean temperature 53·9. At the fifth plantation, 2,556 feet above the sea, sixteen observations give the following results:—the mean maximum temperature was 65·5, the mean minimum 47·5, and the mean temperature 56·5. At the first plantation the self-registering thermometer was observed on six distinct days. The highest temperature observed was 56°, and the lowest 34°.

In ordinary cases such interrogation and every other interrogation prescribed by this Act shall be made by the Judge, but when the respondent is exempt by law from personal appearance in Court, or when the Judge shall, in his discretion, excuse the respondent from such appearance, the interrogations shall be made by Commissioners noting under such Commission as hereinafter mentioned.

Provided always that no minister of religion shall be compelled to solemnize the marriage of any person whose former marriage may have been dissolved under this Act, or shall be liable to any suit or penalty for refusing to solemnize the marriage of any such person.

23. If at any stage of the suit it be proved that the male party to the suit is or was at the institution thereof under the age of sixteen years, or that the female party to the suit is or was at the same time under the age of thirteen years, or that the petitioner and the respondent are cohabiting as man and wife, or if the Court is satisfied by the evidence adduced that the respondent is ready and willing so to cohabit with the petitioner, the Court shall pass a decree dismissing the suit and stating the ground of such dismissal.

Revival of suit after such dismissal.

24. If at any time within twelve months, after a decree dismissing the suit upon any of the ground mentioned in the last preceding Section, the respondent again desert or repudiate the petitioner upon the ground of his or her change of religion, the suit may be revived by summoning the respondent; and upon proof of the former decree and of such renewed repudiation or desertion, the suit shall re-commence at the stage at which it had arrived immediately before the passing of such decree; and, after the proofs, interrogations, interview and adjournment which may then be requisite under the provisions hereinbefore contained, the Judge shall pass a decree of the nature mentioned in the 16th Section of this Act.

Petitioner's cruelty or adultery to bar the suit.

25. If at any stage of the suit it be proved that the respondent has deserted or repudiated the petitioner solely or partly in consequence of the petitioner's cruelty or adultery, the Court shall pass a decree dismissing the suit and stating the ground of such dismissal. A suit dismissed under this Section shall not be revived.

Male petitioner's cohabitation with one of several wives to bar the suit.

26. If the petitioner, being a male, has at the time of the institution of the suit two or more wives, he shall make them all respondents; and if at any stage of the suit it be proved that he is cohabiting with one of such wives as man and wife, or that any one of such wives is ready and willing so to cohabit with him, the Court shall pass a decree dismissing the suit and stating the ground of such dismissal. The provisions as to revival contained in the 24th Section of this Act shall apply, mutatis mutandis, to a suit dismissed under this Section.

Dissolution of marriage not to affect status or rights of children.

27. A dissolution of marriage under the provisions of this Act shall not operate to deprive the respondent's children (if any) by the petitioner of their status as legitimate children, or of any right or interest which they would have had, according to the Native law applicable to them, by way of maintenance, inheritance or otherwise, in case the marriage had not been so dissolved as aforesaid.

28. If a suit be commenced under the provisions of this Act, and it appear to the Court that the wife has not sufficient separate property to enable her to maintain herself suitably to her station in life, and to prosecute or defend the suit, the Court may, pending the suit, order the husband to furnish the wife with sufficient funds to enable her to prosecute or defend the suit, and also for her maintenance pending the suit. If the suit be brought by a husband against a wife, the Court may by the decree order the husband to make such allowance to his wife for her maintenance during the remainder of her life as the Court shall think just, and having regard to the condition and station in life of the parties. Any allowance so ordered shall cease from the time of any subsequent marriage of the wife.

No appeal under this Act; but the Judge may state case raising question whether conversion has dissolved marriage.

29. No appeal shall lie against any order or decree made or passed by any Court in any suit instituted under this Act; but if, at any stage of the suit, the respondent shall allege by way of defence that the marriage between the parties has been dissolved by the conversion of the petitioner, and that consequently the petitioner is not a Native husband or a Native wife (as the case may be) within the meaning of this Act, the Judge, if he shall entertain any doubt as to the validity of such defence, shall, either of his own motion or on the application of the respondent, state the case and submit it with his own opinion thereon for the decision of the High Court.

Case to state necessary facts and documents and suit to be stayed.

30. Every such case shall concisely set forth such facts and documents as may be necessary to enable the High Court to decide the questions raised thereby, and the suit shall be stayed until the judgment of such Court shall have been received as hereinafter provided.

Case to be decided by three Judges.

31. Every such case shall be decided by at least three Judges of the High Court, if such Court be the High Court at any of the Presidency Towns; and the petitioner and respondent may appear and be heard in the High Court in person or by Advocate or Vakeel.

High Court may refer case to Judge for additions or alterations.

32. If the High Court shall not be satisfied that the statements contained in the case are sufficient to enable it to determine the questions raised thereby, the High Court may refer the case back to the Judge by whom it was stated, to make such additions thereto or alterations therein, as the High Court may direct in that behalf.

High Court may decide question raised, and Judge shall dispose of case accordingly.

33. It shall be lawful for the High Court upon the hearing of any such case to decide the questions raised thereby, and to deliver its judgment, thereon containing the grounds on which such decision is founded; and it shall send to the Judge by whom the case was stated a copy of such judgment under the seal of the Court and the signature of the Registrar, and the Judge shall, on receiving the same, dispose of the case conformably to such judgment.

Saving of Roman Catholic marriages.

34. Nothing contained in this Act, or in Acts Nos. XXV of 1861 and V of 1865, shall be taken to render invalid any marriage of a Native Convert to Roman Catholicism if celebrated in accordance with the rules, rites, ceremonies and customs of the Roman Catholic Church; and no Clergyman of such Church shall be liable to any suit or penalty under the provisions of either of the two Acts last hereinbefore mentioned for solemnizing any such marriage.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

ACT No. VII OF 1866.

An Act to make better provision for the acquisition of land for Embankments, and other matters relating thereto.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to make better provision for the acquisition of land required for embankments, and for charging the expense thereof upon the owners of lands benefited thereby; Be it enacted :—

Lands for embankments may be acquired under powers for acquiring land for public purposes.

I. When it shall be necessary for any Collector to acquire land for the purpose of constructing any public Embankment, or of extending or altering any embankment the superintendence or charge whereof is vested in an Officer of Government, the provisions of Act VI of 1857 passed by the Governor General of India in Council, entitled "An Act for the acquisition of land for public purposes," and of any other Act for the time being in force relating to the acquisition of land for public purposes,—shall extend and apply to the acquisition of such land for the purpose aforesaid, so far as the same shall be applicable, and such Collector shall and may take and acquire such land, and assess compensation for the same, and do all other acts necessary for the acquisition thereof, by and under the powers and provisions of such Act or Acts so far as the same is or are applicable in that behalf; but no such declarations or orders by or on behalf of Government as are mentioned in Sections II and III of the said Act VI of 1857 shall be necessary or required. Any person to whom compensation has been awarded in respect of lands taken shall be entitled to receive the same, together with interest after the rate of six per centum per annum from the time when the land was taken: Provided that notwithstanding any thing contained in Section VII, Clause 1, of Act XXXII of 1855 passed by the Governor General of India in Council, entitled "An Act relating to Embankments," it shall not be obligatory upon the Collector to pay to any person, nor shall any person have a right to a Civil suit for the recovery of any money in respect of compensation for lands taken, where the same is payable as hereinafter provided by the persons whose lands are benefited, until and unless the Collector shall have received the same from such person.

Cost of land acquired for embankment where lands of different owners benefited.

II. In cases where lands the property of different owners will, in the opinion of the Collector, derive benefit from the construction, alteration, or extension of any public Embankment, and it is necessary to acquire land for the purpose of such construction, alteration, or extension, it shall be lawful for such Collector to charge the cost of such land and the expense attending its acquisition upon the persons so deriving such benefit, in such proportions as in his opinion shall be equivalent to the benefit derived by their lands respectively. Before assessing such contribution, the Collector shall cause a notice to be served on each of such persons, in which it shall be stated what land is being taken, and the purpose for which it is required, and that the lands of such person will derive benefit from the execution of the works, and giving him notice that an inquiry will be held, at a day and place to be named, for the purpose of apportioning amongst the persons whose lands will be benefited by the intended works, the cost of the land and the expense of acquiring it. In case such person does not reside within the district in which his lands are situate, the notice may be served upon his agent, or if he has no agent therein, it will be sufficient to affix the notice upon some conspicuous part of his estate.

Mode of inquiry as to the proportion chargeable to each estate.

III. On the day fixed in the notice, which shall not be less than one month later than the date of service of such notice, the Collector shall proceed to make the necessary inquiry for the determination of the proportion in which the estates affected by the construction, extension, or alteration of the embankment will be benefited thereby. In making this inquiry he shall receive such evidence as may be tendered by or on behalf of the owners of estates which may appear likely to be benefited by the construction, extension, or alteration of the embankment as aforesaid, and by and on behalf of any other persons who may claim to be interested in the said inquiry, and he may make or cause to be made such local investigation, and call for such documents and examine such witnesses, as he may think necessary; and all the provisions of the law, for the time being in force, in regard to the examination of witnesses and production of documents in judicial proceedings, shall be applicable to inquiries conducted by the Collector under this Act.

No appeal from Collector's award: but any owner may recover from another who has not been assessed or who has been under-assessed.

IV. The Collector shall and may after such inquiry make an award, in which he shall find and state the names of the persons whose lands will be or are benefited by the construction, alteration, or extension of such embankment, and the proportion of the cost of the land and the expense of its acquisition (including therein the cost of the said inquiry) which they ought respectively to bear. No appeal shall lie from the award of the Collector. But it shall be competent to the owner of any land assessed to a larger amount than his fair proportion, to recover such excess in the Civil Court, from the owner of any land or estate benefited thereby upon whom no assessment has been made, or a smaller amount has been assessed than ought to have been awarded against him: Provided that in such suit no more shall be recovered from any person than the amount to which he ought to have been assessed, where he has not been required to contribute, or the amount by which the sum he was required to pay was less than his fair proportion where he has been required to contribute.

Expenses of acquiring land, what included in.

V. There shall be included in the expense of acquiring the land so to be distributed amongst the persons benefited, not only the compensation awarded to the owner of the land taken, including interest at the rate of six per centum per annum from the time when the land was taken, but also the cost of surveys and plans, of notices, of the said inquiry and award, and all other costs, charges, and expenses incident to obtaining possession of such land. The amount so awarded shall and may be recovered from the person so required to pay the same, in the same way and by the same means as arrears of Government Revenue.

Expense of sluice may be apportioned where lands of different owners benefited.

VI. When application has been made to the Collector under Section VIII of the said Act XXXII of 1855, for the construction of a sluice in any public embankment, and, in the opinion of the Collector, lands the property of other persons as well as of the person making the application will be benefited by the construction of the sluice, the expense of such construction may be assessed upon and recovered from such persons in such shares or proportions as shall, in the opinion of the Collector, be equivalent to the benefit derived by their lands respectively. Provided, nevertheless, that notice in writing shall be served on all such persons, stating that it is proposed to make such sluice, the probable expense thereof, and that an inquiry will be held at a place and hour specified, for the purpose of apportioning the expense of such construction among the persons to be benefited thereby, and that such person is supposed to be likely to be benefited thereby. And such notice may be served, and such inquiry shall be held, and such award shall be made, subject to the same rules, powers, and provisoes in all respects as is hereinbefore provided in the case of the apportionment of the cost of land required for embankments. And the said award shall be final: but a Civil suit may be brought to recover any excess with which any such person may be charged, from persons who ought to have been charged but have not been charged with any portion of the expense, against whom less has been awarded than fair proportion, as hereinbefore provided respect to the apportionment of the cost of l

Disposal of lands no longer required for embankments.

VII. Whenever, in consequence of the construction or alteration of any public embankment, the maintenance of any other public embankment, or the retention of any land appropriated to the purposes thereof, may no longer be required, and the permanent relinquishment of the same may be deemed expedient by the Officer in charge of the embankments, it shall be lawful for the Collector to dispose of the site of the embankment or of the land so abandoned by public sale, and all the provisions of the Law for the time being in force in regard to sales of land in default of payment of the Government revenue shall be applicable, so far as the same may be reasonably applied, to sales under the provisions of this Section. The proceeds of such sales shall, after the payment of all expenses incurred on account of the same, be applied to the payment of the cost of the new land taken up for embankment purposes, and in such case the residue only of the cost of such new land shall be apportioned among the owners of lands benefited as hereinbefore provided. Provided that it shall not be competent to the Collector to sell in the manner aforesaid any land which shall not have been taken up for embankment purposes under the provisions of this Act.

Collector may delegate any of his powers to a Deputy Collector.

VIII. A Collector may delegate any of his powers under this Act to a Deputy Collector, but from any order passed by a Deputy Collector to whom powers have been so delegated an appeal shall lie to the Collector, if presented within fifteen days of the date of the order.

Act does not apply where obligation to provide land exists.

IX. Nothing in this Act shall be held to exempt any person from the obligation of giving land gratuitously, or of paying for land taken up for the purpose of public embankments, where such obligation exists by any law or custom.

Prevalence of Small-pox at Deoghur.

From W. N. Green, Esq., M. D., Officiating Principal Inspector-General, Medical Department, to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(No. 1068, dated the 3rd April 1866.)

In submitting for the information of the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal the accompanying docket No. 153 of the 27th ultimo, and its enclosures, from the Deputy Inspector-General of Hospitals of the Dinapore Circle, I have the honor to remark that I consider Assistant-Surgeon Chundra has displayed considerable promptness and ability in the advice and assistance afforded by him to the Civil Authorities during the prevalence of the small-pox epidemic at Deoghur and its neighbourhood, and that his success in inducing the Brahmin inoculators to inoculate with our vaccine lymph, instead of with small-pox matter, a large number of the Hindoo population, is highly satisfactory and praiseworthy.

From N. C. Chundra, Esq., Civil Assistant-Surgeon, Sonthal Pergunnahs, to A. H. Cheeke, Esq., M. D., Deputy Inspector-General of Hospitals, Dinapore Circle,—(No. 50, dated the 24th March 1866.)

The late epidemic of small-pox at Deoghur having come to an end, I have the honor to submit, for the information of the Principal Inspector-General, Medical Department, and of Government, the following short report about its origin, propagation, and termination.

2. From the time the epidemic first broke out, it had been the subject of constant official correspondence, so that the remarks now offered will, to some extent, be a resumé of what has from time to time been reported.

3. In the month of August last a few sporadic cases of small-pox existed in the town of Deoghur. In the beginning of September their number increased, and being surrounded by influences favorable to the generation and propagation of the virus, the disease soon became epidemic, and continued so from September to the end of February. Though virulent in its nature, it remained confined for a long time to the town itself, and it was very gradually that it spread to the neighbouring villages, the civil station, the police lines, and the jail. Up to the end of January it covered an area of 10 square miles, but signs were perceptible of its soon attacking distant parts of the district, which it did in the middle of February, immediately after the Mêla, notwithstanding the exertions to prevent this.

4. During October, November, and December a virulent type, of the disease prevailed. It was not only the unprotected children who were attacked, but grown-up people, previously inoculated, fell victims to it. By far the majority of cases were of the confluent type, with severe head symptoms almost from the commencement, and amongst whom the mortality was very high. One or two deaths occurred in almost every family that was attacked, and some lost even four or five. At one time the daily number of deaths in the town was so high that the inhabitants became seriously alarmed, although, as a rule, they took upon the existence of small-pox in the midst of them with indifference, and even regard it as a necessary purification which they all must pass through sooner or later.

It was in the town of Deoghur and its immediate vicinity where the disease was so severe. Fortunately when distant parts of the district were attacked, the epidemic was on its decline, owing to which the disease in those places was of a milder type and the mortality was low, as will be evident from the return.

5. The peculiar state of the weather during the months of August, September and October,—unusual heat and great drought,—the proverbial anti-sanitary condition of the town, so often commented upon in my sanitary reports, and the state of uncleanliness in which, as a religious observance, the people keep their persons and their houses when small-pox appears in their families, materially helped to generate an epidemic from a few originally sporadic cases.

6. No time was lost in trying to adopt measures to check the progress of this dreadful scourge on its first appearance, in which I was helped with the Assistant Commissioner's most cordial co-operation; but to all our exertions for their own good the people offered a most obstinate resistance. Whether asked to remove from the town to some isolated villages the few children who got the disease in the commencement; or to send away the unprotected ones from the influence of the disease when it went on spreading; or to allow us to vaccinate them when family after family was being attacked with the epidemic; or to come to us for medical treatment of those who were ill, they only met us with some foolish objection or other. Since they worshipped small-pox as a goddess, and the operation of inoculation was a religious ceremony with them, all that we could do was to remonstrate. We met the influential people in their public places, and day after day entreated them to listen to our advice, but ignorant superstition was deaf to all reason. Under these circumstances, though this dreadful scourge went on committing its ravages before our eyes, we were obliged to be satisfied with indirect means to stay its progress. Stringent orders were issued to keep the streets, bazaars, and the public places clean. No nuisance of any kind was permitted to be committed with impunity, and almost all the houses were white-washed.

7. Thus the disease progressed, committing more or less havoc among the population till the middle of January, when a slight abatement in its severity was noticed. This we hoped was the commencement of the end of this calamity; but the inoculating priests seized this opportunity for their own profit, and by their advice inoculation was commenced on an extensive scale, and within a week from 1,200 to 1,500 children underwent the operation.

Inoculation, it is true, protects from small-pox, but only in the same way as one attack of this disease protects from future attacks. For what is a case of inoculation, but a genuine case of small-pox, as a rule of a mild nature, artificially produced? To multiply the disease therefore artificially in this wholesale manner, at a time when the original disease was raging epidemically, was like adding fuel to the existing conflagration.

8. This state of things was sufficiently bad as regarded the population of the district; but when there appeared a contingency of its affecting the life and health of a much more extended community, the whole thing presented a very serious aspect. It was then the middle of January, and on the 13th of February was to take place at Deoghur the great Mêla, when pilgrims from all parts of India congregate in large multitudes, and when they generally suffer from the evil effects of over-crowding, over-feeding, starvation, exposure, fatigue, the use of bad food and bad drink, and an atmosphere vitiated with exhalations from collections of decomposing filth If therefore the disease had not died out entirely at the time of the Mêla, and the pilgrims collected as usual, the influence of the above-mentioned conditions would surely revive the epidemic with increased violence, and the pilgrims when returning home would be the means of carrying disease and death to distant parts of India. Under these circumstances I should have failed in my duty had I not represented the danger in time, and suggested the necessary means to anticipate it. Accordingly on the 25th of January, I wrote officially to the Assistant Commissioner and recommended as the last resource the immediate stopping of further inoculation, and placing the town under quarantine during the coming Mêla. In so recommending, I was fully impressed at the time that these measures were rather severe; and that, as they came into collision with the religious practices of the people and as the placing of a religious town under quarantine at the time of its greatest festival, for sanitary objects, was the first thing of its kind in India in a political point of view, they might be regarded by some as extreme. But the necessity for them was extreme also. And why should political considerations be permitted to throw impediments on such occasions? Are not the Suttee-rite, the rite of infanticide, thuggism and the Churruck Poojah all things of the past, and have not the people learnt to bless and thank the Government that put them down for the sake of humanity, though they were all connected with their religious practices? However, as on those occasions, the Government now adopted the cause of humanity, and with exemplary promptitude issued orders to have the proposed measures carried out.

9. In the meantime, before the Government orders on the subject were received here, and just before the Mêla commenced, the epidemic appeared to be decreasing in violence. This was attributable to the continued strictness with which cleanliness was maintained in the town, and the fall of heavy showers of rain accompanied with thunder and lightning, by which a salutary change in the weather was brought about. Under these circumstances, and as there was not at hand a sufficiently large constabulary force to form a complete Cordon Sanitaire round the town, the Commissioner who fortunately happened to be here on his tour, adopted, with the sanction of Government, a modified system of quarantine. This consisted in preventing the pilgrims who had managed to arrive near the place, from lodging in the town and mixing with the inhabitants. Their camp was fixed outside, but they were permitted to go direct to the temple to worship, on the understanding that they were to return to their homes as soon as they had finished their poojah. The shops and the public places in the town were closed, and all infected people were warned not to leave their own houses. This arrangement seemed to answer tolerably well, as the number of pilgrims who had managed to come so far was small, the greatest bulk had returned home from their way, owing to the Government notifications, dissuading them from coming to Deoghur, having been circulated all over the country with great despatch. It is not easy to isolate a town so completely as a vessel with an infectious disease on board. For this reason we cannot expect that the system adopted did succeed in cutting off all communication of the infection. But since, with the exception of one or two solitary cases occurring here and there, no information has been received of its breaking out afresh in distant parts of the country, it may be hoped that the worst danger has been obviated.

10. That the reasons for recommending the town being placed under quarantine, and stopping all inoculation were not groundless, may be gathered from the following facts elicited in the course of this epidemic. Though confined for a long time to Deoghur and its immediate neighbourhood, the disease was afterwards known to have been carried by pilgrims to Kirown and Sabana, situated 28 and 40 miles from Deoghur on the high road to the south. To the s[illegible]-divisional station of Nulla it was conveyed by a barber belonging to that place, who had come to Deoghur when the epidemic was at its worst stage, and who, though previously inoculated, on his return home was laid up with the disease and communicated it to others. Six persons died, amongst whom was the poor barber himself. In other parts of the district also, as shewn in the return, the disease broke out immediately after the Mêla, during which more or less communication must have existed between them and the town of Deoghur. As regards the effects of inoculation, I have to state that for several days I visited the villages in this neighbourhood, where I saw many of those who underwent inoculation laid up with a severe kind of small-pox, who communicated the worst type of the spontaneous disease to unprotected children, and even to adults who had previously been inoculated. Again it was reported last month that small-pox had broken out in the district of Doomka. This was known to have originated with some children at Noni-Haut who had been inoculated by a priest going there from Deoghur.

11. The statistics that I have been able to collect shew that, up to date, 1,659 persons in this district were attacked with the disease, of whom 292 died, giving a percentage of mortality of 17 6. Of these 1,278 belonged only to Deoghur and its suburbs, where the deaths amounted to 269, or 21 per cent. The remaining number of cases, namely, 381, occurred in distant parts of the district, out of whom 23 died, or at the rate of 6 per cent. This low rate of mortality in the interior of the district is attributable to the disease there being of a milder type, as it was conveyed there when the original disease at Deoghur had lost its epidemic taint.

12. Since the people here, who are principally Hindoos, worship small-pox as a goddess and as Deoghur is one of the strongholds of Hindoo superstition, the sick were not permitted to be treated with medicines Religious ceremonies and charms were all that they relied upon. Owing to this, though the epidemic was raging and many deaths were occurring daily, the total number who accepted medical aid from the hospital before the Mêla was 14, of whom 5 belonged to the Police and 4 were Mahomedans.

Immediately on the receipt of the Government orders temporary small-pox hospitals were opened at Deoghur and Nulla. But though the public were warned by notifications to send in their sick to these places, in the Deoghur hospital only 15 cases, belonging to the lower castes, were admitted up to date. Of these, however, I am glad to report, 13 have been discharged cured, and the remaining 2 being new admissions are still on the sick list.

13. The last subject that I shall notice in this report is the subject of vaccination. As regards Deoghur proper I regret being unable to report of any great success. Our exertions here have been unremitting; still the number of cases of vaccination from November up to the present date amounted to 126 only, of which 65 were successful, and the rest consisted of doubtful and unsuccessful cases. Such a large proportion of failures was owing chiefly to the inferior kind of vaccine matter received at first. But better success attended my exertions in other parts of the district. Small-pox having been reported in the sub-division of Nulla, by desire of the Commissioner, I proceeded there towards the end of last month to inspect the infected localities and establish temporary hospitals for the treatment of the sick. This I thought would be a very good opportunity to try what could be done by way of vaccination. Being a novel thing in this district, half the battle was to make a good start. Accordingly at Korown, Nulla and Seerkatrah I met the principal and influential inhabitants, chiefly Brahmins, and took particular pains to explain to them the object of vaccination, and how that the only difference between it and their system, namely, inoculation, consisted in a slight difference in the matter used. To meet any religious scruples, I gave them to understand that vaccination need not prevent them from performing the usual poojahs on such occasions, and that if they preferred it they might get their children vaccinated by their own inoculating priests. Next I tried to bring over this latter and interested class of people, lest they, fancying that their legitimate trade had come to an end, should raise a hue and cry like the Ephesians of old. They were told that if they vaccinated with my matter they were at liberty to receive any presents the people were willing to give them for performing the usual religious ceremonies of teeka.

This arrangement seemed to satisfy all parties, and to give the work a good start two nephews of the Lakhirajdar of Korown, a Mahratta Brahmin, and the children of some high caste Brahmins of Seerkatrah were vaccinated in my presence by their own priests, by whom the operation was afterwards continued, but always in my presence, or the presence of one of my native doctors or vaccinators. Children came in flocks, and up to date in Korown, Nulla, and Seerkatrah, 1,162 of all classes, Brahmin and others, have been vaccinated, and it is a matter of congratulation that, with the exception of two or three, the operation has been successful in all. This gratifying result is mainly due to the vaccine matter latterly received from the Superintendent-General of Vaccination being fresh and good.

If to the above the vaccinations in Deoghur be added, the total number vaccinated during this epidemic season would amount to 1,288. Though this number is not a particularly large one, it is, I think, a good beginning, and by continuing to superintend the work personally in the interior of the district, I hope to be able to report additional success in future.

From the Hon'ble A. Eden, Secretary to the Government of Bengal, to the Officiating Principal Inspector-General, Medical Department,—(No. 29T., dated Darjeeling, the 24th April 1866.)

I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 1068, dated the 3rd instant, and in reply to say that, in the opinion of the Lieutenant-Governor, Dr. Chundra deserves great credit for the valuable assistance which he rendered to the Commissioner of the Sonthal Pergunnahs during the late small-pox epidemic at Deoghur, and especially for the tact and judgment which he has displayed in overcoming the superstitious prejudices of the people against vaccination.

1. WHEREVER the Officer in executive charge of the district is ex-officio Registrar, all changes in such appointments will at once be reported to the Registrar-General by the Officers giving and receiving charge. Sections 10-13.

2. When a Registrar leaves his office on duty in another part of his district, he will appoint the Sub-Registrar of the Sub-district having its head-quarters at the same place as his own, to perform all the duties of his office except those described in Sections 79 and 83, and such appointment shall be at once reported to the Registrar-General.

Section 11.

3. Whenever a Sub-Registrar is about to leave his Sub-district, he shall report to the Registrar, who shall forthwith nominate a competent person residing at or near the head-quarters of the Sub-district to be Sub-Registrar pro tempore. If there shall be no such person, the Registrar should announce that he will himself under Section 82 receive documents referring to property situated in such Sub-district until the return of the Sub-Registrar or appointment of a successor.

Section 12.

4. If a Sub-Registrar holding any other office shall be required by the necessities of such office to leave his head-quarters for more than two days he must previously report to the Registrar, who will appoint a competent person to be Sub-Registrar in his absence; if there be no such person, the Sub-Registrar will retain his office.

Section 12.

5. All appointments made under Section 12 shall be forthwith reported to the Registrar-General.

Section 12.

Such report will include persons appointed as commissioners, apprentices, and copyists, whether receiving a fixed salary, or paid by the fees.

Section 20.

12. The description specified in Section 21 may be dispensed with, if the identification is complete without it, as when an estate is described as "No. 221 on the Collector's Rent-roll", or "a three annas share in No. 221". But the following territorial divisions shall always be specified:—District, (i. e., Collectorate,) Pergunnah, (or Thannah, where Pergunnahs do not exist) Mouzah, and also the Registration District and Sub-district.

16. No Registering Officer shall proceed to any house under Section 33 except on payment of the fee for such visit, and if the house be at a distance of more than one mile from his office, he may also demand travelling allowance at the rate of eight annas per mile. He shall not so proceed unless there be some urgent necessity arising out of sickness or a similar reason. A Sub-Registrar in reporting a visit under this Section shall state the distance and the amount of travelling allowance received.

Section 33.

V.—Of Powers of Attorney.

17. Every Registering Officer shall keep a list of the Powers of Attorney authenticated by him, which shall contain the following headings;—Number, Date, Name of Principal executing the power, Name of Attorney, Names of persons identifying the Principal, Nature of power, (i. e., whether special or general, &c.,) and at the end of the year he shall prepare two alphabetical indexes to such book: one of the names of Principals, and the other of the names of Attorneys; the indexes shall be in the same book with the list of powers.

Section 35.

18. The Registering Officer must satisfy himself of the identity of persons appearing to execute a power in the same manner as of persons appearing to acknowledge execution of a document.

Sections 36, 40.

19. The form of authentication will be as follows:—"Executed in my presence on the day of 18 by A. B., of , who is personally known to me, (or whose identity was proved by the testimony of C. D. and E. F.) and recorded as No. for 18 ." (Seal and Signature.)

20. Powers of Attorney given for general purposes are available under this Act if they contain or imply an authority to appear in a Registration Office, and are executed in presence of, and authenticated by, a Registering Officer or other Officer named in the Act, and powers previously executed may be made available by the addition of a clause to that effect and by re-execution in presence of such Officer.

21. Powers of Attorney whether given for registration purposes or not may be registered under Section 18, Clause 7, but this is independent of the authentication required under Section 35.

Section 18, Clause 7. Section 35.

22. No Registering Officer shall proceed to any house or jail, or issue a commission under Section 35 or 39 until a fee has been paid by the applicant; and the Registering Officer may at his discretion, and if the place be not within a mile from his office, call upon the applicant to pay travelling allowance for himself and any clerk accompanying him, or for any person to whom a commission is issued.

23. A separate fee will be charged upon every signature which requires attestation, but travelling allowance will only be charged upon actual distance travelled. Thus if two women residing together sign one Power of Attorney, two commission fees will be charged, but travelling allowance will only be charged for one journey.

24. Persons exempt by law from personal appearance in Court are native noblemen and others who have been specially exempted by Government, and ladies of rank, who, according to the custom of the country, are not permitted to appear in public.

Sections 21 and 22 of Act VIII. of 1859.

The right to appear will be proved in the first three cases by the production of the appropriate legal documents: heirship must be proved by evidence to the satisfaction of the Registering Officer.

VI.—Of Appearance of Parties.

26. If there be more than one representative, they must all appear in person or by Agent to admit execution; unless, in the case of a deceased person, the Registering Officer be otherwise satisfied of the fact of execution.

Proviso to Section 36.

27. The Registering Officer in the case last mentioned may satisfy himself of the fact of execution by the testimony of trustworthy persons, or by summons under Section 37, or by his personal knowledge of the hand-writing of the deceased.

28. It is impossible to lay down rules to enable the Registering Officer to satisfy himself of the identity of persons appearing before him; he must get the best testimony procurable; and the testimony of persons known to himself, or of persons in a public position, such as zemindars, officers of the Court, pleaders, &c., is always better than that of unknown and obscure persons.

29. The Registering Officer will not refuse registration on account of the want of sufficient testimony to identity, but will suspend it, unless the person who presented the document state that no further testimony is procurable.

Section 36.

VII.—Of Summonses and Commissions.

30. Every application made by the Registering Officer for the service of summons shall be accompanied with the amount of "Process Fees" payable in each case.

Sections 37 and 38.

31. If the summons be addressed to a person who executed, or is alleged to have executed, the document, it shall require him to attend in person or by agent; if it be addressed to any person whose evidence is required to prove a fact, it will require him to attend in person.

Section 37.

32. Application for a visit or commission under Section 39 may be made either instead of, or after the service of summons.

Section 39.

33. The fees for summoning witnesses shall be regulated according to the Rules for the service of Processes in the Revenue Courts, and shall be credited to the Revenue Process Fund.

35. Summons shall be served in the manner prescribed by Sections 154-57 and 159-60 of Act VIII. of 1859, and the proceedings under Sections 159-60 shall be taken by the Revenue Officer by whom the summons was issued.

Section 40, and Act VIII., Sections 154-57 and 159-60.

36. If any person without lawful excuse fails to comply with the summons, the Registering Officer shall give information to the Revenue Officer who issued the summons, who shall proceed under Section 168 of Act VIII. of 1859 to compel his attendance.

Section 168 of Act VIII.

37. If the person to be examined under Section 39 be not resident within the district or sub-district of the Registering Officer, or if the Commission be issued by the Registrar-General, it shall be directed to the Registrar of the district in which the witness is, who may re-direct it to the Sub-Registrar, who may, if he cannot personally attend, re-direct it to any Officer of his establishment.

Section 39.

38. Commissions shall be ordinarily issued by a Registering Officer to some member of his establishment whether salaried or not; but a Registrar may issue commission to a Sub-Registrar.

39. A Commission may examine witnesses as the Registering Officer may do in his office.

40. After the Commission has been duly executed, it shall be returned to the office from which it was issued, together with the report on the point for which it was issued, and the names of persons whose testimony has been taken.

Sections 35 and 39 and Section 179 of Act VIII.

41. Persons refusing to give testimony to a Commissioner on being required to do so shall be subject to the same penalties and punishments which they would incur for the same offence committed in the Registration Office.

Sections 28 and 39 and 116 of Act VIII.

42. It shall be competent to a Registering Officer to examine the Commissioner personally in his office touching any of the matters referred to by him or mentioned in his report, or the manner in which he may have conducted the investigation.

Sections 28, 39 and 110 of Act VIII.

VIII.—Of Memoranda of Civil Courts.

43. The form for memoranda under Sections 41 and 42 will be those prescribed by the High Court.

Sections 41 and 42.

44. The costs of registration of memoranda under the above Section will be paid in by the several Courts to the Registrar's Office on realization; the form of memorandum shall contain a specification of the fee to be levied, and the registration of the memorandum shall not be delayed till the receipt of the fee.

Section 43.

45. A running list of unpaid fees due on registered memoranda shall be kept up; and on the receipt of any fee the entry relating to such fee shall be struck out: the total of unpaid fees shall be reported every month to the Registrar-General.

46. If memoranda of Civil Courts are incomplete, the Registrar will return them for revision. Irregularities should be reported to the Judge of the District.

47. If a memorandum of decree entered be reversed or modified on appeal, the Registering Officer will, on the receipt of the memorandum of the order passed on appeal, draw a line of red ink across the entry of the memorandum of the original decree, and make a reference in the margin to the number and date of the memorandum of the order on appeal.

IX.—Of Agreements for Summary Recovery.

48. The form of agreement in Section 52 shall be as follows:—"It is agreed that, in the event of this obligation not being duly satisfied, the amount secured hereby may be recovered in a summary way under Section 53 of the Indian Registration Act, 1866," and it shall be written in a language known to the obligor.

Section 52.

X.—Of Procedure.

49. On receipt of a document the Registering Officer will first satisfy himself that it has been presented at the proper office and within the prescribed time, and by some person executing or claiming under it or his representative duly authorized under Section 34, and that it bears the proper stamp; and is otherwise admissible. This will be certified on the face of the deed near the stamp in the following terms:—

"Stamp correct under Clause . of Schedule of the Stamp Act. Admissible under Sections of Registration Act," quoting Sections 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 29, 30, 31, 32, or 34, or as many of them as are required, and the certificate will be signed or initialed by the Registering Officer.

Section 57.

Explanation.—Thus if a document referring to immoveable property be in the usual language of the district, Section 19 need not be quoted; if it contains interlineations which are properly attested, is correct in its specification of boundaries, and is presented within 4 months at the proper Sub-Registrar's Office by a person claiming under it, the Sections quoted will be 20, 21, 22, 29, and 34.

50. If the presentation is after time, documents must be brought to the Registrar under Section 32, and he will after entry under Rule 46 as above enquire whether the circumstances justify his receiving the document under Section 24.

Sections 24 and 32.

51. After entry of the certificate under paragraph 16, the Registering Officer will receive the fee and any penalty payable under paragraph 47 and enter "fee paid Rupees " on the deed close at the certificate prescribed in Rule 46, and at the same time an entry will be made in the fee book showing the number of the deed, the proper schedule, the amount received, and the name of the payer.

Sections 57 and 87.

Revival of suit after such dismissal.

24. If at any time within twelve months, after a decree dismissing the suit upon any of the ground mentioned in the last preceding Section, the respondent again desert or repudiate the petitioner upon the ground of his or her change of religion, the suit may be revived by summoning the respondent; and upon proof of the former decree and of such renewed repudiation or desertion, the suit shall re-commence at the stage at which it had arrived immediately before the passing of such decree; and after the proofs, interrogations, interview and adjournment which may then be requisite under the provisions hereinbefore contained, the Judge shall pass a decree of the nature mentioned in the 16th Section of this Act.

High Court may decide question raised, and Judge shall dispose of case accordingly.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

ACT No. VII OF 1866.

An Act to make better provision for the acquisition of land for Embankments, and other matters relating thereto.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to make better provision for the acquisition of land required for embankments, and for charging the expense thereof upon the owners of lands benefited thereby; It is enacted :—

Lands for embankments may be acquired under powers for acquiring land for public purposes.

I. When it shall be necessary for any Collector to acquire land for the purpose of constructing any public Embankment, or of extending or altering any embankment the superintendence or charge whereof is vested in an Officer of Government, the provisions of Act VI of 1857 passed by the Governor General of India in Council, entitled "An Act for the acquisition of land for public purposes," and of any other Act for the time being in force relating to the acquisition of land for public purposes, shall extend and apply to the acquisition of such land for the purpose aforesaid, so far as the same shall be applicable, and such Collector shall and may take and acquire such land, and assess compensation for the same, and do all other acts necessary for the acquisition thereof, by and under the powers and provisions of such Act or Acts so far as the same is or are applicable in that behalf; but no such declarations or orders by or on behalf of Government as are mentioned in Sections II and III of the said Act VI of 1857 shall be necessary or required. Any person to whom compensation has been awarded in respect of lands taken shall be entitled to receive the same, together with interest after the rate of six per centum per annum from the time when the land was taken: Provided that notwithstanding any thing contained in Section VII, Clause 1, of Act XXXII of 1855 passed by the Governor General of India in Council, entitled "An Act relating to Embankments," it shall not be obligatory upon the Collector to pay to any person, nor shall any person have a right to a Civil suit for the recovery of any money in respect of compensation for lands taken, where the same is payable as hereinafter provided by the persons whose lands are benefited, until and unless the Collector shall have received the same from such person.

Cost of land acquired for embankment where lands of different owners benefited.

II. In cases where lands the property of different owners will, in the opinion of the Collector, derive benefit from the construction, alteration, or extension of any public Embankment, and it is necessary to acquire land for the purpose of such construction, alteration, or extension, it shall be lawful for such Collector to charge the cost of such land and the expense attending its acquisition upon the persons so deriving such benefit, in such proportions as in his opinion shall be equivalent to the benefit derived by their lands respectively. Before assessing such contribution, the Collector shall cause a notice to be served on each of such persons, in which it shall be stated what land is being taken, and the purpose for which it is required, and that the lands of such person will derive benefit from the execution of the works, and giving him notice that an inquiry will be held, at a day and place to be named, for the purpose of apportioning amongst the persons whose lands will be benefited by the intended works, the cost of the land and the expense of acquiring it. In case such person does not reside within the district in which his lands are situate, the notice may be served upon his agent, or if he has no agent therein, it will be sufficient to affix the notice upon some conspicuous part of his estate.

Mode of inquiry as to the proportion chargeable to each estate.

III. On the day fixed in the notice, which shall not be less than one month later than the date of service of such notice, the Collector shall proceed to make the necessary inquiry for the determination of the proportion in which the estates affected by the construction, extension, or alteration of the embankment will be benefited thereby. In making this inquiry he shall receive such evidence as may be tendered by or on behalf of the owners of estates which may appear likely to be benefited by the construction, extension, or alteration of the embankment as aforesaid, and by and on behalf of any other persons who may claim to be interested in the said inquiry, and he may make or cause to be made such local investigation, and call for such documents and examine such witnesses, as he may think necessary; and all the provisions of the law, for the time being in force, in regard to the examination of witnesses and production of documents in judicial proceedings, shall be applicable to inquiries conducted by the Collector under this Act.

No appeal from Collector's award; but one owner may recover from another who has not been assessed or who has been under-assessed.

IV. The Collector shall and may after such inquiry make an award, in which he shall find and state the names of the persons whose lands will be or are benefited by the construction, alteration, or extension of such embankment, and the proportion of the cost of the land and the expense of its acquisition (including therein the cost of the said inquiry) which they ought respectively to bear. No appeal shall lie from the award of the Collector. But it shall be competent to the owner of any land assessed to a larger amount than his fair proportion, to recover such excess in the Civil Court, from the owner of any land or estate benefited thereby upon whom no assessment has been made, or a smaller amount has been assessed than ought to have been awarded against him: Provided that in such suit no more shall be recovered from any person than the amount to which he ought to have been assessed, where he has not been required to contribute, or the amount by which the sum he was required to pay was less than his fair proportion where he has been required to contribute.

Expenses of acquiring land, what included in.

V. There shall be included in the expense of acquiring the land so to be distributed amongst the persons benefited, not only the compensation awarded to the owner of the land taken, including interest at the rate of six per centum per annum from the time when the land was taken, but also the cost of surveys and plans, of notices, of the said inquiry and award, and all other costs, charges, and expenses incident to obtaining possession of such land. The amount so awarded shall and may be recovered from the person so required to pay the same, in the same way and by the same means as arrears of Government Revenue.

Expense of sluice may be apportioned where lands of different owners benefited.

VI. When application has been made to the Collector under Section VIII of the said Act XXXII of 1855, for the construction of a sluice in any public embankment, and, in the opinion of the Collector, lands the property of other persons as well as of the person making the application will be benefited by the construction of the sluice, the expense of such construction may be assessed upon and recovered from such persons in such shares or proportions as shall, in the opinion of the Collector, be equivalent to the benefit derived by their lands respectively. Provided, nevertheless, that notice in writing shall be served on all such persons, stating that it is proposed to make such sluice, the probable expense thereof, and that an inquiry will be held at a place and hour specified, for the purpose of apportioning the expense of such construction among the persons to be benefited thereby, and that such person is supposed to be likely to be benefited thereby. And such notice may be served, and such inquiry shall be held, and such award shall be made, subject to the same rules, powers, and provisoes in all respects as is hereinbefore provided in the case of the apportionment of the cost of land required for embankments. And the said award shall be final: but a Civil suit may be brought to recover any excess with which any such person may be charged, from persons who ought to have been charged but have not been charged with any portion of the expense, or against whom less has been awarded than their fair proportion, as hereinbefore provided with respect to the apportionment of the cost of land.

Disposal of lands no longer required for embankments.

VII. Whenever, in consequence of the construction or alteration of any public embankment, the maintenance of any other public embankment, or the retention of any land appropriated to the purposes thereof, may no longer be required, and the permanent relinquishment of the same may be deemed expedient by the Officer in charge of the embankments, it shall be lawful for the Collector to dispose of the site of the embankment or of the land so abandoned by public sale, and all the provisions of the Law for the time being in force in regard to sales of land in default of payment of the Government revenue shall be applicable, so far as the same may be reasonably applied, to sales under the provisions of this Section. The proceeds of such sales shall, after the payment of all expenses incurred on account of the same, be applied to the payment of the cost of the new land taken up for embankment purposes, and in such case the residue only of the cost of such new land shall be apportioned among the owners of lands benefited as hereinbefore provided Provided that it shall not be competent to the Collector to sell in the manner aforesaid any land which shall not have been taken up for embankment purposes under the provisions of this Act.

Collector may delegate any of his powers to a Deputy Collector.

VIII. A Collector may delegate any of his powers under this Act to a Deputy Collector, but from any order passed by a Deputy Collector to whom powers have been so delegated an appeal shall lie to the Collector, if presented within fifteen days of the date of the order.

Act does not apply where obligation to provide land exists.

IX. Nothing in this Act shall be held to exempt any person from the obligation of giving land gratuitously, or of paying for land taken up for the purpose of public embankments, where such obligation exists by any law or custom.

The following correspondence is published for general information:—

From the Civil Pay-Master, North-Western Provinces, to the Secretary to the Government of India, Financial Department,—(No. 413, dated the 12th April 1865.)

As Officers are now applying under paragraphs of the new Civil Rules for an instalment of accumulated leave, I have the honor to ask the effect of such division on future accumulations. An Officer entitled to three months' leave is absent for one month only from 1st to 30th April 1865, when will he again be entitled to full three months' leave? I would suggest that a continuous service of eleven months should give him one month's leave in addition to the unexhausted accumulation. Thus in the case given above, if he served continuously from 1st May 1865 to 31st March 1866, he should again become entitled to three months' leave; but if he take a second instalment from 1st to 31st August 1865, he should serve from 1st September 1865 to 1st August 1866 before becoming again entitled to two months' leave.

I suppose the division of accumulated privilege leave under this rule is left wholly to the discretion of the Government granting leave.

From R. H. Hollingberry, Esq., Second Assistant Secretary to the Government of India, Financial Department, to the Civil Pay-Master, North-Western Provinces,—(No. 93, dated Simla, the 6th May 1865.)

In reply to your letter No. 413, dated 12th April 1865, I am directed to state that the Governor General in Council is pleased to approve of your interpretation of the rule respecting the division of accumulated privilege leave.

The following Orders issued by the Government of India, in the Home Department, are republished for general information:—

No. 419.—Simla, the 30th April 1866.—The Reverend F. O Mayne reported his departure from India per Steamship Bengal, which vessel was left by the Pilot at Sea on the 10th instant.

No. 499.—The 2nd May 1866.—The services of Mr. H. T. Prinsep, of the Civil Service, are placed temporarily at the disposal of the Government of Bengal from the date of Mr. F. R. Cockerell's departure on leave.

No. 507.—The 4th May 1866.—From the 1st of August next the authority to frank letters on Her Majesty's service only, which was given to the Officers and others enumerated in the two Franking Lists, is withdrawn, and the following Rules for the payment and settlement of accounts of postage on official correspondence will be in force:—

Privileged Offices.

2. The Public Officers enumerated in the annexed list will be privileged to send and receive (without actual payment of postage) all letters and packets bonâ fide and exclusively on Her Majesty's Service. The Post Office will keep an account of the postage due on the official correspondence of each privileged Office.

Official covers despatched from a privileged Office.

3. Official covers despatched from a privileged Office must be properly tied up, faced, and enclosed in a bag sealed with the seal of the Office.

4. Each cover must be endorsed "On Her Majesty's Service only," under the full signature (autograph or stamp) of the Head Clerk, or some other principal Officer of the Establishment.

5. The address must include the official designation of the Office to which the cover is directed.

6. The bag, when made up, must be sent before the hour fixed by the Post Office for the closing of the Mails for which it is intended.

Official covers addressed to a privileged Office.

7. Official covers addressed to a privileged Office by any Office not included in the privileged list must be endorsed "On Her Majesty's Service only," under the full signature and official designation of the person by whom they are despatched.

8. The address must include the official designation of the Office to which the cover is directed.

9. The official covers for each Office will be enclosed in the official bag, and sealed and sent out with ordinary delivery, or given to the messenger of the Office, should one be in attendance.

Official covers not sent by, or addressed to, a privileged Office.

10. Official covers which are not sent by, or addressed to, a privileged Office will be treated in all respects like private covers. Postage labels marked with the word "Service" will be made available for the pre-payment of such covers.

11. Service labels are never to be used in payment of the postage of any letter which is not bonâ fide and exclusively on Her Majesty's Service. Every cover pre-paid by service labels must be endorsed "On Her Majesty's Service only," under the full signature and official designation of the person by whom it is despatched. The address must also include the official designation of the Office to which it is directed. If the above conditions be not observed, covers (even though stamped with service labels) will be treated as ordinary unpaid covers.

12. Service labels will be procurable at the Treasury or local Stamp Depôt of each District; Officers requiring such labels will purchase the number required, paying for the same in cash as if they were ordinary postage labels. A receipt for the amount, to be given by the Officer in charge of the Stamp Depôt, will serve as a voucher for the charge to be made in the contingent bill of the purchaser.

13. As the present supply of service labels is limited, no public Officer should purchase more than he estimates will be sufficient for one month's supply; and it is to be remembered that service labels are not to be attached to letters addressed to, or despatched from, any privileged Office.

14. All Officials who do not belong to privileged Offices, and who have official correspondence with other than privileged Offices, will have to make arrangements for supplying themselves with service labels either by direct purchase or through their departmental superiors.

Correspondence of local Officials within the limits of their respective Districts.

15. For the present no change will be made in the arrangements under which the public correspondence of local officials is conveyed, within the limits of their respective Districts, by District Post or by General Post.

The following Order issued by the Government of India, in the Foreign Department, is re published for general information :—

No. 125.—Political.—Simla, the 2nd May 1866.—Notification.—Baboo Doorga Persaud Ghose, late a Deputy Collector in the Survey Department under the Government of Bengal, is permitted to retain the honorary title of Rai Bahadoor during life.

The following Order issued by the Government of India, in the Financial Department, is republished for general information :—

No. 270.

Extract from the Proceedings of the Government of India, in the Financial Department, dated Simla, the 1st May 1866.

Read again those portions of the Financial Proceedings of May 1865, Nos. 98 to 113, which contain the proposition of the English Commissioners of Enquiry into Indian Accounts regarding a change in the official year, and the opinions of the Local Governments on that proposition.

Read again Despatch No. 49, dated 2nd March 1866, from the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State.

Resolution.—After carefully weighing the advantages and disadvantages of the adoption of the Calendar year, or of the Fusli year, the Governor General in Council has come to the conclusion that it would be best to antedate the present financial year by a month only, thereby making it terminate simultaneously with the official year in England, viz., 31st March.

The financial year 1867-68 will accordingly commence on 1st April 1867.

Payments in April 1867, for which provision has been made in the Budget for 1866-67, must be provided for afresh in the Budget for 1867-68, and the Budget grants for the year 1866-67 reduced by the estimated amount of those payments.

For salaries and establishments will suffice it to limit the retrenchment to one-twelfth of the Budget provision, but for fluctuating charges a larger retrenchment will be necessary, the monthly rate of the payments for such charges being greater in all Departments, and more especially in the Public Woks Department in the months from October to April than in those from May to September.

The Governor General in Council accordingly requests that the several Local Governments and Administrations will revise the grants for fluctuating charges in the Civil Estimates, in order to the surrender of the full Budget provision for estimated payments in April, and that necessary instructions for a like object be issued by the Public Works and Military Departments of the Government of India.

The Regular Estimate and the Actuals for 1866-67 will be confined to the revenues and charges for eleven months and the annual adjustment will be made in the accounts of the eleventh month, i. e., of March 1867.

As the Accounts of audited receipts and payments for April 1866 and April 1867 will, under the new system, be available separately for those months, the Governor General in Council is of opinion that the comparison of the Regular Estimate of 1866-67, with Actuals of 1865-66, and of the Actuals and Budget Estimates of 1866-67, will not be deranged by the alteration in the official year now ordered.

Ordered, that the foregoing Resolution be communicated to the several Departments, Governments, and Administrations, to the Comptoller-General of Accounts, to the several Accountants-General, and to the Deputy Accountant-General in independent charge.

Also, that it be published in the Gazette of India.

PATTERN POST TO THE UNITED KINGDOM.

MODIFICATION OF REGULATIONS.

Postal Notice.

THE following modifications of the Regulations of the Pattern Post between the United Kingdom and India have been made.

2. The prohibition which has heretofore existed to the transmission as patterns of articles of intrinsic value by the post between the United Kingdom and India has been withdrawn.

3. Further the rule which forbids the transmission through the post of an article which might injure the contents of the Mail bags, or the Officers of the Post Office, is so far relaxed as to permit the transmission of scissors, knives, razors, forks, steel pens, nails, keys, watch machinery, metal tubings, pieces of metal or ore, and such like as samples, provided that they be packed and guarded in so secure a manner as to afford complete protection to the contents of the Mail bags and the Officers of the Post Office, while at the same time the samples may be easily examined. If any packet containing such articles as these be posted, which is found not to be sufficiently guarded, it will be stopped.

Samples of seed and similar articles may be sent in the bags entirely closed if transparent, so that the Officers of the Post Office may satisfy themselves of the nature of the contents.

In exception to the rule permitting articles of intrinsic value to be forwarded, it must be understood that such articles cannot be forwarded in the Mails vid Marseilles.

Report on the Expedition against Razepemah in North Cachar.

From LIEUTENANT-COLONEL H. HOPKINSON, Agent to the Governor General, North-East Frontier, and Commissioner of Assam, to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(No. 154, dated the 19th April 1866.)

IN continuation of my letters noted in the margin, I have the honor to submit a report from the Assistant Commissioner, North Cachar, containing the gratifying intelligence of the success of the expedition conducted by him against Razepemah.

No. 102, dated 28th February 1866.
" 134 " 22nd March "

2. In all his proceedings, from the first steps he took on receiving my instructions to proceed against Razepemah in organizing his little party and procuring carriage and supplies for it, down to the time when he brought it back to Dhemapore after achieving a most decided success, and indeed a completer one than I could have anticipated, and which I believe will operate most beneficially towards securing the peace of the frontier, Lieutenant Gregory has shewn energy, ability, and sound judgment, and I trust that the Government will consider that he has shewn that he fully deserved the confidence I reported I placed in him, and that they will be pleased to express their approval of his conduct. The assistance rendered by Messrs. Malpas and James will also, I hope, not pass without acknowledgment.

3. I do not abridge Lieutenant Gregory's report, it is short and well written, and the Government will learn best from it what has been done.

4. I will report hereafter the result of any negotiations with the Razepemah people.

From LIEUTENANT J. GREGORY, Assistant Commissioner, North Cachar, to the Agent to the Governor General, North-East Frontier,—(No. 23, dated Dhemapore, the 28th March 1866.)

I HAVE the honor to submit a brief report of my proceedings since my departure from this place on the 26th instant, as reported in my letter No 21 of that date.

2. We left a guard of two constables and twelve men at Dhemapore, with the supplies and coolies we did not require with us. They had instructions to run up a slight stockade round their position with the aid of the coolies left.

3. We reached Samoogooting at about 3 P. M. The villagers had cleared the road and built houses for us. They volunteered their assistance in an attack on Razepemah, (for they guessed our errand). I declined this and left them in doubt whether such an attack was intended at all.

4. At 11 P. M. the men were aroused, I procured two guides from the village, and we moved a little after 11. After marching all night we reached the cultivation of Razepemah at daylight. From this we ascended the hill and followed its ridge until close to the village where the men were drawn up and inspected, and ordered to make every effort to capture the male inhabitants, but authorized to use their arms if resisted.

5. We succeeded in entering the village before we were observed. The first man who discovered us was caught between two parties, and trying to force his way through, spear in hand, was shot in the attempt, the rest turned out on the alarm and were pushed rapidly from house to house through the village, not having time to assemble until they reached the fort above it, where they checked the leading constables at the gateway; but, reinforcements coming up, they took to the jungle, leaving five of their number dead and taking one wounded with them, one man, a big boy, and several women and children were taken prisoners; the latter I at once released, the former I have retained.

6. A quantity of Meekir ornaments and clothes were found in the village and brought away. These were part of the plunder from our Meekir village lately broken.

7. The whole affair was over in five minutes, and there being no chance of catching Angamees in the jungle, we withdrew the men to rest into the fort, whence we sent a party of coolies with a guard into the village for water. They found that the Angamees had returned to it, and whilst driving them out, the village was set on fire and burnt to the ground.

8. Some of the Meekir clothing was found in the house of the man taken prisoner. On my questioning him about it, he denied having been concerned in the raid in which it was obtained, but said that he had bought it from a young man of his village who had been of the party.

9. I have retained this man and the boy, and sent a message to the headmen of Razepemah to say that I will exchange the latter for the Meekir boy still in the hands of their friends; and as regards the man, if no direct proof of his having been concerned in the atrocities committed in our Meekir villages can be obtained, I will make his release conditional on their entering into a solemn compact to abstain from future outrages. As it is necessary that I should meet the Razepemah people for this purpose, I have given into the hands of Yetsote, of Samoogooting, safe conducts for two of their elders.

10. Having rested the men we returned to Samoogooting, arriving at about 3 P. M. without any accident; we slept there last night and marched hereto to-day.

11. My thanks are due to Messrs. Malpas and James, who afforded me every assistance.

12. The men bore the really hard work of the night march after a toilsome day with great fortitude, and, I am happy to say, apparently without ill effect, as there has been only one case of sickness in the whole camp, and that not a serious one.

13. I will forward a more detailed account on my arrival at Alunka, before which I hope the Razepemah people will have come in.

14. I trust that my proceedings will meet with your approval, and that you will sanction my disposing of the prisoners in the manner I propose.

From the Hon'ble A. Eden, Secretary to the Government of Bengal, to the Secretary to the Government of India, Foreign Department,—(No. 126T., dated Darjeeling, the 28th April 1866.)

In continuation of my letter No. 30T., dated the 24th instant, regarding the general defence of the Assam Frontier and the policy to be pursued towards the Angamee Nagas, I am directed to submit, for the information of His Excellency the Governor General in Council, the accompanying copy of a letter, No. 154, dated the 9th idem, with enclosure, from the Commissioner of Assam, reporting the successful result of an expedition undertaken against the Angamee Naga village of Razepemah to punish its inhabitants for repeated cruel and provoked outrages committed by them on British subjects in British territory.

2. His Honor considers that the present case illustrates the necessity of altering our mode of dealing with this tribe and assuming the direct administration of these hills in the manner proposed in my letter above referred to.

From the Hon'ble A. Eden, Secretary to the Government of Bengal, to the Commissioner of Assam,—(No. 127T., dated Darjeeling, the 28th April 1866.)

I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 154, dated the 9th instant, with enclosure, reporting the successful result of the expedition conducted by the Assistant Commissioner of North Cachar against the Angamee Naga village of Razepemah, and in reply to inform you that the Lieutenant-Governor entirely concurs in the approval of the conduct of Lieutenant Gregory expressed by you, and desires that you will be good enough to convey the thanks of Government to that officer.

2. The conduct of Messrs. Malpas and James of the Police in this affair will be noticed through the Inspector-General of Police.

Report of the Cultivation of Cinchonæ at Darjeeling during the Month of March 1866.

From T. Anderson, Esq., M. D., Superintendent, Botanical Gardens, and in charge of Cinchona cultivation in Bengal, to the Officiating Junior Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(No. 1, dated the 1st May 1866.)

I have the honor to forward the report on the cultivation of Cinchonæ at Darjeeling for the month of March 1866.

Report for the Month of March 1866.

I have to report the continued success of the experiment. The return of warm weather has forwarded all the operations of the cultivation, besides increasing the amount of growth of the plants permanently planted out. The increase by cuttings and seedlings has raised the number of plants in all stages of growth to 1,78,741. These figures include the 10,781 plants in the distribution nursery at Rungyroong, which have hitherto not appeared in the monthly return. Sixteen thousand eight hundred and ninety-five (16,895) cuttings were made during the month; this is the largest number that has been obtained in one month since the commencement of the experiment at Darjeeling. Three thousand and one hundred (3,100) seedlings of C. Officinalis having attained a considerable size, have been added during the month to the plants kept for permanent plantations. More seeds are germinating daily, and I have received another packet of seed of C. Officinalis collected from the plants that have flowered in the Cinchona plantations in Ceylon. There are now 89,821 plants and cuttings of this valuable species in the Darjeeling nurseries.

2. Two hundred and ninety (290) plants were distributed during the month.

3. The weather during March was clear and windy, and very dry. No rain fell during the month, and very little dew occurred during the nights, in consequence of the continued strong winds. The days were generally hot and sunny, while the temperature at night often fell 25 degrees below that of the day. Such weather is not favorable to vegetation of any kind, and accordingly the growth of the Cinchonas during March was not nearly so great as it would have been, had any rain fallen during the month.

Government of Bengal.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

ACT No. VII OF 1866.

An Act to make better provision for the acquisition of land for Embankments, and other matters relating thereto.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to make better provision for the acquisition of land required for embankments, and for charging the expense thereof upon the owners of lands benefited thereby; Be it enacted :—

Lands for embankments may be acquired under powers for acquiring land for public purposes.

I. When it shall be necessary for any Collector to acquire land for the purpose of constructing any public Embankment, or of extending or altering any embankment the superintendence or charge whereof is vested in an Officer of Government, the provisions of Act VI of 1857 passed by the Governor General of India in Council, entitled "An Act for the acquisition of land for public purposes," and of any other Act for the time being in force relating to the acquisition of land for public purposes, shall extend and apply to the acquisition of such land for the purpose aforesaid, so far as the same shall be applicable, and such Collector shall and may take and acquire such land, and assess compensation for the same, and do all other acts necessary for the acquisition thereof, by and under the powers and provisions of such Act or Acts so far as the same is or are applicable in that behalf; but no such declarations or orders by or on behalf of Government as are mentioned in Sections II and III of the said Act VI of 1857 shall be necessary or required. Any person to whom compensation has been awarded in respect of lands taken shall be entitled to receive the same, together with interest after the rate of six per centum per annum from the time when the land was taken: Provided that notwithstanding any thing contained in Section VII, Clause 1, of Act XXXII of 1855 passed by the Governor General of India in Council, entitled "An Act relating to Embankments," it shall not be obligatory upon the Collector to pay to any person, nor shall any person have a right to a Civil suit for the recovery of any money in respect of compensation for lands taken, where the same is payable as hereinafter provided by the persons whose lands are benefited, until and unless the Collector shall have received the same from such person.

Cost of land acquired for embankment where lands of different owners benefited.

II. In cases where lands the property of different owners will, in the opinion of the Collector, derive benefit from the construction, alteration, or extension of any public Embankment, and it is necessary to acquire land for the purpose of such construction, alteration, or extension, it shall be lawful for such Collector to charge the cost of such land and the expense attending its acquisition upon the persons so deriving such benefit, in such proportions as in his opinion shall be equivalent to the benefit derived by their lands respectively. Before assessing such contribution, the Collector shall cause a notice to be served on each of such persons, in which it shall be stated what land is being taken, and the purpose for which it is required, and that the lands of such person will derive benefit from the execution of the works, and giving him notice that an inquiry will be held, at a day and place to be named, for the purpose of apportioning amongst the persons whose lands will be benefited by the intended works, the cost of the land and the expense of acquiring it. In case such person does not reside within the district in which his lands are situate, the notice may be served upon his agent, or if he has no agent therein, it will be sufficient to affix the notice upon some conspicuous part of his estate.

Mode of inquiry as to the proportion chargeable to each estate.

III. On the day fixed in the notice, which shall not be less than one month later than the date of service of such notice, the Collector shall proceed to make the necessary inquiry for the determination of the proportion in which the estates affected by the construction, extension, or alteration of the embankment will be benefited thereby. In making this inquiry he shall receive such evidence as may be tendered by or on behalf of the owners of estates which may appear likely to be benefited by the construction, extension, or alteration of the embankment as aforesaid, and by and on behalf of any other persons who may claim to be interested in the said inquiry, and he may make or cause to be made such local investigation, and call for such documents and examine such witnesses, as he may think necessary; and all the provisions of the law, for the time being in force, in regard to the examination of witnesses and production of documents in judicial proceedings, shall be applicable to inquiries conducted by the Collector under this Act.

No appeal from Collector's award: but one owner may recover from another who has not been assessed or who has been under-assessed.

IV. The Collector shall and may after such inquiry make an award, in which he shall find and state the names of the persons whose lands will be or are benefited by the construction, alteration, or extension of such embankment, and the proportion of the cost of the land and the expense of its acquisition (including therein the cost of the said inquiry) which they ought respectively to bear. No appeal shall lie from the award of the Collector. But it shall be competent to the owner of any land assessed to a larger amount than his fair proportion, to recover such excess in the Civil Court, from the owner of any land or estate benefited thereby upon whom no assessment has been made, or a smaller amount has been assessed than ought to have been awarded against him: Provided that in such suit no more shall be recovered from any person than the amount to which he ought to have been assessed, where he has not been required to contribute, or the amount by which the sum he was required to pay was less than his fair proportion where he has been required to contribute.

Expenses of acquiring land, what included in.

V. There shall be included in the expense of acquiring the land so to be distributed amongst the persons benefited, not only the compensation awarded to the owner of the land taken, including interest at the rate of six per centum per annum from the time when the land was taken, but also the cost of surveys and plans, of notices, of the said inquiry and award, and all other costs, charges, and expenses incident to obtaining possession of such land. The amount so awarded shall and may be recovered from the person so required to pay the same, in the same way and by the same means as arrears of Government Revenue.

Expense of sluice may be apportioned where lands of different owners benefited.

VI. When application has been made to the Collector under Section VIII of the said Act XXXII of 1855, for the construction of a sluice in any public embankment, and, in the opinion of the Collector, lands the property of other persons as well as of the person making the application will be benefited by the construction of the sluice, the expense of such construction may be assessed upon and recovered from such persons in such shares or proportions as shall, in the opinion of the Collector, be equivalent to the benefit derived by their lands respectively. Provided, nevertheless, that notice in writing shall be served on all such persons, stating that it is proposed to make such sluice, the probable expense thereof, and that an inquiry will be held at a place and hour specified, for the purpose of apportioning the expense of such construction among the persons to be benefited thereby, and that such person is supposed to be likely to be benefited thereby. And such notice may be served, and such inquiry shall be held, and such award shall be made, subject to the same rules, powers, and provisoes in all respects as is hereinbefore provided in the case of the apportionment of the cost of land required for embankments. And the said award shall be final: but a Civil suit may be brought to recover any excess with which any such person may be charged, from persons who ought to have been charged but have not been charged with any portion of the expense, or against whom less has been awarded than their fair proportion, as hereinbefore provided with respect to the apportionment of the cost of land.

Disposal of lands no longer required for embankments.

VII. Whenever, in consequence of the construction or alteration of any public embankment, the maintenance of any other public embankment, or the retention of any land appropriated to the purposes thereof, may no longer be required, and the permanent relinquishment of the same may be deemed expedient by the Officer in charge of the embankments, it shall be lawful for the Collector to dispose of the site of the embankment or of the land so abandoned by public sale, and all the provisions of the Law for the time being in force in regard to sales of land in default of payment of the Government revenue shall be applicable, so far as the same may be reasonably applied, to sales under the provisions of this Section. The proceeds of such sales shall, after the payment of all expenses incurred on account of the same, be applied to the payment of the cost of the new land taken up for embankment purposes, and in such case the residue only of the cost of such new land shall be apportioned among the owners of lands benefited as hereinbefore provided. Provided that it shall not be competent to the Collector to sell in the manner aforesaid any land which shall not have been taken up for embankment purposes under the provisions of this Act.

Collector may delegate any of his powers to a Deputy Collector.

VIII. A Collector may delegate any of his powers under this Act to a Deputy Collector, but from any order passed by a Deputy Collector to whom powers have been so delegated an appeal shall lie to the Collector, if presented within fifteen days of the date of the order.

Act does not apply where obligation to provide land exists.

IX. Nothing in this Act shall be held to exempt any person from the obligation of giving land gratuitously, or of paying for land taken up for the purpose of public embankments, where such obligation exists by any law or custom.

NOTIFICATION.

The 12th May 1866.—The following Rules framed by the Registrar-General of Assurances, Lower Provinces, having received the approval of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, are hereby published for general information, in accordance with the provisions of Section 80, Act XX., 1866 (the Indian Registration Act).

RULES UNDER THE INDIAN REGISTRATION ACT, 1866.

I.—OF ESTABLISHMENTS.

Sections 10-13.

1. WHEREVER the Officer in executive charge of the district is ex-officio Registrar, all changes in such appointments will at once be reported to the Registrar-General by the Officers giving and receiving charge. In other cases a Registrar will apply for leave of absence through the Registrar-General, who, in reporting such application to Government, will submit, under Section 13, the name of the person whom he proposes to appoint.

Section 11.

2. When a Registrar leaves his office on duty in another part of his district, he will appoint the Sub-Registrar of the Sub-district having its head-quarters at the same place as his own, to perform all the duties of his office except those described in Sections 79 and 83, and such appointment shall be at once reported to the Registrar-General.

Section 12.

3. Whenever a Sub-Registrar is about to leave his Sub-district, he shall report to the Registrar, who shall forthwith nominate a competent person residing at or near the head-quarters of the Sub-district to be Sub-Registrar pro tempore. If there shall be no such person, the Registrar should announce that he will himself under Section 32 receive documents referring to property situated in such Sub-district until the return of the Sub-Registrar or appointment of a successor.

Section 12.

4. If a Sub-Registrar holding any other office shall be required by the necessities of such office to leave his head-quarters for more than two days he must previously report to the Registrar, who will appoint a competent person to be Sub-Registrar in his absence; if there be no such person, the Sub-Registrar will retain his office.

Section 12.

5. All appointments made under Section 12 shall be forthwith reported to the Registrar-General.

Sections 9 to 13.

6. Under the order of the Lieutenant-Governor appointments under Section 9 and appointments of special Registrars under Section 10 will be specially reported by the Registrar-General to Government. All other appointments under Section 10, and all appointments under Sections 11 and 12 will be reported by him to Government in a monthly report.

7. Every Registrar will forward to the Registrar-General a monthly report of the establishment under him, the first of which reports shall contain a list of the persons employed and their respective duties and salaries; and the following ones shall contain a record of any change that may have taken place during the month. Such report will include persons appointed as commissioners, apprentices, and copyists, whether receiving a fixed salary, or paid by the fees.

Section 15.

8. The Seals of District Registrars and Deputy Registrars made under Section 12 of Act XVI. of 1864 shall be considered as Seals of Registrars and Sub-Registrars under this Act.

If the persons executing a document are present at the time of registration, they shall attest with their initials all interlineations, &c.; if not, the Agent, &c., may attest them, or the document may be returned for the attestation of the Principal, at the discretion of the Registering Officer, but a document shall never be returned on this ground, unless the interlineations, &c., are of an important character.

Section 21.

12. The description specified in Section 21 may be dispensed with, if the identification is complete without it, as when an estate is described as "No. 221 on the Collector's Rent-roll", or "a three annas share in No. 221". But the following territorial divisions shall always be specified:—District, (i. e., Collectorate,) Pergunnah, (or Thannah, where Pergunnahs do not exist) Mouzah, and also the Registration District and Sub district.

III.—OF TIME.

13. Every Registering Officer shall sit during certain hours, which shall be duly notified to the public. But he may at his discretion accept documents for registration during any other portion of the day, and he shall be bound to accept a document on the last day of limitation at any time before sunset.

16. No Registering Officer shall proceed to any house under Section 33 except on payment of the fee for such visit, and if the house be at a distance of more than one mile from his office, he may also demand travelling allowance at the rate of eight annas per mile. He shall not so proceed unless there be some urgent necessity arising out of sickness or a similar reason. A Sub-Registrar in reporting a visit under this Section shall state the distance and the amount of travelling allowance received.

Section 33.

V.—Of Powers of Attorney.

17. Every Registering Officer shall keep a list of the Powers of Attorney authenticated by him, which shall contain the following headings;—Number, Date, Name of Principal executing the power, Name of Attorney, Names of persons identifying the Principal, Nature of power, (i. e., whether special or general, &c.,) and at the end of the year he shall prepare two alphabetical indexes to such book: one of the names of Principals, and the other of the names of Attorneys; the indexes shall be in the same book with the list of powers.

Section 35.

18. The Registering Officer must satisfy himself of the identity of persons appearing to execute a power in the same manner as of persons appearing to acknowledge execution of a document.

Sections 36, 40.

19. The form of authentication will be as follows:—"Executed in my presence on the day of 18 by A. B., of , who is personally known to me, (or whose identity was proved by the testimony of C. D. and E. F.) and recorded as No. for 18 ." (Seal and Signature.)

Section 35.

20. Powers of Attorney given for general purposes are available under this Act if they contain or imply an authority to appear in a Registration Office, and are executed in presence of, and authenticated by, a Registering Officer or other Officer named in the Act, and powers previously executed may be made available by the addition of a clause to that effect and by re-execution in presence of such Officer.

21. Powers of Attorney whether given for registration purposes or not may be registered under Section 18, Clause 7, but this is independent of the authentication required under Section 35.

Section 18, Clause 7. Section 35.

22. No Registering Officer shall proceed to any house or jail, or issue a commission under Section 35 or 39 until a fee has been paid by the applicant; and the Registering Officer may at his discretion, and if the place be not within a mile from his office, call upon the applicant to pay travelling allowance for himself and any clerk accompanying him, or for any person to whom a commission is issued.

Proviso to Section 35 and Section 39.

23. A separate fee will be charged upon every signature which requires attestation, but travelling allowance will only be charged upon actual distance travelled. Thus if two women residing together sign one Power of Attorney, two commission fees will be charged, but travelling allowance will only be charged for one journey.

24. Persons exempt by law from personal appearance in Court are native noblemen and others who have been specially exempted by Government, and ladies of rank, who, according to the custom of the country, are not permitted to appear in public.

Sections 21 and 22 of Act VIII of 1859.

25. The representatives of a person are—

Proviso to Section 35.

(a.)—The guardian of an infant.

Def. Section 2.

(b.)—The Committee or other legal guardian of a lunatic or idiot.

(c.)—Executors or Administrators.

(d.)—Heirs.

The right to appear will be proved in the first three cases by the production of the appropriate legal documents: heirship must be proved by evidence to the satisfaction of the Registering Officer.

VI.—Of Appearance of Parties.

26. If there be more than one representative, they must all appear in person or by Agent to admit execution; unless, in the case of a deceased person, the Registering Officer be otherwise satisfied of the fact of execution.

Proviso to Section 36.

27. The Registering Officer in the case last mentioned may satisfy himself of the fact of execution by the testimony of trustworthy persons, or by summons under Section 37, or by his personal knowledge of the hand-writing of the deceased.

28. It is impossible to lay down rules to enable the Registering Officer to satisfy himself of the identity of persons appearing before him; he must get the best testimony procurable; and the testimony of persons known to himself, or of persons in a public position, such as zemindars, officers of the Court, pleaders, &c., is always better than that of unknown and obscure persons.

29. The Registering Officer will not refuse registration on account of the want of sufficient testimony to identity, but will suspend it, unless the person who presented the document state that no further testimony is procurable.

Section 36.

VII.—Of Summonses and Commissions.

30. Every application made by the Registering Officer for the service of summons shall be accompanied with the amount of "Process Fees" payable in each case.

Sections 37 and 38.

31. If the summons be addressed to a person who executed, or is alleged to have executed the document, it shall require him to attend in person or by agent; if it be addressed to any person whose evidence is required to prove a fact, it will require him to attend in person.

Section 37.

32. Application for a visit or commission under Section 39 may be made either instead of, or after the service of summons.

Section 39.

33. The fees for summoning witnesses shall be regulated according to the Rules for the service of Processes in the Revenue Courts, and shall be credited to the Revenue Process Fund.

Section 38.

34. The expenses of witnesses shall be paid in at the time of application of summons, and shall be sent to the Revenue Officer who issues the summons to be paid to the witnesses.

Section 37 and Act VIII, 1859, & Section 151.

35. Summons shall be served in the manner prescribed by Sections 154-57 and 159-60 of Act VIII. of 1859, and the proceedings under Sections 159-60 shall be taken by the Revenue Officer by whom the summons was issued.

Section 40. and Act VIII., Sections 154 57 and 159 60.

36. If any person without lawful excuse fails to comply with the summons, the Registering Officer shall give information to the Revenue Officer who issued the summons, who shall proceed under Section 168 of Act VIII. of 1859 to compel his attendance.

Section 168 of Act VIII.

37. If the person to be examined under Section 39 be not resident within the district or sub-district of the Registering Officer, or if the Commission be issued by the Registrar-General, it shall be directed to the Registrar of the district in which the witness is, who may re-direct it to the Sub-Registrar, who may, if he cannot personally attend, re-direct it to any Officer of his establishment.

Section 39.

38. Commissions shall be ordinarily issued by a Registering Officer to some member of his establishment whether salaried or not; but a Registrar may issue commission to a Sub-Registrar.

39. A Commission may examine witnesses as the Registering Officer may do in his office.

Sections 35 to 39.

40. After the Commission has been duly executed, it shall be returned to the office from which it was issued, together with the report on the point for which it was issued, and the names of persons whose testimony has been taken.

Sections 38 and 39 and Section 179 of Act VIII.

41. Persons refusing to give testimony to a Commissioner on being required to do so shall be subject to the same penalties and punishments which they would incur for the same offence committed in the Registration Office.

Sections 28 and 39 and 110 of Act VIII

42. It shall be competent to a Registering Officer to examine the Commissioner personally in his office touching any of the matters referred to by him or mentioned in his report, or the manner in which he may have conducted the investigation.

Sections 28, 39 and 110 of Act VIII.

VIII.—Of Memoranda of Civil Courts.

43. The form for memoranda under Sections 41 and 42 will be those prescribed by the High Court.

Sections 41 and 42.

44. The costs of registration of memoranda under the above Section will be paid in by the several Courts to the Registrar's Office on realization; the form of memorandum shall contain a specification of the fee to be levied, and the registration of the memorandum shall not be delayed till the receipt of the fee.

Section 43.

45. A running list of unpaid fees due on registered memoranda shall be kept up; and on the receipt of any fee the entry relating to such fee shall be struck out: the total of unpaid fees shall be reported every month to the Registrar-General.

46. If memoranda of Civil Courts are incomplete, the Registrar will return them for revision. Irregularities should be reported to the Judge of the District.

47. If a memorandum of decree entered be reversed or modified on appeal, the Registering Officer will, on the receipt of the memorandum of the order passed on appeal, draw a line of red ink across the the entry of memorandum of the original decree, and make a reference in the margin to the number and date of the memorandum of the order on appeal.

IX.—Of Agreements for Summary Recovery.

48. The form of agreement in Section 52 shall be as follows:—"It is agreed that, in the event of this obligation not being duly satisfied, the amount secured hereby may be recovered in a summary way under Section 53 of the Indian Registration Act, 1866," and it shall be written in a language known to the obligor.

Section 52.

X.—Of Procedure.

49. On receipt of a document the Registering Officer will first satisfy himself that it has been presented at the proper office and within the prescribed time, and by some person executing or claiming under it or his representative duly authorized under Section 34, and that it bears the proper stamp; and is otherwise admissible. This will be certified on the face of the deed near the stamp in the following terms:—

"Stamp correct under Clause of Schedule of the Stamp Act. Admissible under Sections of Registration Act," quoting Sections 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 29, 30, 31, 32 or 34, or as many of them as are required, and the certificate will be signed or initialed by the Registering Officer.

Section 57.

Explanation.—Thus if a document referring to immoveable property be in the usual language of the district, Section 19 need not be quoted; if it contains interlineations which are properly attested, is correct in its specification of boundaries, and is presented within 4 months at the proper Sub-Registrar's Office by a person claiming under it, the Sections quoted will be 20, 21, 22, 29, and 34.

50. If the presentation is after time, documents must be brought to the Registrar under Section 32, and he will after entry under Rule 19 as above enquire whether the circumstances justify his receiving the document under Section 21.

Sections 24 and 32.

51. After entry of the certificate under Rule 19, the Registering Officer will receive the fee and any penalty payable under paragraph 50 and enter "fee paid Rupees " on the deed close at the certificate prescribed in Rule 19, and at the same time an entry will be made in the fee book shewing the number of the deed, the proper schedule, the amount received, and the name of the payer.

Sections 57 and 87.

52. The deed will now be endorsed with the First Endorsement in the following terms:

If he requires further evidence he may postpone proceeding for the production of such further evidence by the person or by summons. On the identity of any one of the persons executing being satisfactorily shewn, he will record the Second Endorsement under Section 66.

Sections 36 and 37.

54. The endorsement will be in the following form :—

Section 66.

55. Any further statement beyond simple identification will be recorded by the Registering Officer under Section 71.

Section 71.

56. The oath will only be administered where it appears necessary.

Section 71.

57. As soon as the endorsement under Section 57, and any portion of the endorsement under Section 66 that can be completed at the time of presentation, have been made, and the fee received, receipt will be given to the presenter, and the document made over to the copyist.

Section 57.

58. All endorsements will be made in red ink, excepting signatures which may be made in black ink.

59. The registry books will have two margins. On the left hand margin will be copied the value of the stamp and all the endorsements made in the office in red ink; in the centre will be copied the deed itself in black ink, and the right hand margin will be left vacant for entries of Civil Court Memoranda under Section 41.

60. The writing must be distinct and the books must be kept neatly.

61. Several volumes of each book may, if necessary, be kept up at once; if two volumes are kept up, documents 1, 3, 5, &c., will be registered in volume 1, and 2, 4, 6, &c., in volume 2; and similarly if three or more are kept up.

62. The "addition" required by the law with the name of any person will include, where necessary, the name of the father.

63. When the document is copied, the Registering Officer shall affix his initials to each page, and at the end of it sign the words "true copy." If the entries under Section 66 have not been completed, he will retain the document until their completion.

64. On completion of the copy and second certificate, he will proceed to make the certificate required by Section 68 (Third Endorsement) which will be copied in the left hand margin; and the document may now be returned.

Sections 68 and 69.

65. The copies required under Sections 72, 73, 74 and 78 may be furnished by the person presenting the document, or if he fail to do so, must be made in the Registration Office at his expense.

66. In addition to the bound volumes of books Nos. 1 and 5, each Registrar and Sub-Registrar will keep up a filed volume to be numbered consecutively with the bound ones, in which he will file copies received under Sections 72, 75 and 78. Copies will be numbered 1A., 2A, &c.

67. The form in which copies are to be made will be uniform in size, paper and ruling with the sheets of the bound books, such forms will be kept in stock in every office, and will be given to persons wishing to make their own copies at 1 anna per sheet.

68. The number of copies required is equal to the number of Sub-districts in which the property lies, in addition to the number of districts. The office in which original registration takes place will of course not be counted. Thus, if a document refer to properties in Kishnagar, Chuadanga, and Kushtea,—Sub-districts of Nuddea; and Jenidah and Jessore,—Sub-districts of Jessore; supposing it to have been registered at Jenidah, copies will be required for Jessore and Nuddea districts and for the Jessore Sub-district, and the three Sub-districts of Nuddea;—total, six copies. If it be registered at Jessore District Office, copies will be required for the Nuddea District and for the five Sub-districts; while if it be registered in the Registrar-General's Office, copies will be required for both the Districts and all the Sub-districts; total, seven copies.

69. If instruments be presented referring to immoveable property situated partially under another Government in which the Act is in force, a copy will be sent to the Registrar-General of such Government to be dealt with as he thinks fit.

70. Copies for Sub-districts in another district will be enclosed to the Registrar together with the copy for his own office.

71. It shall be the duty of the clerks of the establishment to count the words in a document, and this shall be done as soon as the document has been received, in order that the person presenting may pay for the copies, if he desires to do so, on the day of presentation. A document shall on no account be returned until the copies have been paid for.

72. The number of copies of a map or plan required will be one for each office, in which the deed has to be registered.

Section 73.

73. The copies required by Section 75 will be made by the fixed establishment of the Registrar.

74. Books, papers, and documents shall be kept in an almirah, the key of which shall be in the custody of the Registering Officer. Documents of which the registration is not complete, and completed documents pending delivery, shall be kept separately. A list of documents which have been unclaimed for more than one month from completion shall be hung up in the Registry Office, and such documents shall not be returned unless a fine of one rupee be paid for every month or part of the month beyond the first month during which they may have been unclaimed. In such case the document may be delivered on payment of the fine to any person recorded as executing or claiming under it, whether or not he be able to produce the receipt.

75. A document not claimed for one year after the completion of registry may be destroyed.

76. All documents (except Wills) presented for registration must be written in ink, lithographed, or printed on paper, parchment, vellum, or vegetable parchment, and must be of size not less than a foolscap half sheet, and contain blank space of not less than one side of such half sheet, or must be attached to a covering slip containing such blank space.

Section 80.

77. If the endorsements be made on a covering slip or rider, a note to that effect shall be endorsed on the instrument itself.

82. Every Sub-Registrar will send to the Registrar at the beginning of the week duplicate copies of all entries made during the previous week in indexes I. and II. These entries will be copied according to the order of their respective first letters, each letter on a separate piece of paper. The entries belonging to the two indexes will be kept separate. The Registrar on the receipt of the index entries of the week from his Sub-Registrars will file one set of sheets in his index file book under its appropriate letter, and forward the other to the Registrar-General who will proceed accordingly.

83. At the end of the year the indexes will be copied out in permanent books in strictly alphabetical order. The Sub-Registrar's book will thus show all index entries relating to his Sub-district. The Registrar's, all entries relating to his district whether registered in his own books or in those of his subordinates, and the Registrar-General's books will shew all entries belonging to the whole of Bengal.

85. The indexes will contain the names of Agents as well as those of Principals.

XII.—Of Refusal to Register.

86. The grounds of refusal to register, are as follows:—

A. Before admission.

(7.) That the presenting Agent's Power of Attorney has not been made according to the Act; or that the alleged representative or assign has failed to prove his status.

In all these cases the document may, in the first instance, be returned with the endorsement "returned for completion of description" or "for payment of fee," or as the case may be. If it be a second time presented for registration incorrectly, or if it be presented correctly, but after the expiry of the time, registration will be refused.

(8.) That the document has not been presented at the right office. In this case it will simply be returned with an intimation where it should be presented.

In this case the Officer will, if the person presenting wishes to give further proof, either cause a summons to be issued, or postpone the case for a definite time within which proof must be given, and if proof is not given within that time, and cause for a further postponement is not shewn, he will at once endorse "Registration refused."

(13.) That the admitting Agent's Power of Attorney has not been made in accordance with the Act; or that an alleged representative or assign has failed to prove his status. In this case postponement may be allowed on application.

87. A Registering Officer rejecting an instrument or refusing to order the registration of it must record his reasons in book No. 2, within two days of his order.

102. The Sub-Registrar's statements will be drawn up on the first working day of the month following that to which they refer. The Registrar's statement should be despatched by the 5th of the month, or as soon as possible.

104. At the close of the day, the entries in the Fee Book under each Schedule will be added up and compared with the totals of entries of fees paid in the documents, and the grand total will be compared with the cash actually received. The result will be entered in the Abstract Fee Book under the several heads, and the amount sent to the Treasury, together with the Abstract Fee Book signed by the Registering Officer. The Treasury Officer will, after receipt, sign the certificate of receipt at the bottom of the page in the Abstract Fee Book, each page of which will thus serve as challan and voucher, and also as a classified abstract of all the receipts.

105. Fees for copying will be paid to the copyists and not brought into account.

106. A monthly abstract will be prepared by each Sub-Registrar containing the totals of the daily abstract, and will be submitted to the Registrar on the first working day of the month, who will embody it in his District Return. On receipt the Registrar-General will furnish a general abstract of receipts in each district (under the general heads of account only) to the Accountant-General, who will compare with the Collectorate Accounts.

107. The Receiving Officers in Calcutta (Registrar-General and District Registrar of Calcutta) will, instead of sending the Abstract Fee Book with the remittance to the Bank, send a Bank Pass Book, in which the Bank will every day enter a receipt.

108. Establishments will be paid on permanent orders by the Account Department. The bills paid will be submitted to the Accountant-General with vouchers.

A Grote, V H. Schalch, } Members, Board of Revenue.

Rules made by the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces, in pursuance of Act XX of 1865, Section 37, for fixing and regulating the fees payable by the unsuccessful party in respect of the fees of his adversary's Pleader, in proceedings in the Revenue Courts and Offices in the Lower Provinces.

1. In pursuance of Section 37, Act XX. of 1865, the Board of Revenue are pleased to direct that, from, and after, the 1st day of July 1866 the sums which shall be payable by an unsuccessful party in any suit or proceeding in the Revenue Courts and Offices in the Lower Provinces of Bengal, in respect of the fees of his adversary's pleader shall be calculated at the rates specified in the following schedules

Scale of fees prescribed

Agent to have three quarter fees only

If a Revenue Agent and not a pleader has been employed by the said adversary, a deduction of one fourth part shall be made from the fees calculated as herein deducted, and if, though a pleader has been employed, the Officer presiding in the Court or Office be of opinion that the employment of a pleader was unnecessary, and that it would have sufficed to employ a Revenue Agent, the fees shall be calculated as for a Revenue Agent only.

Schedule.

In all suits or applications instituted under Act X. of 1859 of Act VI of 1862 B C, and in all Judicial or quasi Judicial proceedings in any Revenue Court or Office :

If the amount or value of the property, debt, or damages decreed does not exceed 5,000 Rupees, at 5 per cent. on the amount or value decreed.

If the amount or value exceed 5,000 Rupees and does not exceed Rupees 20 000, on Rupees 5,000 at 5 per cent. and on the remainder at 2 per cent.

If the amount or value exceed 20,000 and does not exceed 50,000, on 20,000 as above, and on the remainder at 1 per cent

If the amount or value exceed 50 000, on 50,000 as above, and on the remainder at ½ per cent.

Provided that in no case shall the amount of any fee exceed 3,000 Rupees.

2. In suits or proceedings to enforce rights of which the pecuniary value cannot be exactly defined, as, for example, in suits for a kabulyut or pottah, or for abatement or enhancement of rent, or for ejectment, or re-instatement, or in proceedings for the division of an estate, if the plaintiff succeed, the Presiding Officer of the Court or Office may order the fee of the pleader or Revenue Agent for the plaintiff to be calculated upon the valuation of the claim, or upon such a sum, not exceeding the valuation, as the said Officer may think reasonable and may fix with reference to the importance of the subject of the dispute.

Where value cannot be exactly defined.

3. If any suit, application, or claim, is dismissed for default, or upon the merits, or is decreed for the defendant, the defendant's pleader's or agent's fee shall be calculated on the whole value of the suit.

For when case is dismissed.

4. If any suit, application or claim is decreed for the plaintiff as to part only of his claim, and as to the remainder, is dismissed or decreed for the defendant, the fees allowed to each party's pleader or agent shall be calculated upon the value of that part of the claim in respect of which he has succeeded.

When it is decreed in part.

5. If, in any suit for damages under the Rent Laws, the plaintiff fails to recover the full amount of damages claimed, the defendant shall not be entitled to any allowance for a pleader or agent's fee in respect of the difference between the amount of damages claimed and the amount recovered, unless the Presiding Officer of the Court or Office shall be of opinion that the amount claimed for damages was unreasonable or excessive, and shall for that, or any other cause to be specified, direct that a fee for his pleader or agent shall be allowed to the defendant. If specially allowed the amount of such fee shall be calculated upon the amount of damages disallowed to the plaintiff.

When in a successful suit the whole damages claimed are not allowed.

6. If several defendants, who have a Joint or Common Interest succeed upon a joint defence, or upon separate defences substantially the same, not more than one pleader or agent's fee shall be allowed unless the Presiding Officer of the Court or Office shall otherwise order, for reasons which shall be recorded. If only one fee be allowed, the Presiding Officer shall direct to which of the defendants it shall be paid, or shall apportion it among the several defendants in such manner as he shall think fit.

When the defence is joint or common.

7. If several defendants, who have separate interests, set up separate and distinct defences and succeed thereon, a fee for one pleader or agent for each of the defendants who appear by a separate pleader or agent may be allowed in respect of his separate interest. Such fee, if allowed, shall be calculated upon the value of the separate interest of each defendant.

When several defendants make separate defences.

8. The amount in respect of the fee of an adversary's pleader or agent when allowed in any miscellaneous proceeding, or for any other matter than that of appearing, acting or pleading in a suit or application, or other judicial or quasi judicial proceeding prior to decree shall be fixed by the Presiding Officer of the Court or Office according to the following scale, viz.:—

In miscellaneous proceedings.

In proceedings before the Board of Revenue or in the Court or Office of a Commissioner of Revenue, Rupees 10 to 80.

In the Court or Office of a District Officer, Rupees 4 to 16.

In the Court or Office of a Deputy Collector, Rupee 1 to Rupees 10.

9. In any suit, application or claim, in any Court or Office of Original Jurisdiction which is undefended the amount to be paid as the fee of the adversary's pleader or agent shall be calculated at one half the sum at which it would have been charged had the suit been defended.

Undefended cases.

10. In proceedings for, or consequent upon, the revival or relieving of a suit, the pleader's or agent's fee, if allowed to the successful party, shall be fixed by the Presiding Officer of the Court or Office at an amount which shall not exceed one-half of the amount that would have been allowed by these rules in case of an original decree.

Revival or relieving of suit.

The fee allowed in respect of the revival or relieving will be irrespective of any fee which may be included in any costs in respect of the original suit or proceeding which may be adjudged to the successful party by the judgment in review.

11. The amount to be allowed on account of the fees of an adversary's pleader or agent in an appeal, shall be calculated on the same scale as in original suits, and the principles of the above clauses as to original suits shall be applied, as nearly as may be, to appeals.

Appeals.

12. When the interest of several Appellants is joint, not more than one pleader's or agent's fee shall be allowed unless the Presiding Officer of the Court or Office shall otherwise order, for a reason to be recorded. If one fee only be allowed, the Presiding Officer of the Court or Office shall direct to which of the Appellants it shall be paid, or shall apportion it amongst the several Appellants in such proportions as he shall think fit.

Joint Appellants.

13. If several Respondents in one appeal appear by separate pleaders or agents, in determining whether several pleaders' or Agents' fees shall be allowed, the Presiding Officer of the Court or Office shall be guided by the principles laid down in Clauses 6 and 7.

Several Respondents.

14. If, in any instance, the payment of fees according to the preceding Clauses shall not appea to the Presiding Officer of any Court or Office to be just and equitable, he may exercise his discretion in charging the fee of the adversary's pleader in such manner as may appear just and equitable, but, whenever, in any case other than those provided for in Clause 9, an allowance is made for a pleader's or agent's fee, the amount shall be calculated according to the Schedule appended in Clause 1.

By Order of the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces,

R. B. CHAPMAN,
Secretary.

Wreck of the Emigrant Ship "Countess of Ripon"; rescue of the Passengers and Crew.

FROM EARL DE GREY AND RIPON, K. T., Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India, to His Excellency the Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council,—(No. 27, dated India Office, London, the 17th March 1866.)

I FORWARD, for your information, a copy of the documents noted in the margin, which have been communicated to me by Her Majesty's Secretary of State for the Colonies, reporting the wreck, off the Coast of Barbadoes, of the emigrant ship Countess of Ripon, on her voyage from Calcutta to St. Vincent and Grenada, and the ultimate safe arrival of the coolies at their respective destinations.

Despatch from Governor of Barbados, dated 25th January 1866, No 441, and enclosures.
Ditto ditto, dated 26th January 1866, No. 442.
Letter from Emigration Commissioners, dated 14th February 1866, and enclosure.

2. The very praiseworthy efforts taken in rescuing the passengers and crew, providentially unattended with any loss of life, reflect the highest credit on all those who exerted themselves in this trying emergency.

Governor Walker, to Mr. Cardwell.

WINDWARD ISLANDS;

Barbadoes, the 25th January 1866.

I REGRET to have to inform you that the ship Countess of Ripon, with coolies on board for St. Vincent and Grenada, was wrecked on the north-east coast of this Island, a little before daylight, on the morning of Saturday, the 20th instant.

2. When the wreck was first reported to me, it was stated that so high was the sea in the neighbourhood of the vessel, it was utterly impossible for any boats from the shore to approach her.

3. I soon afterwards learned that the crew of the wrecked ship had succeeded in launching their large life-boat, and were engaged in passing the coolies through the broken sea to the shore boats lying inside the reef. In this manner the whole of the women and children, and a number of the men, amounting altogether to 176, were landed before night closed in.

4. In the meantime, although assured by the reports I received from the scene that everything possible was being done by the Police Magistrate and the gentlemen and people of the parish, I directed the Harbour Master to go up to the spot and see whether he could be of any use; and I put it to Captain Hume, the Senior Naval Officer, whether he might not move in the direction of the wreck and see whether any assistance could be rendered from seaward. Captain Hume's Report will shew you the extent to which he was instrumental in saving life, and I feel much indebted to him and to Lieutenant Oxley whom he put in charge of the ship's boats.

5. The same exertions on the part of the crew of the Countess of Ripon were renewed in the life-boat at daylight on Sunday morning; and before 3 o'clock every coolie was landed, and the crew taken off on board the Wolverine without the loss of a single life, or even injury to a limb. It is the wonder of everybody that upwards of 500 souls, many of them helpless women and children, were brought safely through the high sea which was running all the while.

6. I enclose the report of the Police Magistrate of the District where the wreck occurred, and from which you will be gratified to learn how well everybody behaved. Mr. Watts says little of himself; but his exertions were incessant, and beyond all praise; and the sympathy and kindness exhibited to the poor coolies by the Negroes, both men and women, was very affecting.

7. Having managed to get them all into town, I sent off the people destined for St. Vincent in three good schooners, under the charge of the Medical Officer of the Countess of Ripon on Monday; and these I hope are by this time comfortably housed and provided for. The people for Grenada sailed yesterday in three equally good vessels, under charge of Mr. Geddy, the 2nd Officer of the Countess of Ripon, who is so creditably mentioned by Captain Hume, and whose admirable conduct at the wreck in saving these poor people, and afterwards tending them in town, makes me very anxious to serve and reward him.

8. The sick remain in Barbadoes. One child, about a year old, died in town on Sunday, owing, it is supposed, to the exposure of the long land journey. Most of the sick are in hospital, and will be forwarded, as they recover, to their destinations.

9. The Master of the ship is dangerously ill; but a preliminary investigation has been made of the circumstances attending the wreck, of which I enclose a copy, and upon which I have directed a more formal enquiry to be instituted so soon as the Captain may be in a condition to appear before the Court.

I have, &c.,

Captain Hume, to Governor Walker.

H. M. S. "WOLVERINE;"

Barbadoes, the 22nd January 1866

I HAVE the honor to inform you that, in compliance with your request, I left Carlisle Bay in H. M. S. Wolverine under my command at 3-30 P. M., on Saturday, the 20th instant, and proceeded under steam for Skeet Bay, the supposed position of the wreck, but, owing to the strong breeze and head sea, did not arrive there till after dark. At 9 P. M. I fired a gun and two rockets when abreast of, and about four miles off Skeet Bay to let the crew and passengers know there was help at hand, which not being answered, I stood off and on for the night. Had I known the exact position of the wreck, it would have been impossible to have rendered any assistance that night, for the sea was running too heavy to admit of my approaching near a coast with so many outlying dangers, or to think of sending boats.

The following morning shortly after daylight, I discovered the wreck to the southward, the currents having set the ship six miles further to the northward than I had reckoned on. I immediately steamed towards the wreck, and approached as near as the reef would allow me; despatched two cutters and a gig under the command of Lieutenants C. L. Oxley and William H. Lelley, giving Lieutenant Oxley orders that, should he on reaching the wreck find more boats would be of service, to hoist the ensign at the main, and I would immediately send the launch and yawl, and to bear in mind that his duty was to save life, and on no account to risk the boats or their crews for any other purpose.

The wreck was lying just inside a reef, with her bow to the sea; had she been in any other position, the sea must have made a clean sweep over her.

Lieutenant Oxley returned on board at 3 P. M., bringing one mate and twenty-four men, the crew of the wreck, with him. He states that, "when he first got on board the wreck, there were "over three hundred souls on board,—about one "hundred and fifty having been landed the previous evening. The discipline very good; the "Captain, Officers, and crew doing their utmost to "save life. The conduct of Mr. Geddy, the 2nd "Mate, and the crew that worked the life-boat, "was highly creditable, for this boat did nearly "all the work, as the sea was running too high to "allow other boats alongside. Our second cutter, "in charge of Mr. Alexander Cook, Midshipman, "had nearly all the crew thrown out of her in "attempting to go alongside, so I anchored the "two cutters astern of the ship, and ran a hawser "from the ship, and made it fast to the boats, "and worked a life-buoy with hauling lines along "the hawser, by which means over seventy coolies "were hauled into the boats.

"Everybody did their best; the native boats "with their crews worked very well, receiving "the coolies from the life-boat and landing "them."

In conclusion I beg to bring to your Excellency's notice the conduct of Mr. Geddy, and the crew of the life-boat, which were partly Barbadians, having myself observed their untiring zeal in saving life.

I have, &c,

(Sd.) F. A. HUME, Captain.

PARISH OF SAINT PHILIP;

The 24th January 1866.

I HAVE the honor now to report, for the information of His Excellency the Governor, that the sick coolies, 17 in number, with 9 children, have been forwarded to town, which completes a total of 479 emigrants wrecked in the ship Countess of Ripon; and, although exposed to much danger by the position of the ship, and the reefs and surf to pass over, all were landed in the vessel's life boat by being transhipped to the boats of the fishermen, without the slightest accident, not even a scratch on the body of one of them.

I should be wanting in duty to the inhabitants of the district, did I not report the sympathy and kindness exhibited by all towards the unfortunate people caste on our shores. The richest proprietor and the poorest laborer vied with each other to do all they could to alleviate their sufferings. Whilst offering this general expression, I would particularize the kindness and services of many gentlemen. Mr. Shepherd, of "Prices," and church-warden of the parish, was prominent in his attentions; but particularly to the sick, and supplied sugar, wine and other necessaries for their immediate wants. Mr. Joseph Connell, of "Oughtersons," paid great attention to all; but particularly the sick, and supplied them with brandy and other articles: his services called forth the special thanks of Dr. Lealy. Mr. John Connell, of "Hatton," furnished many articles of food; amongst which there was a large supply of fresh ginger, which was made into tea, and each of the coolies being landed, wet and cold by the surf, had a cup of it hot. This gentleman's personal exertions in obtaining carts and wagons from the various estates in the parish, on Sunday, 25 in number, was the principal cause of my being able to forward so many of the people to town that day. Mr. Seale, of "Sandfords," was most kind to the women who were landed on Saturday; he had an ample supply of bread brought for them, and sat up nearly the whole of that night attending to their wants. Mr. Bynoe, of "Shepherd's Cot," and other members of vestry, used their best exertions; and Mr. Chandler, of "The Thicket," sent a timely supply of cooked food.

I cannot express in sufficient terms of praise the attention of Dr. Lealy on the sick, not only in his personal professional attentions, but in a supply of medicine and other necessaries which contributed in no small degree to alleviate their sufferings.

Mr. Weatherhead, the proprietor of Bayfield Estate, near which the wreck took place, as well as his son, Mr. Joseph Weatherhead, have been most kind and considerate throughout; the former gentleman gave the use of a large building to shelter the coolies as they landed; and also his marine residence, White Haven, fully furnished, was placed at my disposal most willingly, and was used by myself, the Police, and the sick as a hospital. Without this house I know not what I should have done.

Last, though not least, I cannot omit to mention the conduct of a labouring blackwoman, named Sarah Maynard, of Mapp's Estate. One of the sick coolies landed with a very young infant at her breast; her condition was such that nature refused to give that nournishment to the child which it required. This woman came forward most cheerfully and supplied from her breasts an ample supply of milk, and suckled it day and night since they landed, and, I believe, saved the life of the poor little creature.

C.

Parish of Saint Philip.

Report of a preliminary enquiry taken before me, this 23rd day of January 1866, touching the wreck of the ship Countess of Ripon, on the east coast of this Island, according to the provisions of "an Act to make provision for enquiry into the cause of wrecks occurring on the coasts of this Island."

The ship Countess of Ripon, belonging to the port of London, Stuart Master, the owners being Alleyne and Son, of London, burden 1,209 tons, left the port of London on the 31st of May 1865, bound for Calcutta, and arrived there on the 2nd September following. She discharged her general cargo, and took 12,000 bags of rice for Demerara, and 508 coolies for St. Vincent and Grenada. She left Calcutta on the 5th November, and called at St. Helena on the 26th December. She had a properous voyage; and on Friday, the 19th of January 1866, an observation was taken at noon, and she was found to be in 13°11′ North Latitude, and Longitude 57°12′, and about 150 miles from Barbadoes; the Island then bearing due west and the course of the ship west by south, half south, and making 9½ knots per hour.

During that afternoon the ship took in sternsails and reduced her speed to about 8 knots per hour. She kept the same course during the night, and at 5 minutes to 5 o'clock on Saturday, she struck on a reef on the east coast of the Island.

A look-out was kept on deck, and at the mast head from 11 o'clock on Friday night until the ship struck, to endeavor to see the light on the south joint of the Island; but the night being very dark and hazy, it was not seen. Currents were duly considered by the Captain, and the course steered was thought sufficient to enable the ship to clear the south point of Barbadoes, at least 20 miles, and then to have run direct for the Island of St. Vincent.

The question now for consideration is the cause of the wreck of this noble ship. Was it in consequence of the false calculations made on board, with respect to latitude and longitude, and the distance from the Island? Or was it the deceptive northerly currents running to the windward of the Island, and so prevalent at this season of the year? I am of opinion that all possible precaution was exercised with the look-out on board, and to the course the ship was steered, and to the bearings of the Island of Barbadoes, and that the unfortunate circumstance of the ship being wrecked is entirely to be attributed to the deceptive currents she encountered.

Within my own experience of twenty-five years several ships have been wrecked under the circumstances; the northerly currents running four knots an hour, whilst calculations were only made for one knot an hour.

I was at the scene of the wreck a few hours after it took place, and remained in charge of the coolies until all were landed. I feel gratified in reporting the noble conduct of Captain Stuart, his Officers and crew. The ship was in a most dangerous position, and no shore boat could approach the wreck in consequence of the violent breakers of the sea.

The life-boat of the ship conveyed every passenger to a certain distance in safety from it, and they were then transhipped to the fishing boats out of danger, and brought to the shore.

This work continued from Saturday at 10 o'clock, until Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, during which period, to the credit be it said of all concerned on board, that 479 coolies were landed without the slightest accident occurring, amongst whom were some 26 sick people in a most deplorable and emaciated condition.

Windward Islands;

Barbadoes, the 26th January 1866, 6 A. M.

I have just time to inform you that the Mail Steamer has brought me reports from Grenada and St. Vincent, of the safe arrival, in perfect health and spirits, of all the coolies from the wreck of the Countess of Ripon despatched hence.

The 24th January.

I have the honor to enclose herewith, for the information of Mr. Secretary Cardwell, the copy of a letter received this morning from the Surgeon of the cooly ship Countess of Ripon, reporting the loss of that ship on a reef on the south-east coast of Barbadoes, and the safe landing of all the coolies in Barbadoes, and their subsequent conveyance to St. Vincent and Grenada.

I have, &c.,

St. Vincent, West Indies;

The 24th January 1866.

It becomes my painful duty to inform you of the total loss of the ship Countess of Ripon, with coolies to this Island and Grenada, on the morning of the 20th instant, on the reef of the south-east coast of Barbadoes. I am, however, happy to add that every life has been saved, and so far as I have ascertained not the slightest injury has happened to one of the coolies. This lamentable occurrence took place at 5 o'clock on the morning of the 20th instant, and is attributed by the Captain to the extraordinary set of the current, for which he states he made what he thought ample allowance. Immediately on the ship striking, I had all the coolies who happened to be on deck sent below, while efforts were being made to get the ship off. After some time spent in these exertions, it was found that she was making water fast, and all hope of saving her was abandoned. I immediately recommended the disembarkation of the coolies, commencing with the women and children. A frightful surf was boiling about the ship, and no shore-boat could come alongside. One of our boats was lost after making her first trip, and the whole day we proceeded with the life-boat, which was the only boat that could come alongside. The women and children were one by one lowered in a man's arms, who was made secure in the bight of a rope. About 4 P. M. the life-boat was stove, and we were obliged to give up for a time. We then had rafts constructed, in case the extremity of the ship parting should arrive. On the morning of the 21st the life-boat having been repaired, we recommenced and landed the few remaining women, children, and sick. We then had the assistance of the boats of H. M. S. Wolverine, and the disembarkation of the men was rapidly proceeded with. By 11 A. M. every cooly was out of the ship. I then took a turn round every part of the ship to make sure that all the coolies were out, and then proceeded to abandon her myself. As I hope to return by the next mail to England, I shall defer further particulars until then. The coolies have been sent on to this Island and Grenada by coasters. I must bear witness of the admirable good order and discipline of the coolies under these trying circumstances. There was no more noise and confusion throughout than if it were an ordinary muster at sea. And with regard to the crew, I must say I never saw men act with greater devotion and skill than they did, indeed such as to reflect credit on the name of British seamen.

Supply of Carriage to Troops.

From R. B. Chapman, Esq., Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces, to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(No. 98A., dated the 19th March 1866.)

With reference to Government order No. 250, dated 17th January, I am directed by the Board of Revenue to submit, for approval, the revised rules for the supply of carriage to troops on the march that they propose finally to issue.

2. Rule IX. gives, as far the Board of Revenue think practicable in these Provinces, directions for fixing the rates. It must be remembered that, in the Lower Provinces, the movement of troops is comparatively a very rare occurrence, and that the supply of carriage is, in most districts, very scanty.

3. So as to Rule VIII. As a to rule, there are not in the Lower Provinces any men answering to the Choudharies supposed by the Government of India, for the simple reason that, in most districts, carriage is not, in fact, available for hire in any quantity.

4. With reference to paragraph 5 of the orders of the Government of India, I am to say that the absence of any law whereby a Collector can dictate to Choudharies, owners of carriage, or officers, is at the root of the Board's objection to the rule for which they have substituted the proposed Rule XIII. No doubt, very generally, the influence of the civil officer does and will suffice for the arrangement of petty disputes without law.

5. I am to request the favor of the earliest possible orders upon this reference, as the Board are about, as the Lieutenant-Governor knows, to re-print their rules, and they wish to incorporate these revised rules in the reprint.

Revised Rules for the supply of Carriage to Troops

As a rule, the officers of the Commissariat Department are to supply all carriage needed by troops on the march, making their own arrangements if possible, but applying to the Civil authorities for such assistance as they need. The following regulations are to be strictly observed whenever carriage is supplied by the Civil authorities:—

I. If possible, not less than fifteen days' notice is to be given to the district officer of the quantity and description of carriage required.

II. Carriage is not be supplied by a district officer, except on regular indent countersigned by the commanding officer.

III. The indent for the carriage required for that portion of the men's baggage for the conveyance of which Government is responsible, must be invariably distinct from the indent for the carriage required for the rest of the men's baggage and for that of the officers. Each indent must state distinctly whether the charges for the carriage indented for will be paid by the State or by the troops themselves, so that there may be no question as to the quarter from which payment is to be claimed. The indenting officer is personally responsible for not entering in the indent for carriage, the charges of which are debitable to the State, any carriage not properly so chargeable.

IV. District officers are forbidding, under any circumstances, to furnish carriage for baggage in excess of that entered in the second column of General Orders No. 964 of 1854, and the commanding officer is bound to see that no one under his command exceeds that scale.

V. With the indent a copy of the route is to be furnished to the district officer, who will immediately ascertain from the district officer of the district which the troops will enter on leaving his district, whether carriage is procurable there, and at what station. The information should be communicated to the commanding officer as early as possible.

VI. Unless upon a certificate from the district officer of the district that he cannot furnish a relief, carriage is not, without the written consent of the owners, to be taken beyond a convenient station in the first district entered after leaving that in which it was hired.

VII. Except in cases of emergency, such as the breaking down of carriage, the death of cattle, &c., carriage is not to be exchanged except at the regular stations.

VIII. Wherever possible and convenient, the Government desire that Choudharies or Brokers should be employed to engage carriage, every precaution being taken to guard against oppression on their part. When the services of such men are required continuously, they may be paid a regular salary; otherwise, and ordinarily, they should be paid by a commission.

IX. The Government will, as far as possible, from time to time, acting upon the advice of the district and divisional officers, fix the rates of hire, back hire, (which is always allowed at least half rates,) demurrage, &c., to be allowed in each district for the different kinds of carriage procurable there; and a district officer, when making over carriage to the commanding officer, is to be careful to deliver to him, in writing, a full statement of the rates of hire, back hire, demurrage and the like, and of the weight to be carried by each cart, boat, or beast.

X. If it is necessary to collect carriage beforehand, demurrage rates must be paid until it is actually employed; but care should be taken, as far as possible, to curtail charges of this kind, and, when they are necessary, the indenting officer should be immediately warned to that effect.

XI. When necessary, the district officer is to advance half the hire on engaging the carriage. The commanding officer of the troops is responsible that this is re-paid to the Collector, and that the full balance is discharged in due course. He is also responsible that men and cattle are well used, and that there is no over-loading or over-driving.

XII. It is to be particularly observed that the civil officer is not authorized to make any final payment or adjustments, but only to make advances, which he should recover from the military authorities.

XIII. If the commanding officer has any complaint to make regarding the quality of the carriage or the behaviour of the men in charge, he should address the district officer of the first station that he reaches, who will afford every redress in his legal power.

XIV. On the other hand, district officers are responsible that these rules are fairly adhered to, and if they fail in inducing adherence to them, they should at once report the matter for the orders [illegible]

A perwannah, in Engl[illegible] rindoostani, and Bengali, signed and sealed by the district officer, is to be given to each person in charge of carriage. The carriage protected by this document shall not be liable to seizure on the way home for the use of troops, unless they are marching in the direction of the owner's house.

From J. GROGNEGAN, Esq., Officiating Junior Secretary to the Government of Bengal, to the Secretary to the Government of India, Military Department,—(No. 1306, dated the 16th April 1866.)

WITH reference to the correspondence* cited in the margin, I am directed to forward herewith, for the consideration and orders of His Excellency the Governor General in Council, a copy of a letter, No. 98A, dated the 19th ultimo, received from the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces, and of the rules referred to therein, for the supply of carriage to troops on the march, together with a copy of the reply thereto, No. 1304 of this date, given by this Government. I am at the same time to forward, for the information of His Excellency, a copy of a communication No. 1274, dated the 5th instant, and of its enclosures, received from the Commissary General on the subject, together with a copy of the reply addressed to that officer, containing views of the Lieutenant-Governor.

2. The earliest possible orders of the Government of India are solicited, as the Board of Revenue propose embodying the rules in a new edition of their circular orders, now in course of publication.

From LIEUTENANT-COLONEL R. E. BACON, Officiating Secretary to the Government of India, Military Department, to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(No. 364, dated the 11th May 1866.)

WITH reference to your letter No. 1306 of the 16th ultimo, I am instructed to acquaint you, for the information of the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor, that the Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council approves of the rules framed by the Board of Revenue, for the supply of carriage to troops on the line of march in the districts under the Government of Bengal, which were therewith submitted.

Report of the Cultivation of Cinchonæ at Darjeeling during the Month of April 1866.

From T. Anderson, Esq., M. D., Superintendent, Botanical Gardens, and in charge of Cinchona cultivation in Bengal, to the Officiating Junior Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(No. 6, dated the 23rd May 1866.)

I have the honor to forward the report on the cultivation of Cinchonæ at Darjeeling for the month of April 1866.

Report for the Month of April 1866.

The number of all species has been increased to 192,765 by the addition of fourteen thousand and twenty-four cuttings to the total number of last month. Fourteen thousand pits have been prepared for the permanent planting of C. Succirubra, and the putting out of the plants in them had been commenced towards the end of the month. At plantation No. 4, two thousand pits have been made for plants of C. Officinalis and planting was begun.

The seeds of C. Officinalis received from Ceylon are growing rapidly; those sown in February were two inches in height in April, and the seeds sown in April germinated on the 11th day after sowing.

The weather during the month has been dry and hot; no rain fell between the 3rd and the 22nd, and only 3·7 inches were recorded as the total amount of rain during the month.

The temperature at the different plantations has altered very slightly from the record of March; nights were clear and cold, and in consequence the minimum temperature has been a little lower than in March. The days have been warmer than in March, and thus the mean temperature has been nearly the same as in that month.

The most important event that has occurred has been the flowering of two plants of C. Officinalis at the 4th plantation. The plants have been eighteen months in the ground, having been planted on the 15th October 1864; they were about 4 feet in height when the panicles of flowers first appeared. These are the first Cinchonas that have flowered in this part of India, and their production of flowers is a further proof that the climate of Sikhim is adapted to the growth of Cinchona.

Proposed Reclamation of the Salt Water Lakes near Calcutta.

From EARL DE GREY AND RIPON, M. P., Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India, to His Excellency the Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council,—(dated India Office, London, the 31st March 1866.)

PUBLIC WORKS.
No. 20.

YOUR Excellency's Despatches, Nos. 125-26 of 3rd October and 8th January last, relative to the proposed reclamation of the Salt Water Lake near Calcutta, bring down the report of proceedings in the matter to the grant of conditional permission for the registration, under Act XXII. of 1863, of a Company formed for the purpose of undertaking the reclamation.

2. The only points in connexion with the subject, on which I need at present remark, are involved in the alterations required by you to be made in the conditions under which the Company desired to be registered.

3. The Company's original scheme contemplated two distinct concessions on the part of your Government and of the Municipality of Calcutta, one being a grant of so much of the space to be reclaimed as is the property of Government, the other a free grant in perpetuity of all the sewage of Calcutta. I agree with your Excellency that the two questions of reclamation and of utilization of sewage should be kept as distinct as possible, and I also join with you in thinking it better that the Company should pay for whatever land it requires, Government, on the other hand, foregoing all right to participate in the profits of the Company, however large those profits may be.

4. I greatly doubt, however, the expediency of granting the sewage in perpetuity. It is, I observe, intended to reserve to Government the power of preventing the application of the sewage to the reclaimed land should its use in such manner prove injurious to health or otherwise objectionable, but it is also possible that the sewage may hereafter become of great pecuniary value, or that some more convenient and more advantageous vent for it may be found than that of the Salt Water Lake, and it would be much to be regretted if future inhabitants of Calcutta should find themselves debarred by the act of a former Municipality from disposing of the sewage in whatever manner might then appear best.

5. I request that this point may be re-considered by your Government before any irrevocable steps are taken towards the consolidation of the Company.

Government of Bengal.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

THE following Act of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council received the assent of His Honor on the 29th May 1866, and having been assented to by His Excellency the Governor General on the same date, is hereby promulgated for general information.—

ACT No. VIII OF 1866.

An Act to amend "The Calcutta Police Act, 1866."

Preamble.

WHEREAS, by virtue of Section XXVI of "The Calcutta Police Act, 1866," the Magistrates are empowered (among other things) to try and convict summarily and impose punishment on persons charged with offences under Section 379 of the Indian Penal Code: And whereas, in consequence of the frequency of instances in which persons are brought before the Magistrates charged with trifling offences under Sections 380 and 381 of the Indian Penal Code, it is desirable to enlarge the summary powers of the Magistrates as regards such cases: Be it enacted as follows:—

A. GROTE,
V. H. SCHALCH, } Members, Board of Revenue.

Rules made by the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces, in pursuance of Act XX of 1865, Section 37, for fixing and regulating the fees payable by the unsuccessful party in respect of the fees of his adversary's Pleader, in proceedings in the Revenue Courts and Offices in the Lower Provinces.

Scale of fees prescribed.

1. IN pursuance of Section 37, Act XX. of 1865, the Board of Revenue are pleased to direct that, from, and after, the 1st day of July 1866 the sums which shall be payable by an unsuccessful party in any suit or proceeding in the Revenue Courts and Offices in the Lower Provinces of Bengal, in respect of the fees of his adversary's pleader shall be calculated at the rates specified in the following schedules.

Agent to have three quarter fees only.

If a Revenue Agent and not a pleader has been employed by the said adversary, a deduction of one fourth part shall be made from the fees calculated as herein deducted, and if, though a pleader has been employed, the Officer presiding in the Court or Office be of opinion that the employment of a pleader was unnecessary, and that it would have sufficed to employ a Revenue Agent, the fees shall be calculated as for a Revenue Agent only.

SCHEDULE.

In all suits or applications instituted under Act X. of 1859 of Act VI of 1862 B. C., and in all Judicial or quasi Judicial proceedings in any Revenue Court or Office:

If the amount or value of the property, debt, or damages decreed does not exceed 5,000 Rupees, as 5 per cent. on the amount or value decreed.

If the amount or value exceed 5,000 Rupees and does not exceed Rupees 20,000, on Rupees 5,000 at 5 per cent. and on the remainder at 2 per cent.

If the amount or value exceed 20,000 and does not exceed 50,000, on 20,000 as above, and on the remainder at 1 per cent.

If the amount or value exceed 50,000, on 50,000 as above, and on the remainder at ½ per cent.

Provided that in no case shall the amount of any fee exceed 3,000 Rupees.

2. In suits or proceedings to enforce rights of which the pecuniary value cannot be exactly defined, as, for example, in suits for a kabulyut or pottah, or for abatement or enhancement of rent, or for ejectment, or re-instatement, or in proceedings for the division of an estate, if the plaintiff succeed, the Presiding Officer of the Court or Office may order the fee of the pleader or Revenue Agent for the plaintiff to be calculated upon the valuation of the claim, or upon such a sum, not exceeding the valuation, as the said Officer may think reasonable and may fix with reference to the importance of the subject of the dispute.

Where value cannot be exactly defined.

3. If any suit, application, or claim, is dismissed for default, or upon the merits, or is decreed for the defendant, the defendant's pleader's or agent's fee shall be calculated on the whole value of the suit.

For when case is dismissed.

4. If any suit, application or claim is decreed for the plaintiff as to part only of his claim, and as to the remainder, is dismissed or decreed for the defendant, the fees allowed to each party's pleader or agent shall be calculated upon the value of that part of the claim in respect of which he has succeeded.

When it is decreed in part.

5. If, in any suit for damages under the Rent Laws, the plaintiff fails to recover the full amount of damages claimed, the defendant shall not be entitled to any allowance for a pleader or agent's fee in respect of the difference between the amount of damages claimed and the amount recovered, unless the Presiding Officer of the Court or Office shall be of opinion that the amount claimed for damages was unreasonable or excessive, and shall for that, or any other cause to be specified, direct that a fee for his pleader or agent shall be allowed to the defendant. If specially allowed the amount of such fee shall be calculated upon the amount of damages disallowed to the plaintiff.

When in a successful suit the whole damages claimed are not allowed.

6. If several defendants, who have a Joint or Common Interest succeed upon a joint defence, or upon separate defences substantially the same, not more than one pleader or agent's fee shall be allowed unless the Presiding Officer of the Court or Office shall otherwise order, for reasons which shall be recorded. If only one fee be allowed, the Presiding Officer shall direct to which of the defendants it shall be paid, or shall apportion it among the several defendants in such manner as he shall think fit.

When the defence is joint or common.

7. If several defendants, who have separate interests, set up separate and distinct defences and succeed thereon, a fee for one pleader or agent for each of the defendants who appear by a separate pleader or agent may be allowed in respect of his separate interest. Such fee, if allowed, shall be calculated upon the value of the separate interest of such defendant.

When several defendants make separate defences.

8. The amount in respect of the fee of an adversary's pleader or agent when allowed in any miscellaneous proceeding, or for any other matter than that of appearing, acting or pleading in a suit or application, or other judicial or quasi judicial proceeding prior to decree shall be fixed by the Presiding Officer of the Court or Office according to the following scale, viz.:—

In miscellaneous proceedings.

In proceedings before the Board of Revenue or in the Court or Office of a Commissioner of Revenue, Rupees 10 to 80.

In the Court or Office of a District Officer, Rupees 4 to 16

In the Court or Office of a Deputy Collector, Rupee 1 to Rupees 10.

9. In any suit, application or claim, in any Court or Office of Original Jurisdiction which is undefended the amount to be paid as the fee of the adversary's pleader or agent shall be calculated at one half the sum at which it would have been charged had the suit been defended.

Undefended cases.

10. In proceedings for, or consequent upon, the revival or relieving of a suit, the pleader's or agent's fee, if allowed to the successful party, shall be fixed by the Presiding Officer of the Court or Office at an amount which shall not exceed one-half of the amount that would have been allowed by these rules in case of an original decree.

Revival or relieving of suit.

The fee allowed in respect of the revival or relieving will be irrespective of any fee which may be included in any costs in respect of the original suit or proceeding which may be adjudged to the successful party by the judgment in review.

11. The amount to be allowed on account of the fees of an adversary's pleader or agent in an appeal, shall be calculated on the same scale as in original suits, and the principles of the above clauses as to original suits shall be applied, as nearly as may be, to appeals.

Appeals.

12. When the interest of several Appellants is joint, not more than one pleader's or agent's fee shall be allowed unless the Presiding Officer of the Court or Office shall otherwise order, for a reason to be recorded. If one fee only be allowed, the Presiding Officer of the Court or Office shall direct to which of the Appellants it shall be paid, or shall apportion it amongst the several Appellants in such proportions as he shall think fit.

Joint Appellants.

13. If several Respondents in one appeal appear by separate pleaders or agents, in determining whether several pleaders' or Agents' fees shall be allowed, the Presiding Officer of the Court or Office shall be guided by the principles laid down in Clauses 6 and 7.

Several Respondents.

14. If, in any instance, the payment of fees according to the preceding Clauses shall not appear to the Presiding Officer of any Court or Office to be just and equitable, he may exercise his discretion in charging the fee of the adversary's pleader in such manner as may appear just and equitable, but, whenever, in any case other than those provided for in Clause 8, an allowance is made for a pleader's or agent's fee, the amount shall be calculated according to the Schedule appended in Clause 1.

By Order of the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces,

R. B. CHAPMAN,
Secretary.

Inspection Report of the Eastern Bengal Railway for the first Quarter of 1866.

From Captain F. S. Taylor, R. E., Joint-Secretary to Government of Bengal, Public Works Department, Railway Branch, to the Secretary to the Government of India, Public Works Department,—(No. 1257G., dated the 1st June 1866.)

I am instructed to forward, for submission to His Excellency the Governor General in Council, the Inspection Report of the Eastern Bengal Railway Company for the 1st Quarter of 1866, together with the Agent's reply.

2. You will perceive that the Agent has undertaken to carry out the whole of the Inspector's suggestions for the improvement of the Stations and Passenger Rolling Stock, and the general state of the line continues to be most satisfactory.

From Bradford Leslie, Esq., Acting Agent, Eastern Bengal Railway Company, to the Deputy Consulting Engineer to Government of Bengal, Railway Department,—(No. 1464, dated the 25th May 1866.)

I have the honor to acknowledge receipt of your Office memorandum No. 1088, forwarding Inspection Report of this Railway for the 1st Quarter of 1866, and letter No. 1136G. from the Assistant Secretary to Government of Bengal, dated the 18th instant, and to submit my replies, seriatim, for the information of Government.

2. The subject of a Water Service for the new Goods Shed, Sealdah, has already had attention, and the expenditure necessary to carry out the proposed works is sanctioned under Indent 6281B; measures will be taken to push this work forward to completion.

Bench seats are in course of construction for the platforms of the various Stations, and already a considerable proportion of the total number required have been supplied.

3. In compliance with the suggestions of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, arrangements will at once be made to convert two rooms in the Kooshtea Station, at present used as Sleeping Rooms in connection with the Branch of the Great Eastern Hotel, into Waiting Rooms for ladies and gentlemen respectively.

4. The latrines for natives, now in course of construction at Sealdah, shall be completed with the least possible delay. An expenditure of Rupees 1,300, for the erection of urinals for Europeans at Sealdah, is sanctioned under Indent 619B, and this work will be proceeded with immediately.

5. With reference to the remarks on the subject of Rolling Stock, I presume the first portion of Clause 7 of the Inspection Report refers to the 1st class carriages only, and in reply thereto, I beg to state that this class of stock is being taken in for repair, as it can be spared by the Traffic Department; and, before the setting in of the coming rains, the whole will be in satisfactory order. Such of the converted composite carriages as were in the first instance supplied with venetians only, will, while under repair, have glass windows added.

From Major J. Hovenden, R. E., Assistant Secretary to Government of Bengal, Public Works Department, Railway Branch, to the Agent, Eastern Bengal Railway Company,—(No. 1136G., dated the 18th May 1866.)

In continuation of this Office letter, No. 1057, dated 11th May 1866, I am directed to forward the following observations on the Inspection Report of the line for the 1st Quarter of 1866.

2. In the opinion of the Lieutenant-Governor it is of importance that a proper system of water-pipes and fire-plugs should be laid down in the new Goods Shed at Sealdah, and I am to request that this subject may receive your early attention.

3. Now that a Dák Bungalow has been established at Kooshtea, the time appears to have arrived for closing the Station Hotel, retaining the Refreshment Room only, and the present Sleeping Rooms should, His Honor thinks, be converted into Waiting Rooms for ladies and gentlemen.

4. I am further to request that the construction of the latrines for natives may be expedited, and to enquire what steps you propose taking for the improvement of the privy on the Sealdah Platform.

5. In conclusion, I am to draw your special attention to the Deputy Consulting Engineer's remarks on the subject of the Rolling Stock.

EASTERN BENGAL RAILWAY.

Inspection Report for the first Quarter of 1866.

The Inspection was made on the 4th May, and the report is submitted under the usual headings.

I. The line is smooth and in fair order throughout. The wire fencing is in good order on the main line and Gorai branch. The completion of the fencing has caused some discontent at Kooshtea, where some of the inhabitants claim a right of way along the river bank. The matter is now being settled in the Civil Courts. The signals are in good order, and the telegraph is in working order.

II. Full information as to the supply of fuel and water was given on the last report. There is no difficulty about the supply of either.

III. The Station buildings are in good order. At Sealdah a latrine for natives has been commenced. Nothing has apparently been done to improve that for Europeans. At Kooshtea and at the intermediate Stations the doors of the latrines are being altered, so that the entrances will no longer be directly from the platform. This is a much more decent arrangement than the former one. The native latrine at Buggoolah is not what is required, and it is to be at once replaced by a large experimental latrine on the Madras system. There are ladies' waiting-rooms, clean and in good order at Sealdah, Barrackpore, and Buggoolah. The dawk bungalow at Kooshtea is now open, but the Great Eastern Hotel still monopolizes all the accommodation at the Railway Station. I think that at all events a room should now be set apart for ladies who may not wish to make use of the hotel.

The Agent's attention might be called to remarks in previous reports on the subject of precautions against fire and the supply of benches or seats on the platforms of the various Stations.

In the interests of third class passengers I would strongly advocate the introduction of the system of placing small iron tanks of drinking water on the platform of every Station.

IV. The discipline of the Station and Train Establishments appears good. The Guards, Policemen, &c., are all in uniform.

On this line in addition to the Guard, one or two native Guards (according to the length of the Train) travel by every Train. The sole duty of these men is to get the native passengers in and out of the Train, and they perform that duty admirably. I am inclined to think from what I have seen when travelling on the two lines, that this is a better system than that of Platform Superintendents adopted on the East Indian Railway.

V. The Superintendent of Labor Transport complained that, on the 15th March 1866, a batch of coolies were shamefully ill-treated by the Station Master and his Assistants, and then crowded into an insufficient number of carriages.

A Deputy Consulting Engineer was sent to Sealdah with orders to make a searching enquiry into the case, and the Lieutenant-Governor concurred in the opinion expressed by that Officer that no blame was attributable to the Railway authorities.

VI. The Trains are as a rule punctual.

VII. There are great complaints on the subject of the Passenger Stock. The carriages are shabby and dirty, and most of them leak, while first class passengers are strongly of opinion that they are entitled to glass windows as well as venetians. The fixing of partition rails and the substitution of louvre boards for panels in the fourth class carriages is going on but slowly.

In short there is a general impression, in which I agree, that before the question of raising the fares is considered, that of renovating the Stock should be gone into.

The Goods Stock is in excellent order.

VIII. Goods are seldom, if ever, detained either at Sealdah or Kooshtea.

IX. The Goods Traffic is steadily increasing. During this quarter 10,19,457 maunds 30 seers of merchandize were carried against 7,50,884 maunds 30 seers carried during the corresponding quarter of 1865.

X. I append a schedule of the accidents which happened during the quarter.

Memorial from Coal Owners at Raneegunge.

From MESSRS. GORDON, STUART & Co., AND OTHERS, to the HON'BLE CECIL BEADON, Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.—(dated the 28th March 1866.)

The Memorial of the undersigned Coal Owners, carrying on their operations in and about Raneegunge and elsewhere, in the districts of Burdwan and Beerbhoom.

SHEWETH,

THAT your memorialists have severally invested large capital in the raising and producing coal in the above Districts.

2. That the East Indian Railway Company constructed a line of Railway from Calcutta to Raneegunge, the portion lying between Burdwan and Raneegunge being expressly made for the purposes of the mineral traffic.

3. That shortly after the opening of the line to Raneegunge, your memorialists relying on the more certain means of conveyance as expected to be afforded by the Railway Company, curtailed, some altogether, some in part, their establishments for the conveyance of coal by the Damoodah and the Adjye Rivers.

4. That in so curtailing the boating establishment, your memorialists were compelled to sacrifice a great portion of the outstanding balances due to them from the boatmen, which but for such curtailing could have been in the course of time worked out.

5. That their expectations as to a regular and sufficient supply of the means of carriage by the Railway Company have never been realised; the amount of rolling-stock always has been and is still utterly insufficient for the requirements of the mineral traffic.

6. That not only is the portion of rolling-stock, said to be appropriated specially to the mineral traffic, utterly insufficient, but even the portion so appropriated is often capriciously diverted to other purposes.

7. That some or all of your memorialists have, from time to time during the last ten years, represented to the Officials of the Railway Company the losses they have sustained by the insufficiency of the rolling-stock in quantity, and its capricious supply, but nothing beyond slight temporary relief has ever resulted from their just complaints.

8. That your memorialists submit that the East Indian Railway Company are bound to supply not only a rolling-stock sufficient for the requirements of the mineral traffic, but also to supply the same with certainty as and when required by the coal owners. In the place of that, however, sometimes there is a larger number of wagons supplied than can be conveniently loaded, whilst at others for days, few or none are sent; owing to this uncertainty your memorialists incur great additional expense in the loading and dispatching coal by keeping a number of coolies on pay without employment. Your memorialists submit that the rolling-stock for the mineral traffic at present existing should be appropriated solely to the mineral traffic and to nothing else.

9. That the fact that a Railway Company, whose line has been opened for the mineral traffic upwards of ten years, should be unable to supply the means required for transport of minerals, is without precedent in Railway management, and can only be attributed to the fact of the guarantee of five per cent. by the Government, having caused the body of the Shareholders to rest satisfied with the guarantee rather than to compel exertion on the part of their Officials.

10. That your memorialists have not only suffered loss by not being able to develop the mineral traffic to a greater extent, but have, in cases where they have entered into contracts for the supply of coal, suffered loss by their inability to perform their contracts, such inability arising wholly and solely from the neglect of the East Indian Railway Company to supply the proper amount of rolling-stock.

11. That the losses sustained by your memorialists generally by the above state of facts is not the only loss. The Government or rather the community of India have sustained unnecessarily heavy losses on the guarantee, which losses need not have been incurred but for the negligence of the Railway Company.

12. That one of your memorialists, viz., the "Bengal Coal Company," shortly after the opening of the line, forseeing the probability of a short supply of rolling-stock, invited the Railway Company to permit them to find their own rolling-stock. This the Railway Company declined to do.

13. That when regard is had to the cost of the line from Calcutta to Raneegunge, the charge of conveyance is exorbitantly high. The charge for coal being at the rate of Rupees 4-8 or ·81 of a penny per ton per mile, whereas the Railway Companies in England are conveying coals from the Northern Coal Fields to London at ·5 of a penny per ton per mile, the cost of construction being more than double that of the cost of construction of the line from Calcutta to Raneegunge.

14. Your memorialists pray that your Honor will be pleased to call upon the East Indian Railway Company not only to have a proper and sufficient amount of rolling-stock for the mineral traffic supplied forthwith or as soon as possibly can be, but also that the rolling-stock for the mineral traffic as at present existing be devoted wholly to such traffic and on no account whatever diverted therefrom, and that the Company be ordered to give to each of your memorialists such portion of the present mineral rolling-stock as they may require.

15. That the rates of charge be revised, and that a rate be fixed not exceeding the rates for like traffic in England.

16. And your memorialists, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

From MAJOR J HOVENDEN, R. E., Assistant Secretary to Government of Bengal, Public Works Department, Railway Branch, to MESSRS. GORDON, STUART AND Co., Secretaries, Bengal Coal Company, "Limited;" MESSRS. BEAD, DUNLOP AND Co., Secretaries, Equitable Coal Company, "Limited;" MESSRS. APCAR AND Co., Proprietors of several Collieries on the Isaac Robert Brown Mackay, Esq., Agent and Managing Director, E. I. Coal Company, "Limited," and MESSRS. HERRADAILE, SCHUTTLER AND Co., Managing Agents, Beerbhoom Coal Company.—(Nos. 8396. to 8436., dated the 13th April 1866.)

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of a memorial addressed by you to the Lieutenant-Governor, on the subject of the insufficient supply of wagons for the mineral traffic between Raneegunge and Calcutta.

2. The Lieutenant-Governor fully admits that the owners of coal have a just cause of complaint, and that the equipment of the experimental line as regards rolling-stock should be on a more liberal footing; but I am at the same time to point out that a considerable part of the inconvenience complained of has been caused by the great increase which has of late taken place in the coal trade.

3. That this increase has been great is shewn by the following Statement of coal carried over the line for the last two years:—

	Maunds.	Maunds.	Maunds.
1865..	66,15,901	31,11,388	97,27,289

While the quantities carried for the public during the second-half years of 1864 and 1865 were raspectively 19,39,018 maunds and 32,65,705 maunds, and the number of wagons supplied to the coal owners at Raneegunge during the six cold weather months of 1865-66 was 20,491 against 14,957 supplied in the same months of 1854-65.

4. The Railway Company, I am to add, admit the deficiency in this portion of their equipment, and every effort is being made to diminish the inconvenience. Since August 1865, 382 new coal wagons have been put on the line and the covered goods wagons are being adopted to carry coal on their upward trips, so that it will no longer be necessary to use the coal wagons for stocking the upper part of the line with coal.

5. The argument brought forward as to the loss incurred by you in discharging your boating establishment does not seem to His Honor to be of much force, as the number of wagons, though insufficient at present owing to the great increase in the traffic, is considerably greater than it was when the boats were discharged.

6. As at present informed, the Lieutenant-Governor does not think that wagons are capriciously diverted from the coal traffic. During the cold weather of 1864-65 a number of coal wagons were used for carrying grain; but as there was a famine that cold weather, His Honor considers that the Company's Agent were fully justified in acting as they did. During the last cold season a number of wagons were employed in stocking the upper division of the line with coal; but as this coal was all purchased from the Raneegunge Collieries, the coal trade can hardly be said to have suffered by this employment of the stock.

7. The question whether the Company is bound to keep a large number of wagons lying idle at Raneegunge, so as to be in a position to supply coal owners as and when required, or whether coal owners should not make arrangements for sending down a steady supply throughout the year, is one which, in the Lieutenant-Governor's opinion, ought to be settled between the Railway Company and the coal owners, and not one in which the Government should interfere.

8. The Lieutenant-Governor hopes that the arrangements which have now been made for working the coal traffic, will make it unnessary to go into the question of allowing private Companies to build their own wagons.

As regards rates, it does not seem to the Lieutenant-Governor that it is desirable to raise this question at a time when the rolling-stock is insufficient to carry the traffic, nor does the great increase in the coal trade seem to indicate any necessity for a reduction.

A copy of this letter and of your memorial will be furnished to the Agent, and he will be requested to use his utmost endeavours to satisfy the legitimate demands of the coal owners for sufficient carriage.

From EDWARD PALMER, Esq., Chairman, East Indian Railway Board of Agency, to the Consulting Engineer to Government of Bengal, Railway Department.—(No. B. A., dated the 31st May 1866.)

IN reference to Assistant Secretary's No. 882 of 18th ultimo, forwarding copy of a memorial, which had been submitted to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, by a number of gentlemen interested in the Raneegunge Coal Trade, on the subject of the deficiency of coal wagons on this line, and of the reply which had been sent to the memorialists, I have the honor to forward copy of the Traffic Manager's No. 3521 of 28th instant, and would draw your attention to his remarks on the subject of the Bengal Coal Company's recent complaints about a short supply of wagons for their coal traffic from Raneegunge.

From J. C. BATCHELOR, Esq., Traffic Manager, East Indian Railway Company, to CECIL STEPHENSON, Esq., Calcutta,—(No. 3521, dated Jamalpore Station, the 28th May 1866.)

Coal Traffic.

I BEG to advise you that the requisitions for coal wagons at Raneegunge from the different Companies, have considerably fallen off, so much so that we cannot find sufficient loads for all the coal trains running between Raneegunge and Howrah, it being difficult to load 140 wagons per day. This is in the face of the requisition from the Bengal Coal Company for 100 wagons per day up to the end of June. I send you this information that you may see the value of the late complaints from the coal owners.

According to the instructions you gave, I hurried all the coal wagons possible down to the coal district, and this at the expense of the grain traffic, which, as you are aware, has this year been very urgent.

I also arranged a new coal train in the forthcoming or June Time Bill after a good deal of pressure on the Locomotive Department for the supply of Engines, and now I have been compelled to undo all these arrangements.

This new feature in the question should, I think, be sent up to Government with reference to the memorials presented by the coal owners on the subject of alleged shortcoming of the East Indian Railway.

LV. After the publication of the order in Section XLVIII hereinbefore mentioned, the Justices shall provide and at all times keep and maintain sufficient servants, and apparatus, for the expeditious and convenient landing and shipping of goods from and upon all sea-going vessels coming to the wharves, quays, stages, jetties, or piers; and shall by their servants land and ship all goods from and upon any such vessel so coming to such wharf, quay, stage, jetty, or pier, unless where there is a legal excuse for refusing to land or ship such goods, or such vessel is by reason of the breach or non-observance of any law or regulation not entitled to have her cargo shipped or discharged. Provided that the Justices shall not be bound to land, ship, or move any single article or package exceeding thirty tons of twenty hundredweight in weight, except at such special charge as may be agreed on in respect of such article or package.

Tolls to be levied.

LVI. The Committee shall from time to time frame a scale of tolls, dues, or rates for the landing and shipping of goods at the wharves, quays, stages, jetties, and piers erected under this Act for the use of sea-going vessels, and for the storing and keeping of any goods stored in any premises belonging to the Justices, and for the removal of goods, and for the use of any moorings laid down by the Justices. And also a scale of tolls, dues, and rates for the landing and shipping of goods into and out of any country-boat or vessel, and also a scale of tolls for the use of the said wharves, quays, stages, jetties, and piers by any boat or inland country vessel in case the Justices shall permit the goods to be landed or shipped by others than their own officers and servants. Such scale of tolls, dues, and rates shall be submitted to the Lieutenant-Governor, and after receiving his approval shall be published in the Calcutta Gazette, and may from time to time, subject to the like approval and publication, be altered. Provided always that it shall not be lawful for the Justices to levy any tolls, dues, or rates or mooring charges on a scale higher than that given in Schedule B to this Act.

Recovery of tolls in arrear.

LVII. For the amount of all tolls, charges, dues, and rates duly leviable under this Act in respect of any goods, the Justices shall have a lien on such goods, and shall be entitled to detain the same until such tolls, rates, and dues are fully paid. Tolls, rates, and dues in respect of goods to be landed shall become payable immediately on the landing of the goods. Tolls, rates, and dues in respect of goods to be removed from the premises of the Justices or to be shipped for export, shall be payable before the goods are removed or shipped. The lien for such tolls, rates, and dues shall have priority over all other liens and claims, except for general average, the shipowner's lien for freight upon the said goods where such lien exists and has been preserved in the manner hereinafter provided, for primage, and for money payable to Her Majesty or the Secretary of State for India in Council under any law for the time being in force. Provided that nothing in this Act shall affect any power or authority vested in the Chief Officer of Customs under any law for the time being in force.

Goods may be removed to Public Warehouses.

LVIII. In any case in which goods without any default on the part of the Justices shall have been left for three days on any wharf or shed belonging to the Justices, it shall be lawful for the Committee to remove or cause the same to be removed either to any warehouse belonging to them or to the Public Warehouses, at the expense of the owners of the said goods, giving notice to the consignee or owner of such goods of such removal if the address of such consignee or owner is known, by letter left at such address or sent by post; and the consignee or owner of such goods, in addition to the expenses of the removal of the same, shall be liable, in case the goods shall be removed to any warehouse or store of the Justices, to a charge for warehousing for the time during which the goods shall remain in the said warehouses. In case the said goods shall be removed to the Public Warehouses, then the said consignee or owner shall be liable to the charges for warehousing goods in such Public Warehouse.

Lien for freight preserved after landing of goods, if notice of lien given.

LIX. If the shipowner at the time when any goods are landed at any wharf, quay, stage, jetty, or pier, erected under this Act, shall give to the Justices notice in writing that the goods are to remain subject to a lien for freight or other charges payable to the shipowner to an amount to be mentioned in such notice, the goods so landed shall continue liable to the same lien, if any, for such charges as they were subject to before the landing thereof. Such goods shall be retained either in the warehouses and sheds of the Justices, or, with the consent of the Chief Officer of Customs, in the Public Warehouses, until the lien is discharged as hereinafter mentioned. If by reason of the failure to retain the said goods any loss is occasioned to the shipowner, the Justices shall be bound to make good such loss.

Discharge of lien by payment or release.

LX. Upon the production to the Officer of the Justices in that behalf of a receipt for the amount claimed as due, and delivery to him of a copy thereof or of a release of freight from the shipowner, the said lien shall be discharged.

If tolls not paid or the lien for freight is not discharged, goods may be sold after the expiration of two months.

LXI. If the tolls, rates, and dues payable to the Justices in respect of the said goods under this Act are not paid, or if the lien of the shipowner for freight where such notice as aforesaid has been given is not discharged, the Justices may, and in the latter event if required by the shipowner shall, at the expiration of two months from the time when the goods were placed in their custody, or if the goods are of a perishable nature at such earlier period, being not less than twenty-four hours after the landing of the goods, as they shall think fit, sell by public auction the said goods or so much as may be necessary to satisfy the charges hereinafter mentioned; before making such sale, ten days' notice of the same shall be given by publication thereof in the Calcutta Gazette, unless the goods are of so perishable a nature as in the opinion of the Officer of the Justices in that behalf to render immediate sale necessary or advisable, in which event such notice shall be given by publication as aforesaid as the urgency of the case admits of. If the address of the owner of the goods has been stated on the manifest of the cargo, or in any of the documents which have come into the hands of the Justices, or is otherwise known, notice shall also be given to the owner of the goods by letter delivered at such address or sent by the post; but the title of a bond fide purchaser of such goods shall not be invalidated by reason of the omission to send the notice hereinbefore mentioned, nor shall any such purchaser be bound to inquire whether such notice has been sent. In every case of any such sale as aforesaid, the moneys received from the sale shall be applied as follows:—

2ndly, in payment of the amount claimed by the shipowner as due for freight or other charges in respect of the said goods.

3rdly, in payment of the tolls, charges, and expenses of landing, removing, storing, or warehousing the same, and of all other charges due to the Justices under this Act in respect thereof.

Provided that, if at the time of the damage or mischief the vessel was under the orders of a duly authorized Officer belonging to the Pilot Service or the Harbour Master's or Master Attendant's Department, the case shall not be cognizable by the Magistrate under this Section.

Penalty for damage done to the works, &c

LXVI. If any person shall wilfully demolish, cut, break or in any way destroy any of the wharves, quays, jetties, and piers, or other works, belonging to the Justices under this Act, or any rope or other thing by which any vessel lying in the Port shall be moored or fastened to the same, such person shall for every such offence be liable, on conviction before a Magistrate for the Town of Calcutta, to a penalty not exceeding two hundred Rupees, and shall further be civilly liable to make good to the Justices the damage which he has occasioned.

Penalties how recoverable.

LXVII. All penalties imposed by this Act shall be recovered in the manner prescribed by Section XCIII of the Calcutta Police Act, 1866, and the provisions of Section XCIV of that Act shall apply to any distress levied by virtue of this Act. FROM E. H. LUSHINGTON, Esq., Secretary to the Government of India, Financial Department, to the Accountant-General, North-Western Provinces,—(No 760, dated Simla, the 29th May 1866.)

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of Mr. Officiating Deputy Accountant-General J. Eede's letter No. 149, reporting, with reference to an application from the Judge of Agra, that according to his interpretation of the rules for the grant of leave of absence to Covenanted Civil Servants, an Officer who has divided his privilege leave may take the second instalment of it, together with any privilege leave which he may have earned by subsequent service, provided the divided leave was accumulated, but not otherwise.

2. In reply I am desired to state that there is no objection on public grounds to Officers who obtain privilege leave under the rules of the Civil Department being permitted to carry forward to the privilege leave of a future year such portion of the one month's privilege leave of the previous year as may not have been taken.

ORDERED, that the foregoing letter be published in the Gazette of India for general information, and that a copy of it be forwarded to the Foreign, Home, and Public Works Departments; and the—

READ endorsement from the Home Department, No. 509, dated the 2nd ultimo forwarding, for consideration and orders, a letter from the Government of Bombay, proposing, in modification of existing rules, that when an Officer is transferred from one appointment to another on promotion, he should be reimbursed the amount by which his travelling expenses exceed the difference between the salaries of his old and his new appointments for the first month.

RESOLUTION.—The Governor General in Council observes that the rule proposed by the Government of Bombay appears to be needlessly expensive; but, considering that some modification of existing rules is necessary to meet the cases of Officers on small salaries, His Excellency in Council is pleased to decide that, when an Officer on a salary not exceeding Rupees 400 per mensem is promoted in the natural course of his service to an appointment the salary of which exceeds by only (50) fifty Rupees a month, the salary of the appointment from which he is transferred, he shall be permitted to draw travelling allowance at the usual rates.

ORDER.—Ordered, that the foregoing Resolution be published in the Gazette of India, and communicated to the—

11. Provided that any person who, on the 1st January 1866, had been practising for the term of one year at least, immediately preceding that date, as a Mukhtar in a Revenue Office, and who shall satisfy the Collector of the District in which he has ordinarily practised, that he is a person of good moral character, and qualified, by his knowledge of law and procedure, to continue practising as a Revenue Agent, shall be admitted to practise in any Revenue Office.

A. GROTE, V. H. SCHALCH, } Members, Board of Revenue.

Rules made by the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces, in pursuance of Act XX of 1865, Section 37, for fixing and regulating the fees payable by the unsuccessful party in respect of the fees of his adversary's Pleader, in proceedings in the Revenue Courts and Offices in the Lower Provinces.

Scale of fees prescribed.

1. In pursuance of Section 37, Act XX. of 1865, the Board of Revenue are pleased to direct that, from, and after, the 1st day of July 1866 the sums which shall be payable by an unsuccessful party in any suit or proceeding in the Revenue Courts and Offices in the Lower Provinces of Bengal, in respect of the fees of his adversary's pleader shall be calculated at the rates specified in the following schedules.

Agent to have three quarter fees only.

If a Revenue Agent and not a pleader has been employed by the said adversary, a deduction of one fourth part shall be made from the fees calculated as herein deducted, and if, though a pleader has been employed, the Officer presiding in the Court or Office be of opinion that the employment of a pleader was unnecessary, and that it would have sufficed to employ a Revenue Agent, the fees shall be calculated as for a Revenue Agent only.

SCHEDULE.

In all suits or applications instituted under Act X. of 1859 of Act VI of 1862 B. C., and in all Judicial or quasi Judicial proceedings in any Revenue Court or Office :

If the amount or value of the property, debt, or damages decreed does not exceed 5,000 Rupees, at 5 per cent. on the amount or value decreed.

If the amount or value exceed 5,000 Rupees and does not exceed Rupees 20,000, on Rupees 5,000 at 5 per cent. and on the remainder at 2 per cent.

If the amount or value exceed 20,000 and does not exceed 50,000, on 20,000 as above, and on the remainder at 1 per cent.

If the amount or value exceed 50,000, on 50,000 as above, and on the remainder at ½ per cent.

Provided that in no case shall the amount of any fee exceed 3,000 Rupees.

2. In suits or proceedings to enforce rights of which the pecuniary value cannot be exactly defined, as, for example, in suits for a kabulyut or pottah, or for abatement or enhancement of rent, or for ejectment, or re-instatement, or in proceedings for the division of an estate, if the plaintiff succeed, the Presiding Officer of the Court or Office may order the fee of the pleader or Revenue Agent for the plaintiff to be calculated upon the valuation of the claim, or upon such a sum, not exceeding the valuation, as the said Officer may think reasonable and may fix with reference to the importance of the subject of the dispute.

Where value cannot be exactly defined.

3. If any suit, application, or claim, is dismissed for default, or upon the merits, or is decreed for the defendant, the defendant's pleader's or agent's fee shall be calculated on the whole value of the suit.

For when case is dismissed.

4. If any suit, application or claim is decreed for the plaintiff as to part only of his claim, and as to the remainder, is dismissed or decreed for the defendant, the fees allowed to each party's pleader or agent shall be calculated upon the value of that part of the claim in respect of which he has succeeded.

When it is decreed in part.

5. If, in any suit for damages under the Rent Laws, the plaintiff fails to recover the full amount of damages claimed, the defendant shall not be entitled to any allowance for a pleader or agent's fee in respect of the difference between the amount of damages claimed and the amount recovered, unless the Presiding Officer of the Court or Office shall be of opinion that the amount claimed for damages was unreasonable or excessive, and shall for that, or any other cause to be specified, direct that a fee for his pleader or agent shall be allowed to the defendant. If specially allowed the amount of such fee shall be calculated upon the amount of damages disallowed to the plaintiff.

When in a successful suit the whole damages claimed are not allowed.

6. If several defendants, who have a Joint or Common Interest succeed upon a joint defence, or upon separate defences substantially the same, not more than one pleader or agent's fee shall be allowed unless the Presiding Officer of the Court or Office shall otherwise order, for reasons which shall be recorded. If only one fee be allowed, the Presiding Officer shall direct to which of the defendants it shall be paid, or shall apportion it among the several defendants in such manner as he shall think fit.

When the defence is joint or common.

7. If several defendants, who have separate interests, set up separate and distinct defences and succeed thereon, a fee for one pleader or agent for each of the defendants who appear by a separate pleader or agent may be allowed in respect of his separate interest. Such fee, if allowed, shall be calculated upon the value of the separate interest of such defendant.

When several defendants make separate defences.

8. The amount in respect of the fee of an adversary's pleader or agent when allowed in any miscellaneous proceeding, or for any other matter than that of appearing, acting or pleading in a suit or application, or other judicial or quasi judicial proceeding prior to decree shall be fixed by the Presiding Officer of the Court or Office according to the following scale, viz.:—

In miscellaneous proceedings.

In proceedings before the Board of Revenue or in the Court or Office of a Commissioner of Revenue, Rupees 10 to 80.

In the Court or Office of a District Officer, Rupees 4 to 16.

In the Court or Office of a Deputy Collector, Rupee 1 to Rupees 10.

9. In any suit, application or claim, in any Court or Office of Original Jurisdiction which is undefended the amount to be paid as the fee of the adversary's pleader or agent shall be calculated at one half the sum at which it would have been charged had the suit been defended.

Undefended cases.

10. In proceedings for, or consequent upon, the revival or rehearing of a suit, the pleader's or agent's fee, if allowed to the successful party, shall be fixed by the Presiding Officer of the Court or Office at an amount which shall not exceed one-half of the amount that would have been allowed by these rules in case of an original decree.

Revival or rehearing of suit.

The fee allowed in respect of the revival or rehearing will be irrespective of any fee which may be included in any costs in respect of the original suit or proceeding which may be adjudged to the successful party by the judgment in review.

11. The amount to be allowed on account of the fees of an adversary's pleader or agent in an appeal, shall be calculated on the same scale as in original suits, and the principles of the above clauses as to original suits shall be applied, as nearly as may be, to appeals.

Appeals.

12. When the interest of several Appellants is joint, not more than one pleader's or agent's fee shall be allowed unless the Presiding Officer of the Court or Office shall otherwise order, for a reason to be recorded. If one fee only be allowed, the Presiding Officer of the Court or Office shall direct to which of the Appellants it shall be paid, or shall apportion it amongst the several Appellants in such proportions as he shall think fit.

Joint Appellants.

13. If several Respondents in one appeal appear by separate pleaders or agents, in determining whether several pleaders' or Agents' fees shall be allowed, the Presiding Officer of the Court or Office shall be guided by the principles laid down in Clauses 6 and 7.

Several Respondents.

14. If, in any instance, the payment of fees according to the preceding Clauses shall not appea to the Presiding Officer of any Court or Office to be just and equitable, he may exercise his discretion in charging the fee of the adversary's pleader in such manner as may appear just and equitable, but, whenever, in any case other than those provided for in Clause 8, an allowance is made for a pleader's or agent's fee, the amount shall be calculated according to the Schedule appended in Clause 1.

By Order of the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces,

R. B. CHAPMAN,
Secretary.

Postal Notice.

Several instances having occurred of the abstraction of Currency Notes from registered and unregistered letters, the Director-General of the Post Office desires to warn the Public against sending entire Currency Notes in letters, whether registered or unregistered.

2. This practice, which, notwithstanding the losses which have occurred, appears to be on the increase, not only risks the loss of the letter, or its enclosures, but exposes to unnecessary temptation every person through whose hands it passes. Entire Currency Notes should never be sent by post; if halved and despatched in registered letters on different dates, their safe arrival will generally be secured. But it must be remembered that the registration of a letter is no security against the abstraction of the contents, though it may ensure the delivery of the cover. To protect the contents of a registered letter, it must be carefully and securely sealed, and not, as is too often the case, enclosed in a flimsy semi-transparent envelope closed with gum.

3. As one successful theft invariably leads to other attempts, the carelessness of one person, who, by sending a Currency Note in an unregistered or imperfectly secured letter, has tempted a Post Office subordinate to crime, may cause not only the ruin of the person whom he has tempted, but may also lead indirectly to the organization of a system of robbery which, when once established, it is exceedingly difficult to defeat and punish.

Distress among the Population of Malood and Parikood.

From T. E. RAVENSHAW, Esq., Officiating Commissioner of the Cuttack Division, to the Officiating Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(No. 280, dated the 14th November 1865.)

I HAVE the honor to report, on information received by the Collector of Pooree, through the Malood Salt Darogah, that the greatest distress prevails in Malood and Parikood, two estates on the tongue of land running between the Chilka Lake and the Sea, with salt-water on both sides. This part of the Pooree district is entirely dependant on the rain-fall for a crop of rice. This has failed, and the manufacture of salt which formerly supported the people having ceased, they are reduced to the greatest misery, living on leaves and roots, after having expended every pice they possess, and selling their moveable property for food. The able-bodied men have mostly emigrated in search of work, leaving the women, children and aged to their fate. The Collector's informant states that two persons died of actual starvation within a few yards of the Malood Salt Cutcherry.

2. The Collector recommends the purchase of food by Government and its distribution gratis to the people, and suggests that a ship-load of grain be forwarded direct from Calcutta to Saindee ghât at Malood, as the Collector deems it absolutely impossible to excite any public sympathy or subscription in Pooree. Much as I deplore the distressing state of the people, yet I hardly consider that aid is required from Government, more particularly as both Malood and Parikood are the rent-free jagheers of the Malood Zemindar; the Parikood estate being an independent Talook or Raj paying a quit-rent to the Malood Zemindar. The Parikood Raja is a man of substance. The Malood Zemindar is deeply involved, and his estate is under attachment by the Civil Court. I have therefore called the attention of both the Raja and the Zemindar to their bounden duty to support their royts and alleviate the distress. The management of the estate of the Malood Zemindar is in the hands of the Collector, and I am of opinion he would be justified, as manager, in taking such steps in communication with the Court under whose orders the attachment was made to devote a portion of the assets to feed the people, as well as the creditors.

3. The Collector anticipates that as the season advances similar distress will spread, particularly along the borders of the Chilka Lake, where there are several Government Khas Mehals. Should this anticipation prove correct upon the principle, I would apply to the proprietors of Malood and Parikood, Government may justly be called on, as Zemindar, to keep the people of its estates from starving; and I request permission, in case good cause may be shewn, to authorize the Collector to expend such sums as may be necessary to keep the people from starvation in Government Khas Mehals and from the Government Treasury.

4. This question is one entirely apart for remission of revenue, which is commonly granted in seasons of loss by flood or drought in Government estates; and I would request instructions as to whether, in case of urgent necessity, I may be authorized to expend sufficient from the public revenue to provide food for the starving who cannot work. Such a necessity has not been made out in the present instance; but should a contingency of the sort occur, I wish to be in a position to act on a matter which would save the starving, viz.,—bis dat qui cito dat.

2. The accounts from Pooree are decidedly of a less hopeful character than from other parts of the division; and it would appear that the loss of the rice crop has been most general in Pipley, Kut Bahang, towards Pooree, and round the borders of the Chilka. From other parts of the division accounts are more re-assuring, and there is a very general opinion that the crops will yield fully eight annas or one-half. This may cause high prices and some distress, but not starvation, and account must further be taken of the very large expenditure within the division by the Irrigation Company and Public Works Department, and of the cash receipts from grain exported, particularly from Ballasore and Cuttack. Even at enhanced prices there is, or ought to be, ample means in the country of purchasing food.

From T. Bruce Lane, Esq., Junior Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(No. 1148½, dated the 2nd December 1865.)

In reply to your docket No. 3950, dated 21st ultimo, in connexion with a telegram received from the Collector of Pooree, dated the 1st instant, of which a copy is annexed, I am directed by the Board of Revenue to report that the Commissioner of Cuttack has been informed, with reference to the oral communication which the Board have this day had with His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, that the proposal to find some employment for the Malood population, by sending one lac of maunds of Kurkutch salt to Chittagong, has met with approval.

2. It has been intimated to the Commissioner that His Honor thinks it better, before sending salt on Government account, that the Chittagong ship-owners and traders should be invited to buy it on the same terms as they now buy salt at Madras, where Government put their salt on board at the rate of Rupees 15 per 100 maunds. This involves a considerable reduction in the present advertized price of Pooree salt, which is Rupees 31 per 100 maunds; but the emergency must be looked to for the justification of the measure which may, moreover, have the effect of originating a profitable trade between Chittagong and Orissa. A telegram has been sent to the Commissioner of Chittagong to notify the change in the selling price of Pooree Kurkutch to the trading community.

3. The Board have further intimated to the Cuttack Commissioner that the Lieutenant-Governor also proposes to deal in the Public Works Department with the Collector's suggestions for increasing the outlay on the Pooree road.

P. S.—The Cuttack Commissioner's letter forwarded with your docket is herewith returned.

Telegram from the Collector of Cuttack, to the Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces,—(dated the 2nd December 1865.)

By enquiry ninety-six deaths and nine hundred and ninety-two persons left the country; deserted families not computed. Population of Malood, Parikood and Sathparrah, estimated twelve thousand; no wealthy people. Parikood Zemindar helps our ryots somewhat, perhaps eight thousand destitute. Report made to Commissioner, suggesting revival of old system of salt manufacture or execution of proposed remodelling Pooree imperial road with wages paid in grain.

From S. C. Bayley, Esq., Officiating Secretary to the Government of Bengal, to the Junior Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces,—(No. 4175, dated the 8th December 1865.)

I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 1148½, dated the 2nd instant, and in reply to state that the Lieutenant-Governor approves of the orders issued by the Board to the Commissioner of the Cuttack Division, relative to the proposals made for affording relief to the famine-stricken population of Malood, in the Pooree district. Further orders on the subject will be communicated from the Public Works Department of this Government.

Memorandum from Major A. H. Patterson, Deputy Inspector-General of Police,—(No. 793, dated the 6th December 1865.)

Forwards to the Officiating Inspector-General an extract from the Diary of Mr. W. Lacey, District Superintendent of Pooree, describing the frightful state of destitution to which the inhabitants of a portion of the Pooree district have been reduced from failure of the crops.

Extract from the Diary of the District Superintendent of Police, Pooree, from 20th to 25th November 1865.

In this part of the country* there is almost literally not an ear of corn. I have passed through lots of fields, in some the crop had not reached half growth when it withered from want of water, in others it produced the ear but has been blighted and cattle graze it down. I went through some villages where half the male inhabitants had fled, leaving their wives and children to starve. I went into several houses where I found one or two unfortunate women clothed in rags with two or more children with pot-bellies and legs and arms reduced almost to the bone. In one village several deaths had taken place from starvation. I saw two female children reduced to the last extremity and confined to the house; visited one house deserted by its master where three children had died two days ago of starvation. I saw twenty, thirty, and forty women engaged in picking a kind of "sag" or herb that grows about salt lands, and the small bulbs of a very common grass which they cook and eat. This food is unwholesome, and I visited one empty and deserted house where the man and woman thereof were said to have died of dropsy, or as it was described swelling of the legs and arms and of the abdomen. The sights to be seen are melancholy. For one man you see five women and a dozen children; broken down roofs; deserted villages; a crowd of beggars mobbing you wherever you go, and the poor domestic animals, cats and dogs, reduced to that state of weakness that you may observe them crawl about with a shakery gait, indicative of the last stage of starvation. There is a remedy, I think, for this state of things, and I shall propose it in my weekly report to the Collector, and that is to revive as a temporary measure and one of relief, the manufacture of salt in the three Pergunnahs of Badgerkote, Malood, and Parikood. Suppose the Government now to offer, say, even so much as 6 annas or 8 annas per maund of salt (they paid in the last season 2 annas) it would have the effect of putting money into the hands of the wretched people, and with it they could any how, though at famine prices purchase rice; it would call back from Cuttack and other places to which they have fled the cowardly male population who have deserted their wives and little ones to starve, and it would at all events stop any further desertion which is almost the most painful nature of the present crisis in the abovenamed Pergunnahs, and with all Government would not be out of pocket, but rather make money on their investment. Up anchor and sailed for the nearest point to Gur Koosenpershad where our outpost from Alanda (nominal) is to be for the future, was met by the Raja or Zemindar, and walked to his place and selected and inspected a site for the outpost. The crops through which I passed were totally lost, not a blade grazed by the cows and buffaloes. Same state of things as at the last place, only mitigated by the praiseworthy conduct of this Raja. In his garden I saw fifteen boys with their little ribs and bones pretty well exposed who are fed by this man, and in another enclosure he had seventeen girls, whom, however, I did not see deriving the same benefit from his liberality.

Two months and more ago he opened his private stores of paddy and sold to all his ryots, and has thus contributed a great deal to keep off actual starvation. He has also established an Anno Chutter or charitable food dispensary. I have brought his conduct to the notice of the Collector.

From J. GROGHEGAN, Esq., Officiating Junior Secretary to the Government of Bengal, to the Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces,—(No. 4203, dated the 11th December 1865.)

WITH reference to the accompanying extract from the Diary of the District Superintendent of Police, Pooree, regarding the state of destitution to which the inhabitants of a portion of that district have been reduced, I am directed to enquire what special measures of relief have been taken by the local authorities, and whether it is necessary to supplement them by any of a more general kind.

From R. B. CHAPMAN, Esq., Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces, to the Officiating Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(No. 410A., dated the 13th December 1865.)

IN reply to your letter No. 4203 of the 11th instant, and its enclosure, I am directed to report, for His Honor's information, that upon the recommendation of the Collector of Pooree, who is now visiting the tract of land referred to by the District Superintendent, the Board of Revenue have sanctioned the expenditure from the fund for the improvement of the Government estates of the sum of Rupees 5,000, for digging a tank in the Government estate Sathparrah, to the north of Malood, Purikood, and Badgerkote. The Collector has been instructed to begin the work at once, but to avoid, if possible, doing anything to attract back those who have left their homes, and are now seeking their livelihood in more favored parts. He has been informed that the object of Government is mainly to give employment and to save people from starving, and that wages are to be paid in grain, enough being given to support a laborer and those dependent on him in health.

2. The Board have further intimated to the Collector that if any merchants come for salt to be exported to Chittagong and other places, he should commence delivering the Kurkutch at Purikood, amounting to 49,503 maunds, and after clearing that depôt of Kurkutch, proceed with the Sathparrah salt, of which there are 4,40,544 maunds of Kurkutch only in store.

3. The Board solicit His Honor's approval to these proceedings.

4. The measures taken for affording relief to the people of Malood have been reported in Board's address, No. 1148½, dated the 2nd instant, and approved of in Government order No. 4175 of the 8th idem.

From S. C. BAYLEY, Esq., Officiating Secretary to the Government of Bengal, to the Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces,—(No. 4352, dated the 21st December 1865.)

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 410A., dated the 13th instant, and in reply to state that the Lieutenant-Governor approves of the sanction accorded by the Board to the expenditure from the fund, for the improvement of the Government estates, of the sum of Rupees (5,000) five thousand, for digging a tank in the Government estate Sathparrah to the north of Malood, Parikood, and Badgerkote, in order to afford employment to the destitute inhabitants of the Pooree district. His Honor also approves of the orders issued to the Collector in regard to the wages to be given to the laborers, and the export of salt to Chittagong and other places.

From R. B. CHAPMAN, Esq., Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces,—(No. 35A., dated the 26th January 1866.)

COPY forwarded for the information of the Government of Bengal, with reference to Government order No. 4852, dated the 21st December last.

From R. B. CHAPMAN, Esq., Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces, to the Commissioner of the Cuttack Division,—(No. 16A., dated the 26th January 1866.)

You will have observed from Government order (Public Works Department,) dated the 30th December last, forwarded to you with No. 6179, that His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor does not approve of the payment in kind of the wages of the laborers employed on the public works undertaken in your division, to afford relief to the people who are suffering from the scarcity of food. I am desired, therefore, to request that you will instruct the Collector of Pooree to pay in cash instead of grain, as previously ordered by the Board, the wages of the persons engaged in digging a tank in the Government estate Sathparrah in that district,—(vide Board's No. 705A., dated the 13th December last.) The cash payments should be fixed, however, upon the principle of their previous orders, i. e., so much only should be paid as will provide food sufficient to sustain the laborer and his family in health.

Memorandum from R. B. CHAPMAN, Esq., Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces,—(No. 50A., dated the 3rd February 1866.)

COPY of the following correspondence forwarded to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal, with reference to Government order No. 4352, dated the 21st December 1865, with a request that His Honor will be pleased to approve of the Board's proceedings now reported.

2. Though the arrangements above sanctioned differ from the one previously authorized, yet the Board support the local authorities, who are no doubt better able to decide on what has afterwards been found to be really necessary than when the original proposal for the excavation of one tank was made.

From T. E. RAVENSHAW, Esq., Officiating Commissioner of the Cuttack Division, to the Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces,—(No. 344, dated the 20th January 1866.)

I HAVE the honor to submit, for sanction, a statement received from the Collector of Pooree, shewing the manner in which the grant of Rupees 5,000 from fund for improvement of Government estates, sanctioned in your telegram of 13th December, is being expended; and also requesting sanction for an additional sum of Rupees 200 for enlargement of a tank at Allooparah, making a total of Rupees 5,200. The amount standing at credit of the fund on 30th November last was Rupees 6,462-2-4.

2. I am of opinion that the Collector has exercised a proper discretion in distributing the Rupees 5,000 over six localities in place of expending the whole on one large tank as was originally proposed. The enlargement of Allooparah tank was commenced previous to receipt of the Board's grant, and is complete with the exception of turfing. I solicit sanction therefore to the judicious distribution of funds made by Mr. Barlow, and also to expend Rupees 200, in addition to your original grant.

Memorandum shewing application for sanction of funds to be expended from the Government Estates Improvement Fund of Sub-Division of Cuttack, during the year 1865-66, as required by Circular Order No. 44 of 29*th July* 1863.

The sum proposed for first six works was asked for and sanctioned by the Board's telegram of 13th ultimo, for the object of making one large tank; but on examination a distribution of the amount in the manner herein proposed was found likely to be more profitable, as a larger area of cultivated land would thereby benefit. Leave is asked that if it be found desirable as work progresses, again to change these sites, the same may be done. The immediate profit of the works is to afford employment to the starving population, while hereafter the presence of sweet water in the tank will be beneficial both for use of the inhabitants of the locality and for irrigation purposes.

POOREE, COLLECTOR'S OFFICE,
The 11*th January* 1866.

From R. B. CHAPMAN, Esq., Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces, to the Commissioner of the Cuttack Division,—(No. 214., dated the 3rd February 1866.)

IN reply to your letter No. 344, dated the 20th January, I am directed to say that, under the circumstances explained, the Board of Revenue sanction the proposed distribution of the grant of Rupees (5,000) five thousand over six localities in place of expending the whole amount on one large tank at Sathparrah as was originally suggested, and the additional outlay of Rupees (200) two hundred for the enlargement of a tank at Allooparah, the aggregate expenditure amounting to Rupees 5,200, being debitable to the fund for improvement of the Government estates.

From S. C. BAYLEY, Esq., Junior Secretary to the Government of Bengal, to the Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces,—(No. 657, dated the 16th February 1866.

WITH reference to your memorandum No. 50A., dated the 3rd instant, I am directed to say that the Lieutenant-Governor approves of the instructions issued by the Board to the Commissioner of the Cuttack Division for the distribution over six localities of the sum of Rupees 5,000, originally granted for the excavation of a tank in the Government estate Sathparrah, the additional outlay of Rupees 200 for the enlargement of a tank at Allooparah is also approved; the expenditure being debitable to the fund for the improvement of Government estates.

From R. B CHAPMAN, Esq., Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces, to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(No. 36A., dated the 29th January 1866.)

I AM instructed by the Board of Revenue to forward herewith, for submission to His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, copy of a letter, No. 334A.,

dated the 12th instant, from the Commissioner of Cuttack, and its enclosures, containing a diary of the Collector's visit to that part of the Pooree district where the people are suffering from scarcity of food. There is much that is very distressing in the account given by Mr. Barlow He is entitled to credit, as the Commissioner observes, for the prompt and energetic action he has taken, and also for the careful personal inquiries he has made in the matter. The Board have great pleasure in bringing to His Honor's special notice the liberality of the Raja of Parikood, who, the Collector will be told, should be induced, if possible, to undertake some work of improvement which will be advantageous to his estate and tenants.

From T E RAVENSHAW, Esq., Officiating Commissioner of the Cuttack Division, to the Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces,—(No 334A., dated the 12th January 1866.)

I HAVE the honor to transmit, in original, a letter No. 308, dated 29th December, from Mr. Barlow, Collector of Pooree, together with his diary of a visit to the distressed districts bordering on the Chilka Lake, for your information. Of the remedial measures noted, those marked B. to F. have been sanctioned and are in course of being carried out, the revival of salt manufacture is, I think, now uncalled for, and the restoration of Nurrinder tank in Pooree has been supported by promised subscriptions, amounting to Rupees 7,000 out of the 30,000 required for the work, though the Collector does not appear very sanguine of being able to fill the voluntary subscription list.

2. The special call on account of assistance and support to the Unno Chutter Fund has been fairly responded to in Balasore and Cuttack, though the Committee in the former district object to distribution of their aid beyond the Balasore district; this will, however, afford some local relief, and I am not disposed to oppose the Committee's wish.

3. I shall report separately on the proposed small expenditure of Rupees 200 from the Khas Fund for clearing a tank in Sathparrah, and also in the Collector's proposition to raise the rate of wages for purtul work from 2 to 4 pice per day, the former wages being insufficient at the present high price of rice to support a laborer. The Collector is entitled to credit for the prompt and energetic action he has taken, and also for the careful personal enquiry he has made.

4. Return of the enclosed letter and diary is solicited after perusal, as I am anxious it should be dispatched at once, and have not writers in camp to transcribe it without causing delay.

From G. N. BARLOW, Esq., Collector of Pooree, to the Commissioner of the Cuttack Division,—(No. 308, dated the 29th December 1865.)

I HAVE the honor to forward, for your information, my diary shewing the results of my enquiries into the condition of the population of Sathparrah, Parrikood, and Mallood Pergunnahs.

2. The diary is itself in such full detail that it appears unnecessary to add more in this place, and I should wish only to provide against a judgment, which, as I now consider the tone of my completed report, it occurs to me might be passed, that the results of detailed enquiries recorded do not bear out the brief expression used in my telegram to the Board of the 9th instant. ["Destitution general and complete,"] by explaining that in either instance the view taken is for the different stages of the same matter. My diary is prepared to describe the actual present condition [especially physical] of the people, and I fear I have perhaps rather erred in presenting a too favorable report thereof, but it is owing to the fact that taking an imaginary standard of prostration consequent on starvation, such as I deemed suited to the description first given by Mr. Lacey's report, I tested all my enquiries by this scale, and finding it only reached in its full degree by an aggregated population in the single instance of Futtehpore village, [in nearly every village I visited I saw individual cases of such suffering]. I have in other cases spoken of the distress by comparison in a manner somewhat depreciating. In the brief words of my telegram, I give my opinion as to the prospective condition of the people, and it is that to which I most distinctly hold.

3. I think I may properly accompany this report with a brief notice of the measures that have been suggested or put in operation for the relief of the distress in the district. I speak of all parts of the district, for I have received several reports from the Assistant Collector engaged in duty in Chowbeescood Khas Mehal and the neighbourhood, announcing that the most serious distress is prevailing in that part of the country surrounding the lake, east, and that many deaths by starvation have occurred.

4. The measures brought forward are the following:—

(a.) Proposal to revive the salt manufacture in the distressed districts under the old system.

(b.) Proposal to extend the operations by Department Public Works for this season upon the imperial roads in this district.

(c.) Proposal on part of the Board to afford employment to distressed population by chellaning salt to Chittagong.

(e.) Proposal to extend the works on the Ferry Fund Road of Pipley and Khoordah throughout its length in the Khas Mehal.

(f.) Similar operations on works of improvement in any Khas Mehal to be undertaken under authority of your letter No. 314 of 6th instant.

(g.) Proposals to carry out the long intended measure of restoring the Naraindra Tank at Pooree, at a cost exceeding Rupees 30,000.

(h.) Raising a Relief Fund.

Of these it may be said that the first (a) is the single measure that can afford relief commensurate with the distress; other measures may suffice to support those who can work for their livelihood; but the multitude of women, children, &c., must perish in want; final orders have not been passed upon this proposal (b.) The suggestion to carry out works by the Department Public Works has received the sanction of Government, and I have addressed the Superintending Engineer, and received his assurance, that he is ready to commence work at a moment's notice, and that employment on the works shall be paid by daily labor instead of the contract system (c.) We are anxiously awaiting the result of the Board's intimation conveyed to Chittagong, which offers salt at reduced cost. No ships have appeared yet. The Board were pleased to entertain suggestion submitted by me that the ship coming for salt should carry grain freight for this district, but having received notice from Chittagong that such grain could only be landed and sold at Pooree for ten to twelve Bengal seers per Rupee, I have since reported that such a measure would be unsuccessful at present in view of prices prevailing in the local market.

(d.) These works are already in progress under the system sketched in my diary, which I hope may be approved. The officer left in charge is trustworthy, and he will report to me what goes on. If it is found that the system, which we are trying to commence with, of paying by measurement for work done at fair rates, does not succeed, a change will be made, and subsistence rates must be adopted.

(e.) An estimate for the completion of Khoordah road is under preparation, and I hope to open work in a very short time. It is my intention at present to store grain, from which wages may be paid in kind when prices are higher.

(f.) I am in search of works, which may be taken up under this provision. I have found a few bunds, which may be erected on lands lately vacated by the Salt Department, but the works are small, as also the proposed outlay.

(g) Subscription is in hand for this purpose, and nearly Rupees 7,000 promised. Nothing will be done, or only limited action [on my part] be taken until the subscription list shews Rupees 30,000. This will never be reached except by aid from other districts, but as the work, which is the object of the subscription, is one which commends itself to the native mind, in time the required sum may be obtained. It is my object to expedite the movement [which is entirely a private one] so as to make it available at the time..

(h.) This last measure is being proceeded with, it is the most onerous and unsatisfactory of all. After the most careful personal canvassing, the list does not yet shew Rupees 4,000. This is too small a sum to be of use, either for purpose of affording relief, or supplying a fair basis, on which to make further application to the general public. I shall continue to do my best to carry it on.

5. I shall address separate letters to you asking you to sanction the expenditure of Rupees 200 incurred by me, in commencing clearing a tank at Sathparrah on my first going down to that place, and before application was made to the Board and the grant of Rupees 5,000 obtained, as well as to my proceeding in raising the wages to be paid to the men employed in puttul duty from 2 to 4 pice a day.

DIARY THROUGH SATHPARAH, PARRICOOD AND MALOOD.

4th December 1865.

Reached Sathparrah this morning and began with a conversation with the dolbearer here, one of the old Surberacars of Wilkinson's time. He tells me that the revenue of the Surberacaree, which is Rupees 3,000, comes from two strips of land, each yielding about, 1,000, which lie one along the south of the Lake near the Sea, and the other across an arm towards Tosh, and otherwise from "Chandina," or rent of house fisheries, &c. The whole of the cultivation having failed, he along with the ryots are penniless and suffering most; while the condition of the residents of this place where my camp is, which is called Nijghur Bulbhuderpore or "Kentesahee," is somewhat easier, as living by their fisheries, they are not so affected by present circumstances. He told me, what I ascertained to be correct by subsequent enquiries, that the whole country adjoining is supplied from two Koomtee's shops here, and there are no others. These are now selling at about 8 seers, bringing their grain from Banpore, and although they are retailed sellers and not men of substance, it appears their supply is equal to demand indicating absolutely that the people are going without food for want of money.

Following this, the people of neighbouring villages, half a dozen or so came begging, who told me that they were persons holding lands rented at Rupees 10 to 20, and that they were dying for want of food. These persons were not residents of Kentesahee, but pure chassas, and I sent them away, telling them I was coming to their villages to see about them. I began my rounds at 11 o'clock, and when on to up to 5 o'clock, and visited the villages of Nowapatna, Bhotpatna, Nowagaon, and Bajmundah, paying about Rupees 800 of the Rupees 1,000 assessed on the productive strip of land at the south side of the Lake.

Nowapatna.
Bhotpatna.
Nowagaon.
Bajmundah.

My first impression on meeting the people in their villages was surprise at their condition and appearance, not being so bad as I expected; but I soon perceived that it was the unexpected patience, and I might almost say, cheerful resignation with which, so different to what European ideas associate with starvation, the people seem to await their fate, saying "yes, we have nothing to eat, but weeds, and shall go on, until we die, feeding on this;" this was misleading me, and at the end of the day, the conclusion I had come to was that the population, as a mass here, are actually starving, and it is only a matter of time how long the strongest of them can hold out.

I entered most of the houses and inspected the inmates; it was mid-day and cooking going on; and excepting in one case where I found a lot of children, and a cat eating about half a handful of husky rice on a leaf, which had been rubbed out of some of the scorched up dhan of this year; and in two houses where I saw a small bundle of dhan, which had been lately purchased, and the owner told me with a smile that they were keeping it for next year's seed, in case they lived—in not one other single instance did I find a grain of rice in the houses of any of the residents of the four villages Every where, placed out to dry; cooking on the fire; and being eaten raw by the children was "sagh," and another small bulb called "kunika," these forming the support of the entire population. It is remarkable that the distress appears indicated so much more by the condition of the children than by that of the grown-up people. These last look many of them as wizzer, and reduced, as it could well be conceived, but the state of the children is pitiable indeed. I saw many little ones to-day reduced to that sort of dullness and stupor, which weakness produces, and some of the smaller ones so dreadfully emaciated that the act of the mother in putting them up and down, as she tried to exhibit them to me, caused pain to the children which made them scream again. I am inclined to accept the native view of the matter here,—I cannot believe, however hard the parents were put to it, that if they got any better food they would appropriate it all for themselves, and leave the children to starve. I think, therefore, that while both fare on the same article, the nourishing property of the "sagh" has some unfavorable combination with it, which older persons can overcome, but not children; what the natives say I am a witness to, that while the limbs of the children eating the thing are mere bone, the stomach is immediately distended; and in one of the houses to-day, I saw the body of a child about 7 years old, who, after going out to gather "sagh" as usual in the morning, had been unable to get along and come back and died; the body was indeed sufficiently pulled down to shew that the child had died in want, but in my judgment the appearance was hardly what would be looked for, if death was the end of slow and prolonged wasting, without any mode of living calculated to hasten it. The desertion and emigration spoken of by Lacey exists to an excessive degree, but not as an unmixed evil, at least in these parts, I saw some empty houses altogether. Somewhere the males were reported gone to seek work anywhere, and meanwhile the wives had followed example and gone off also to look for a shelter in some relation's house; but except in a very few cases, I did not see any instance of people left behind who were suffering from desertion. I hardly visited a house where one or more of the family was not gone either to Cuttack or Chowbeeswood for work, and where there were two of a family gone, and one left in charge, there was an appearance of improvement about the whole family, who stated that they received a little money, 1 or 2 Rupees occasionally, which enabled them to get a little rice. I kept a sharp look-out for any signs of property convertible into money, but found, I may say, none. I don't suppose in fifty houses I entered I saw six brass vessels, and, where the cattle had not been already sold, the owners replied to me that no one would purchase in these times.

Kentsahee.
Gumaree.
Poradeghee.
Toah.

Was out this morning before breakfast over "Kentsahee," and from 11 A. M. till dark over the country at Toah, across side of the Chilka, passing through the villages of Gumaree, Poradeghee and Toah, which make up the rental of the Mehal; I have not seen a case of distress or near it even to-day. In Kentsahee the people are faring well and not a sign of starvation amongst the crowds of children about. Every body's house-hold seems cheerful and alive, and although "sagh" is in use, rice is seen with it. I don't say these people won't feel pinching at all, but they will be able to bear it, and the Chilka being open to the trade of the entire inhabitants of the place, who salt their fish for export to Puree and elsewhere, there need be no anxiety about their condition. I looked over the Koomtee's shops where there was rice, they said they had brought about Rupees 200 worth of grain since a month ago, of which nearly ¼ was remaining—not satisfactory when it is reflected that all the population of this part, who have not partaken of this stock have gone without. Across the water there is no want at present, a beggar or two may be seen, but not more than in due proportion to the population, and in the houses of the lowest caste a little grain is seen. The crop is a failure, and the explanation is found in two directions, I think, first—there is the head-quarters of the old salt manufacture, and though the population is agricultural, still they were all Molungees, and many of them as having held some office of Zilladar, Chateepaik, &c., have acquired some little substance not yet exhausted, and moreover in next place the sale now going on of salt from the Toah Golah affords daily occupation to some dozen or more coolies, and about forty carts engaged in removal of the salt. This encourages some sort of labor, carts getting 7 annas for carrying down 100 maunds to the ghât. I saw some land on the edge of the inner side of the lake, which may be reclaimed by bunding, and of which I made a note to propose some such work there, if the population hereinafter shew signs of sinking under the general poverty.

On returning my Peshkar, whom I left on this side of the Lake to visit a "patua" or small village near the camp which I did not see yesterday, reported to me that the people thereof were suffering, some of them severely, although of the "Reote" caste. He further proposed, as a new idea, that a few of the old tanks about should be repaired and new ones constructed, with view of giving occupation and at same time improving the condition of the lands. Turned out forthwith and examined the line of country, I was very much taken with the idea, and instead of four smaller tanks proposed to be arranged, decided on a position for the construction of a real substantial work 600 feet × 300 × 25 to cost 5,600 Rupees; this can be so laid as to nearly water the whole of the revenue lands of this side of the estate, thus precluding a recurrence of this time of distress, besides supplying wages for present emergency. I marked out the site, and must press hard for the carrying out of the idea. I am sorry now I hastily adopted the view that remunerative work could not be found here, it would be the making of the place, money and food brought to the very door of the destitute.

6th December 1865.

Before leaving Sathparrah this morning, I ordered and set the people to work upon the re-excavation of the village tank at the village of Aloohpatna, where the Peshkar was yesterday. It will be a small matter of Rupees 130 to deepen it 10 feet on an area of 100 feet square; it will be of use hereafter as it waters the only piece of land near the village immediately adjoining, which would not be reached by my large tank in prospect, and for present the water now taken out will give a bhattee of maudia and cheena cultivated this year, besides teaching the people what I think should be at once shewn them that Government will be active in helping them, but in the form of wages for labor. Crossing the area of the lake, I came to Goorbai which is part of Parikood, the geographic position of places being something thus—

In Goorbai proper there are but four villages, Goorbai, Nyapurah, Parolah, and Junnakoodah. Of first of these Goorbai, 61 out of 80 houses are "Kentes" and rest Naiks, and I saw enough of the place, passing through it to my tents, to judge there was no distress there yet. Guided by sound of the "denkie," I went into a house and found the women husking their rice, and the general tone and appearance of the people about was healthy.

Parolee.
Junnakodah.

After breakfast I spent the rest of the day in going to Parolee and Junnakodah. These are small villages of seventeen and a dozen houses, and I also saw a small "bastee" between the two. I went over the houses of Koomars, Brahmins, and Chassas, the latter are of the Paik caste, and of the three, the Brahmins appeared worst off, of course there is an entire destruction of crop, but notwithstanding this there is still evident in the condition of the people, what the natives so well describe as "dhan." They are living by the help of "sagh" and "kunika," but still there is a little rice to be seen about, and bullocks, carts, and brass vessels are still possessed as property. In condition the people are about the same as those I saw yesterday at Toah, and in the failure of the salt trade to give employment and wages here as there, I was at a loss to account for the absence of the same amount of physical weakness and prostration and actual emaciation (especially of the children) as appeared on my first day's visitation at the villages of Sathparrah about Bhagmundah. My enquiries lead me to the following solution of the fact:—First, the shallowness of the water all round here causes the profit of fishery to be much greater than at the opposite side, where the depth of the lake makes use of a net necessary, and so the poor here can help themselves, and crabs are in great demand. Secondly, the Parikood Raja has been very liberal; selling his rice at sixteen seers, though the stock now is said to be exhausted; and thirdly, though it may seem a small matter, I observed that the Sathpariah people have to get across the water on to the Toah bank to get their supply of "sagh," which of course is against them. However it be, the difference between the condition of the people is very marked; no doubt these are miserably poor and evil prospects are before them, but there are no emergent signs of starvation as at Bhagmundah. They say the supply of kunika and fish will both be cut short in January, the former by the passing of the season for it, and the latter by the drying up of the shallow part of the lake: if so, the people will be in extremity; but it is something to have two months before us.

One death from starvation is Jumnakodah was reported that of a child, but as the whole family had cleared out, I could not ascertain anything. Many men had gone to Cuttack, but where, as I often found it to be the case, they were perhaps two out of six grown up brothers—it is an advantage In the bustee between Parolee and Jumnakodah there were three cases of desertion, a man had taken three children to Cuttack, leaving his wife and six behind, they were all out after "sagh" and I did not see them. Another had gone leaving a family of four, including a blind old man, who was out begging. Yet with all this the appearance of death from starvation as likely to occur immediately was not seen amongst even the children. I found on enquiry that the only wages to be had here now are for labor in purtulling the salt stocked, for which fourteen annas has been the fixed rate for twenty-eight men's work per day. The Darogah reported first that the coolies could not work up to the mark for want of physical strength, and so our rate of weighment has fallen from 1,500 or 1,000 maunds (minimum) to about 500 per day; and further that the rate was so low that the small number of coolies required could hardly be obtained, as they said the same labor expended in collecting "kunika" would give them a meal equal to four times the quantity of rice purchased with their day's wages. It seemed to me preposterous in these times to be paying for labor two piece a day, so I ordered the rate to be doubled, which will give a coolie one anna for his day's work, and I don't think I am extravagant here.

Goomdee in illaka Parikood.—The first village I passed through this morning was Nyaparah, the fourth village of Goorbai alone referred to (Goorbai being, however, included in Parikood). The state of Nyaparah is very bad, the worst I have seen since I left Bulbudderpore. You approach the village across a long piece of land formerly used for manufacture of salt, but which they say the Raja has for sometime now been proposing to bund off again from the Chilka for cultivation; but the few efforts he has made in this direction since the abolition of the manufacture have been so unfruitful that he cannot afford to go further just now. This would probably be the case under the circumstances of failure of rain the last two years, for the first thing re-enclosed land wants, after being used once for salt lines, is a thorough good washing with sweet water. I saw clear signs of starvation in many amongst the people of this village, and in one spot, the "Bourcesahee," consisting of five houses, the whole lot had cleared off but two families. Close by the salt golah the houses seemed very thick and peopled especially with women, but with a good sprinkling of men. Numerous, they looked starved, and there was a more rebellious clamourous tone in their complaints of want than I have seen before. I was in great perplexity to account for the greater appearance of want here than in the two neighbouring villages of Junneekoodah and Patolah visited yesterday, because in respect to fisheries and opportunity for laboring at the purtul weighments, if anything Nyaparah has the advantage, and yet the people are unmistakably in a worse stage of destitution there. The explanation appears to be that Nyaparah gave itself unmixedly to salt manufacture while it lasted, and the lands properly belonging to agriculture being set aside for "poktan" are still barren, and there is not even the usual sprinkling of productive fields in the neighbourhood to help the people. Ever since therefore the cessation of manufacture three years ago, these have been finding their living harder and harder, and now the crisis has come upon them at the very outset. I think this, as an example, has a bearing upon the position and claims of the whole of the population of this part of the district. There is no doubt this season a calamity has fallen on all, but it seems that the inability of this population to rally in the interior from the injury sustained in the loss of the profit of salt manufacture so lately occurring, or to transform themselves into an agricultural population subsisting entirely and sufficiently on what is raised from the soil, probably tends to the result that they suffer sooner and more severely than others.

Goomdee Nyaparah.

I next came through the villages of Kurpah, Murdrajpore, and Santrapore, in all of which the signs of poverty were complete, but without actual starvation being evident, and no deaths reported to have occurred. All these villages and those that I shall see for sometime are in the zemindaree of Parikood Raja, to whose liberality, no doubt, the present condition of the population is due; he has been selling for the last three months rice at twenty gowns dhan, (which would give more than sixteen Cuttack seers of rice) per Rupee, but it is known now that his stock is exhausted. Nyaparah is also in the Raja's illaka, and close to his store at Kurpah, it is only to be supposed the people there had not the money wherewith to buy when sale was going on, so they are worse off; in the last three villages some desertions were reported.

This afternoon from camp I went round Jobokah, Gomondye, and Waspudahdah. Of the first and last villages I gave in my Appendix (B.) the detail of each house ascertained by myself; it is to shew the average proportion of removals to Cuttack; they are very great. I do not find so great appearance of starvation here as at Nyaparah and Sathparrah; but it is because the people have been supported by the Raja, and further just here, there have been here and there a little grain from the fields. This advantage, I am told, is limited to just here, and I shall see greater distress as I go on. Such as it is, I don't suppose it will profit the population for fifteen days to come, even when those who have any thing eke it out with "sagh" and "kunika." I have observed in respect to the emigration of the males that where "sagh" and "kunika" form the articles of general consumption throughout a village and nothing else, the families, whose father or other head is gone, do not appear to suffer more than the rest; this is no doubt owing to the fact that the women and children collect this food, and if the man is gone there is a mouth less to feed.

Jobokah Waspudahdah.

Alundah, 8th December 1865.

I have not seen many villages to-day, as those that exist are larger and the outlying straggling hamlets less than heretofore. I passed this morning through "Chechuree," a village said to contain twenty-two houses. The males of fifteen out of the whole number reported as gone to Cuttack. The place had a dead sepulchral air about it, and the children were cleaning "sagh" and some very dirty weedy stuff out of the tank for food. The child of Pandeb Sahoo in this village having been stated to have died yesterday of starvation, I visited his house; he was at home, and from the appearance of his remaining four children I fully believe that the death may have been occasioned by starvation, and whether or not, the four survivors will very soon afford example of deaths by that means. I always look up the families where deaths have occurred to try and gather some idea, whether disease may not have been the agent of destruction. I am bound, however, to admit that in all cases as yet the survivors of such families, even as compared with their suffering neighbours, have exhibited such marked distress as to lead me in all cases, which I have remarked upon, to endorse the alleged cause of deaths. My camp is at Alundah, a large village of more then 100 houses lying a coss from the Parikood Raja's ghur. I went over this place this afternoon. There is generally less indication of starvation here then in the small villages, for the houses are good, the people as a lot appear cheerful and the children running about, (the best sign by which to judge so far as I have seen) are less emaciated, but on passing from house to house you see the same nakedness in respect to provision of food, nothing but the whole population dressing their "sagh." I saw very little "kunika" which is the nutritious root. Seven deaths within the last few days were reported, nearly all occurring in the "Kentsahee" of the town. I went there, and certainly starvation was rampant. Three deaths were in one house in the family of two brothers, and the whole of the rest of the children were on the last stage; another old woman I saw sitting at her door, while the people were explaining to me that she too must die within the next two or three days, and truly she looked, it for her limbs were like sticks and her eyes already glazed under weakness and prostration.

Chechuree.

Alundah.

It is an inscrutable thing to account for the special circumstances existing at each different village. Take for example the "Kents," they are generally the best to do in the villages I have seen, and yet here where the village although really all are destitute of proper food, yet still the stage of distress is generally less far advanced, they are the class that have suffered most. There is an arm of the lake running before their very doors, and I tried hard to argue against the assertion that, because the shallows had dried and the water was now deep, therefore this was the reason fish should not be caught. The fact of starvation existing was incontrovertible, nevertheless on my way to my tent, I met a man carrying a string of half a dozen as fine fish as one would wish to see, caught closely. I picked up a fact to-day, which was new, to wit, that the married women of the chassa caste cannot do coolie work; this bears materially on what I said yesterday about the advantage of the man having gone as now, if work can be provided the men must be got back in order to secure benefit to the families. However I have no fear of this, as I hear from Sathparrah to-day that the rush of people if getting work at the small tank I have left to be repaired has been so great as almost to impede work, and that people have been sent off even to Cuttack to recall relations, saying it is needless now to go away so far from home, as the sahib is going to give work at home. Poor creatures! how earnestly do I hope my scheme for the new tank may be approved. I can hardly think under the circumstances it can be withheld, and truly I have no other suggestion to offer.

The Parikood Raja paid me a long visit to-day, and I did my utmost to make him see things in their proper light. He is better than the generality of impracticable people in this district, and has already behaved well in the capacity of landlord, as may be perceived form what his tenants say about him. I tried to get him to withdraw the complimentary form of speaking that I having come, "the day of trouble was ended, &c.," and pointed out the utter impossibility of Government undertaking the support of the population of each zemindaree estate throughout Bengal at this time of general difficulty, and he gave me the idea of really accepting what I said, but while he admitted the propriety of such a measure he would not promise me what I asked, that he would proceed upon some such course as that proposed by me for Sathparrah, of entering upon some work of improvement both to the present state of the ryots and ultimate profit of the estate. The difficulty appears to be want of ready money. I am half inclined to believe this is a bona fide excuse, as the Raja has shewn himself so well disposed thus far, and with a rental of only Rupees 4,500 a year after paying his Peshkar, to the Jagirdar, to whom his lands are subordinate, he has only just paid off a debt of more than Rupees 60,000 incurred in passing through an action set up to disprove his title of the estates. I even got as far as recommending him to borrow money to save his estate remaining unfruitful next year if the whole present population is scattered, but as he resisted this suggestion. I know not what may be next.

I recalled to-day a suggestion that was made to me six months ago that the residents of Pooree would contribute Rupees 30,000 for the object of repairing the Naraindra tank of sacred name at Juggernath, if the matter could be put in train for them. I have written off to try and get this iron actually worked up to point of execution, if we could carry out this the re-construction of the Pooree to Cuttack road, and my tank or tanks at Sathparrah, all these works I think then we should get this district through the famine reasonably well.

Sandee. Futtehpore.

Came through the Sandee this morning where is a salt cutcherry, golahs, &c., [that of Patrikood head-quarters.] The people were in bad case and deaths occurring. I notice the few I enquired into at C. M. my Appendix. On arrival at Futtehpore which is the village of Malood salt aurung and about half a mile from Nubbah Thannah, I found awaiting me the worst scene I had yet witnessed. A company of women and children came and took up a position at the door of my tent begging they were in the last stage of emaciation; one woman, herself a living skeleton, had three little children with her; the two big enough to walk were simply bones and skin held together, but she had in arms the smallest of the three who was in such a fearful state of emaciation that I thought it was actually dead while the woman pressed it to her bosom, until as she moved I saw the little skeleton arm swing as it hung over her shoulder, and going up to examine I heard the rattling in the child's throat as it drew in its breadth: It was then dying, and when an hour afterwards in visiting the house at the village I met the woman, she was carrying about the corpse in her arms, while she professed not to know the child was dead. This village consists of two sahees, the "Luliya" and the "chasser" sahee, and it was for the most painful work I have had to do passing through this village, inspecting the whole population as they sat at their doors to be examined. There have been ten deaths (in about forty houses) as yet, of which in the general and extreme condition of the whole population considered, I made no note; but the advanced state to which starvation and misery have progressed upon all; could not be seen without an oppression of mixed pain and alarm coming upon one. I suppose I saw fifty children who will be dead within fourteen days' age! and many that cannot last perhaps longer than a few hours; this is bad enough to think of, terrible to behold; but there is, I am afraid, the sadest fact to be accepted that the whole population of this place, young and old, must starve and nothing to save them, while it is only a matter of lasting out from day to day until the last perishes. I cannot see how this is to be escaped, the means of life have come to an end, and there is nothing wherewith to replace the deficiency; there are none to work, for the able-bodied amongst them have cleared out long since, and there are none but women and children and few half a dozen decrepit old men; the opening therefore of works, even export of salt, which has been the support of these people, and for service in connection with which the village itself existed, will not, as far as I can see, bring any relief. The dismembering of this village is not a thing of this season only; the Luliyas received advances annually for salt export operations Rupees 600 alone, upon which they subsisted, never attempting cultivation. The cessation then of these entire means of support, since three years, has of course pressed heavy upon them, and I take it that throughout the whole of this time the able-bodied men have been removing in search of a livelihood; they have unfortunately however left their families now to be destroyed. One naturally proceeds to ask, is not this a case for charitable relief, and such indeed I long to make it: but already the field of similar distress is wide, and in my opinoin the lapse of another month's time from the present will make it so universal that I shrink from attempting a movement in this direction. It is a great responsibility to seek to maintain a population by charity and with the impracticable, and I do not hesitate to say, illiberal public to be dealt with in this district, I cannot undertake it. If further evidence of the distressed state of the people here were needed, it may be remarked that the chassers bury their dead instead of the orthodox burning, and three days ago, when the Salt Darogah returned to his place, he found there was a corpse that had lain two days in the house where death had occurred; and the "jatbhaies" stating that they were too weak, &c., to remove it, he had to give a Rupee to get the corpse taken away. I went also to the village of Malood and visited various sahees, for it is a large place with Bourees, Mathers, Harries, Paiks, Mehutees and Mussulmen sections in it. The distress was visible here also in the deaths of some, and desertion of many. In all cases where a death is said to have occurred in a family, I observe that the condition of the survivors is notably worse than ordinary, and that the same distress will take another victim from that household, and yet another is at once suggested. I saw many children at Malood reduced to the last stage of emaciation, whom a prolongation of few days more want must inevitably destroy.

Malood still appears to have a few better conditioned people resident therein, probably for the reason that it is the village where is the house of the Jagirdar, proprietor of all these Pergunnahs, and so his servants and dependents are to be found there. Jagirdar, under the circumstances of his residence there, is not likely to profit the town and its neighbourhood in the manner usually expected from the proximity of a man of wealth and position, for he is in difficulties himself. A suit against his title brought by the wife (first marriage) of the former man, (the present Jagirdar being son by "Nikha" marriage,) who having no male child wanted to set up her son-in-law, although gained by the present Jagirdar, cost him in expenses a lac of Rupees for the realization of which the estates have for some time been under civil attachment on behalf of the creditors. This would hardly be calculated to extend prosperity, or by a continuance of good administration to have prepared a condition, from whence the people might enter their season of trial and distress under favorable auspices.

I have heard all the way down, and still hear, that the worst distress is here in Malood, partly because in other parts although the crop has been a real failure, people have got a few scorched barren grains which for the time they have eaten and lived upon, while here there has not even been this; and further more the Parikood Raja's assistance has had a marked result eastwards, while here people have been unaided, the Raja told me this was true, although he had allowed some of the Malood people to buy his grain, the majority were not reached. I telegraphed to the Board to-day for leave to begin my big tank at Sathparrah, so that I may start the work before I leave again for Pooree. I am intensely anxious about this, for whatever I may have said as to the comparatively good or bad condition of the different portions of country I have passed through, I am fully decided that the uniform wave of starvation will spread over all within a month, and one measure should precede, not wait for such result. I would have liked the site of labor to have been nearer Malood for the benefit of the worst sufferers, but I see nothing possible to propose here at present, and after all Sathparrah is not an unknown land to them here.

Futtehpore, 10th December 1865, Sunday.

I sent my head constable whom I have with me, round some of the neighbouring villages to my camp to-day, and he brought me the particulars noted at Appendix D.; the man has accompanied me in all my house visitings, and so he knows the kind of points to be looked up. I therefore deem his report reliable as far as it goes, only probably the information being obtained mostly by enquiring from the principal man of the village visited, the observation is less full and complete than in case of my own notes.

11th December 1865.

As to-day I was turning my camp homewards in the direction of Meetacoah, I laid myself out for a good round amongst the villages with a view of testing whether there was a marked difference tending to shew a worse degree of starvation, as comparing the average villages of Malood with those of other Pergunnahs visited by me. I bore in my mind the reports that such was the case; and further, from what I had seen at Futtehpore, had I found the general condition to equal that, there would have been no room for deliberation in the matter. I was out from about 10 A. M. till 4 P. M., but as the distances I had to walk to get over the ground between the villages was heavy, I was obliged to restrict my observations more than before to general conditions, that is to say, where I often noted individual instances of starvation, or heard of special deaths, I had not time to notice them, except as a few instances, otherwise I give in a lump the general impression as regards the whole village comparatively. These observations will be found in Appendix E., and finally I conclude that although no doubt in every place there is destitution more or less, and in some cases aggravated and advanced cases of starvation certain to end shortly in death, still the average condition is not what would be led to be supposed by a view only of the inhabitants of Futtehpore, the state of persons generally is that existing at Sathparrah and Parikood. It seems that just at the corner of Budgercote [which was the Pergunnah I visited this day, though I speak of it generally as Malood,] some few of the people have buffaloes, the milk from which help them along; further more at the village of Budgercote itself, the only piece of land, about twenty battees belonging to Brahmin, &c., which gave any yield this year throughout the whole Pergunnah has its existence.

15th December 1865, Sathparrah.

I visited the tank at Aloahparah, where the work previously ordered by me is going on. There were 495 people at work, men, boys and little children, the latter were working away as eagerly as possible, and the whole place wore an appearance of liveliness about it, which it was a pleasure to see as compared with mournful misery I saw last time I was here. The ryots, too, in the neighbouring khâts taking advantage of the water which he took out have got their fields already for sowing mandia. Passing through the village of Bajnundeah, I called at the houses of Damo Jennah and Bunmallee Mohapatter (of Appendix, under date, 4th December) to see the effect of the work going on upon the households; at former house the whole party were away at the tank at work, except an old woman; and at the latter, the father of the four deserted children, Bunmallee had returned and was gone to work at the tank, which was well, but I fear too late, for he showed me one of the children in a frightful state from starvation, much worse than when I saw them before. I can hardly imagine that child could be recovered from such a condition except under careful treatment even were food supplied.

Owing to the rush of people, before we have had time to get matters thoroughly into order for working system, the sum of Rupees 130 ordered by me is spent all but ten, before we have got all we required done. I have consented to allow one more day's digging at the tank [i. e., during the 16th] in order to get down deeper towards the springs; this will a little increase the cost, but as it will not altogether exceed Rupees 200, I feel I shall be justified.

While I was standing at this tank, I got the Board's telegram sanctioning Rupees 5,000 for tank here, and also the Commissioner's letter authorizing an expenditure of money on the Khordah road. It is an immense relief finding one's hands strengthened in this manner, and I only hope I may have success in making the best of opportunities offered. I have marked out the site of the tanks to be worked in Sathparrah, I say "tanks," for owing to the state of the land where the cultivation is not continuous, and the necessity for keeping in the neighbourhood of springs; we find we can do much more by restoring and enlarging old tanks now almost filled up, than by expending the whole sum sanctioned in one big tank as at first proposed. We therefore purpose to use the money in restoring and constructing improved tanks in the different places noted in the margin. I am making advances for digging, by which means I hope to be able to in food at an equivalent 10½ odd Cuttacks seers= 14¼ seers nearly Bengal seers for the Rupee, which ought to give great relief. To put a stop to the crowding, I have ordered that, prior to commencing the new works, a census of each village is to be taken, and tickets to work in gang be only given to those who are in immediate difficulties; further the employment is to be limited to the residents of the Sathparrah Khas Mehal, and outsiders to be referred to some of the other works about to be opened. If this may appear hard, it is nevertheless essential, as the grant made, I desire to make efficacious if possible to keep the population going throughout the year, whereas unless restriction be imposed it can't last a month; and I judge that the duty to humanity is as much discharged by arranging to maintain a fixed population throughout a prolonged time of distress as it would be by the indiscriminate distribution of relief for but a few days to a large number of sufferers.

SOUTHERN DIVISION, ZILLAH CUTTACK,
The December 1865

G. N. BARLOW,
Collector.

From S. C. Bayley, Esq., Junior Secretary to the Government of Bengal, to the Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces,—(No. 721, dated the 21st February 1866.)

I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter, No. 30A., dated the 29th ultimo, with its enclosures, and in reply to state that the Lieutenant-Governor entirely approves of the measures which have been adopted for affording relief to the famine-stricken population of the Pooree District, as reported by the Commissioner of the Cuttack Division in his communication* to your address. His Honor regards Mr. Barlow's proceedings as being very commendable, and notices with satisfaction the conduct of the Raja of Parikood, Chunder Seekur Mansing. The Lieutenant-Governor would be glad to have a further report up to present date as to what has been done and what more is required.

* No. 334.

From R. B. Chapman, Esq., Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces, to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(No. 120A., dated the 5th April 1866.)

In continuation of my docket, No. 100A., dated the 20th March last, I am instructed by the Board of Revenue to submit copy of a letter, No. 468 of the 24th idem, from the Commissioner of Cuttack, and its enclosure, containing a sketch of the operations to be undertaken upon the Piplee and Dallepudda road in the Khoorda Estate, with a view to afford relief to the sufferers from scarcity of food in the district of Pooree.

2. Under the circumstances explained, the Board beg that His Honor will be pleased to sanction the expenditure of a sum not exceeding Rupees (10,000) ten thousand from the Government Estates Improvement Fund on account of the above operations, subject to the submission of a detailed report hereafter by the local authorities.

3. The compensation for the slips of land to be taken up for the road in question will be paid from the assignment of Rupees 10,000.

4. The Board concur with the Commissioner that the work now in progress upon the road is answering the purpose for which it was undertaken.

From T. E. Ravenshaw, Esq., Officiating Commissioner of the Cuttack Division, to the Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces,—(No. 468, dated the 24th March 1866.)

In continuation of this office No. 433, dated 12th March, I have the honor to furnish further information* received from the Collector of Pooree, regarding relief operations on the Khoorda Estate Roads, extending from Piplee to Dallepudda.

* No. 306 of 21st March.

2. The Collector has been for some time past on the spot, personally superintending the work. He has, I think, judiciously avoided commencing any masonry work, and has confined his operations to earth-work and raising the road to a proper level, as more calculated to afford employment adapted to the capacities of all classes and ages. The staff proposed by the Collector for supervising the work appears moderate, and can be reduced if found practicable.

3. It is impossible, under the present circumstances, to prepare an accurate estimate of work, or of its cost; but under such efficient supervision, I feel assured, Government will be prepared to accord the general sanction asked for by Mr Barlow, and appropriate Rupees 10,000 from the Government Estates Improvement Fund for the works now in progress in Khoorda, leaving detailed accounts to be submitted hereafter.

4. As the matter of land is one requiring immediate orders, or the works may be stopped, I have authorized the Collector to enter upon such land as may be necessary for raising the road, averaging from ten to twenty feet in breadth, pending orders from the Board. The lands originally taken for this road were not acquired under the Act. Correspondence on the subject ending in your office No. 135C., to my address, will, on perusal, probably lead to a conclusion that it is not now necessary to resort to the Act to acquire the small additional slip of land, more particularly as the whole estate is Government property. I would suggest that the Collector may be authorized to disburse compensation for such slips of land from the sum of Rupees 10,000 now applied for, charging the amount in his general account of cost incurred in constructing the road. Should it be found necessary to grant any remissions of revenue for this land, the usual statement will be prepared and submitted for the Board's orders.

5. It will be observed, in connection with Mr. Barlow's paragraphs 4 and 5, that the rates allowed for piece-work give fully 2 annas per day to each workman, and notwithstanding this many have absconded, the piece-work system not being agreeable to them. This would lead to a supposition that either the people are not really starving, or that they can get more remunerative employment elsewhere. This is, I think, a healthy sign shewing that the work is answering the purpose for which it was undertaken, viz., to afford means of subsistence to the really destitute.

From G. N. Barlow, Esq., Collector of Pooree, to the Commissioner of the Cuttack Division.—(No. 306, dated the 21st March 1866.)

In obedience to your instructions to report, in detail, upon any practical measures which might follow upon the Government orders in connection with relief operations, I am now able to submit, for your approval, a sketch of proposed operations upon the Khoorda and Piplee road.

2. An estimate has been prepared, which shews that for its entire length of road, 32 miles, extending from Piplee to Dallepudda on the North-West Frontier of Khoorda Estate, there remains for execution for 34¼ lacs* of earth-work, necessary to bring the road to a state of completion in all other respects, saving masonry works, which it is proposed to leave for future consideration, and to be dealt with under the District Ferry Fund Department. The above amount of earth-work comprises a limited quantity requiring to be completed for the portion of the road between Piplee and Khoorda, which has been for some seasons past under construction, and a much larger amount needed to be executed for the continuation of the road beyond Khoorda up to Dallepudda, which up to the present time has not been entered upon at all.

* Cubic feet.

3. At the rate of Rupees 2-5 per 1,000 cubic feet measurement, which upon due consideration we have decided to allow to our laborers, the cost of execution of above estimated work would be in round numbers Rupees 8,000, to which adding at 25 per cent. for various expenditures comprising cost of establishment, tools, hutting coolies, and certain additional expenses where, under necessary circumstances, we may find it needful to accept daily labor in lieu of piece-work. I have set Rupees 10,000 as the outside limit of expense that can probably be expended under the present operations, and to this sum accordingly I ask general sanction, submitting as suggestion that when compared with the revenue of the estate, nearly two lacs, and in respect to the position of matters which induced the undertaking of relief measures at all, the sum asked for should not be considered extravagant.

4. I am not able to say at present what is the proportion of estimated works, which it may be expected will be accomplished during the continuation of the relief operations, but by adopting the outside limit for completion of the whole work, such uncertainty need not interfere with the course of business in obtaining sanction. The work is not more than could be completed by 500 laborers in a period of three months, and when I arrived here (at the Sub-Division) three days ago, the number of workmen upon the works was 650, the adoption, however, of piece-work, which it has been determined to enforce has resulted in the withdrawal of 200 out of a party of 300 men, to whom the experiment was applied, and it remains to be seen how matters will finally result.

5. The rates of wages are fair and for a good day's work would yield not less than 2 annas per man, and I am fully resolved to abandon the works unless the coolies accept the terms to work on the piece-labor system.

6. We have been at work already for a period of about one month, incurring during that period an expenditure something in excess of Rupees 1,000. The establishment which I have organized is on a moderate scale composed of a Darogah on Rupees 40 over the whole works, who has furnished security to value of Rupees 1,000; two Mohurirs at Rupees 10 each; and four Chupprassies at Rupees 4-8; the staff will be liable to increase or reduction according to the progress of the works, but under any circumstances it is not anticipated that the expenditure on the head will exceed Rupees 100 per month

7. There is one matter of importance in which I trust my action may not be deprived of support, for the portion of the road beyond Khoorda to Dallepudda, where the construction of the road to be entered upon is entirely new; there are certain portions situated on the low lands where the present width of the road land already taken up (40 feet) is insufficient to allow of the necessary work of "raising" being carried out, and here it will be necessary to take a small additional piece of land varying from ten to twenty feet on either side of present road line, according to circumstances, rather than incur the risk of stopping the works at this critical time. I have ordered such pieces of land to be marked off, and authorized immediate entry thereon, and I trust the Board will allow me to adjust the remission of revenue and compensation for such cases, without recourse to the Act, as they were lately pleased to do, in the similar instance, where the land taken up was included with this estate of which Government is proprietor. I have ventured to incur the responsibility of such irregular action owing to the urgency of the case, and I have considered that I could do so without causing injury to any, since the crops are off the ground at present, and with the Board's permission the cases can be easily adjusted before next harvest time.

8. Should I be authorized to complete adjustment of compensation for this land, I should be glad to know whether to charge payments made against revenue as connected with, and forming part of, the present operations. The amount of expense on this account will be insignificant.

From J. GEOGHEGAN, Esq., Officiating Junior Secretary to the Government of Bengal, to the Secretary to the Board of Revenue, L. P.,—(No. 1303, dated the 17th April 1866.)

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter, No. 120, dated 5th instant, and in reply to state that the Lieutenant-Governor approves of the operations proposed to be undertaken by the Collector of Pooree upon the Piplee and Dallepudda roads in the Khoorda estate, with a view to afford relief to the sufferers from scarcity of food in his district.

2. His Honor sanctions the outlay of Rupees ten thousand (10,000) from the Government Estates Improvement Fund for the above operations, subject to a detailed report hereafter.

From R. B. CHAPMAN, Esq., Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces, to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(No. 132A., dated the 19th April 1866.)

IN continuation of my No. 120A., dated the 5th instant, I am instructed by the Board of Revenue to forward, for submission to His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, copy of a letter, No. 472 of the 9th idem, from the Commissioner of Cuttack, and its enclosed most complete and satisfactory report by Mr. Barlow, of the measures adopted to afford relief to the sufferers from scarcity of food in the Pooree District; Mr. Barlow deserves all praise in the matter. The Board approve of the slight alteration he has made in the selection of works undertaken at Sathparah.

From T. E. RAVENSHAW, Esq., Officiating Commissioner of the Cuttack Division, to the Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces,—(No. 472, dated the 9th April 1866.)

IN continuation of my letters, Nos. 433 and 468, dated 12th and 24th March respectively, I have the honor to submit a further report* from the Collector of Pooree, shewing progress made throughout his district, and following the order in which each measure of relief was brought forward in Mr. Barlow's report, printed and received with your No. 17A. of 29th January 1866.

No. 126 of 30th March 1866.

2. The difficulty in obtaining even a salaried retailer of grain is almost incredible. I had suggested to Mr. Barlow to give a monthly salary to a Moodee or grain dealer to sell at current market rates to coolies, opening a temporary shop near their work, paying the Moodee from the subscribed relief fund, but this it appears has been found impossible. This disinclination to sell rice is very remarkable, and results, I am inclined to suppose, from fear of a crush of purchasers, and inability to satisfy them which might lead to loss, and certainly to some confusion and annoyance.

3. The work of repairing a tank or tanks in Sathparah has been the saving of the people around, and a very proper discretion has been exercised in distributing piece-work and daily wages in accordance with the physical capabilities of employés. It is most satisfactory to learn that the water obtained from these tanks is being used for irrigation. The Board will doubtless approve of the slight alterations made by the Collector in selection of works on which money could be expended to best advantage, though differing slightly from the original proposition.

4. I have already reported on the Piplee and Khoorda road in my letter, No. 468 of 24th March, in which copy of Collector's No. 366 was enclosed. Should the grant of Rupees 10,000 already asked for not suffice, a further representation will be made. Mr. Barlow's demi-official on the subject reached me after despatch of my letter above noted, when I did not think it necessary, at any rate for the present, to ask for any excess over Rupees 10,000.

5. Voluntary subscriptions towards repair of Narainder tank are in course of realization, and the work is progressing.

6. I have before noted to the Collector that it is unnecessary to interfere with expenditure by the Local Committees of the funds at their disposal. It is evident much good is being done, for the present no further aid from Government is called for beyond a general sanction of the measures which have been taken and are in progress, and an assurance of further aid should it be found necessary to make application.

7. I have to acknowledge with thanks the exertions of Mr. Barlow, of Mr. Barton, Assistant Magistrate of Khoorda, and of Messrs. Nolan and Bond, Executive Engineers.

From G. N. Barlow, Esq., Collector of Pooree, to the Officiating Commissioner of the Cuttack Division,—(No. 126, dated the 30th March 1866.)

In continuation of my intermediate letter on the subject,—as I have delayed my reply sufficiently long to have enabled me personally to visit nearly the whole series of works going on in this district, I have now the honor to submit the report called for in Government order No. 721 of 21st ultimo, forwarded under your No. 411 of 28th ultimo,—for noticing the various works, I adhere to the order of my No. 308 of 29th December last.

2. (a.) The proposal to revive the salt manufacture under the old system throughout the distressed tracts around the Chilka Lake having been rejected, it is the more to be regretted that the efforts of the Board of Revenue to assist the Parricood and Malood population to some employment by promoting a trade in salt with Chittagong (c) has been attended with no practical result. Thus far not a single vessel or trader has put in an appearance, and the setting in of the Monsoon, already occurred, having compelled me to report to the Board that the shipment of salt from the Ports on this Coast would be no longer found practicable, any hope of affording relief to the distressed population in this mode has been already abandoned.

3 (b.) Operations of the Department Public Works on Imperial roads. The condition of works which are going on upon the Pooree main road is the one item upon which I am unable to report progress, as I have received no reply as yet to a letter which I addressed to Mr. Nolan asking for particulars At the time I left Pooree, early in the month, things were not looking very bright there just then, owing to the fact that work having been commenced on the daily labor system, which speedily brought 500 men on to the works in about a week's time, with a view of obtaining a better return for money, a change to piece-work system was carried out. This was immediately followed by departure of nearly all the workmen, and at the time I left, upon the portion of the road immediately out of the town, I was informed that not more than about 100 men were employed at piece-work, and this notwithstanding that the rate had been materially increased. I have, however, no apprehension but that after a display of firmness Mr. Nolan will gain his point, and probably by this time his number of workmen has been filled up. I understand that he has work also opened midway on the line at Piplee, (to which place he has removed his head-quarters), but I do not know what may be the state of matters there. Having just passed through Banpore, I had an opportunity of seeing Mr Bond's work going on upon the Cuttack and Madras road, and at present principally limited to the distance of about thirty-two miles between Burkool and Jenkia. On the first few miles from Burkool where considerable earth-work is being executed, from 1,200 to 1,800 men were reported employed at rates varying according to the soil to be worked from Rupees 2-3 to Rupees 2-13 per 1,000 cubic feet. I was glad to hear that some hundreds of these people were from Malood, the locality which most of all needing relief is so convenient of access to these works, and employed at piece-work as they are, the laborers, it is said, can earn from 2 to 3 annas per day. These wages, considering the time, cannot be said to represent any degree of wasteful extravagance; nevertheless, I did not hear any particular objection raised against the rates, the principal complaint made being the difficulty which the laborers as strangers, experienced in going about from village to village to purchase their rice and the loss of time occasioned to them, which would otherwise be given to their work and bring them an increase of wages. I tried my best to carry out an arrangement to meet this difficulty, having up the principal Mahajans, and even offering them an inducement in the shape of monthly wages (suggested in one of your former letters) if they would consent to open shops in the locality of the works, but all efforts were fruitless; and while so long as the works are going on in their present position, i. e., in immediate neighbourhood of villages, I trust that nothing more than inconvenience to themselves will be experienced by leaving the coolies to their own resources in the matter of making provision for themselves. I confess, however, that should the works rapidly extend onwards to such parts of the road as are not within easy reach of villages, I much fear that they will suffer much if the works be not absolutely put a stop to. Before, however, raising an alarm on this head, I desire to watch the progress made, and I will ascertain from Mr. Bond what are his plans in the matter of extending operations.

4. The Overseer in charge of the work informed me that he did not particularly want more men, indeed that 2,000 would be the full number manageable on the score of superintendence. I have not heard of any one being refused work as yet, if I do so, I shall bring the matter to the notice of Mr. Bond, who will, I know, do every thing he can to make the object of the work as extensively useful as possible. Some 200 carts are employed between Sonakulla and Jenkia in stacking metal on either side of the way, these get six annas a day, and in this manner also I am convinced much help is given to a class of people who would otherwise sink into and swell the general mass of poverty. Cholera was raging furiously when I was in Banpore, some villages being half depopulated, while others suffered still more severily. I gathered that though very bad, still probably the crisis was passed, and the epidemic on the wane. There have been cases amongst the coolies, but I am glad to say not general or numerous.

5. (d.) Expenditure of Rupees 5,000 on works of improvement at Sathparah. I was at Sathparah for some days during the present month, and I am able to say I was very much satisfied with all I saw, and especially with the whole management of the matter by my Collectory Peshkar whom I selected for the charge. Our object from the first was to make a small sum of money go as far as possible in relieving (by affording employment to) a considerable population, and to achieve this, we commenced with a house census amongst the inhabitants of all the villages, from amongst these only the most distressed objects were admitted to the work; but as time went on, the wave of poverty continued to surge higher until at the time of visit there were from 600 to 800 people more or less employed, and comprising every class and caste, Bruhmins, Mahantees, Paiks, women and children. High wages have never been attempted. Rupees 1-8 per 1,000 cubic feet being the rate for piece-work, which all persons in a state to earn sufficient to feed them are required to execute; while an indiscriminate mass of incapable men, women, and little children carry on a miscellaneous—and pardoned it must be, if often it be but nominal—work receiving from 3 to 5 pice a day. It is admitted by the whole of the people down there, and I believe it to be the case, that the opening of these works on part of Government has been the saving of the population. It is not only the monetary aid that has been obtained, though of course where food is required that is much, but the measure has lent energy to those who were sinking in despair till even before the full crisis of danger is past signs of a hope in the future are beginning to be apparent amongst the people.

6. As respects the actual amount of work done, success has, I venture to believe, been obtained; the largest tank upwards of 320 + 270 feet has been completed within the estimated cost of Rupees 2,000, and it is now a substantial work nicely executed and turfed, with, some eight feet of water in it standing in the centre of the cultivated land available for irrigation; and already there is a small crop of mandia ripening around the banks, which has been produced and nourished by the water obtained therefrom. A second tank, which was to be improved at a cost of Rupees 500, has already had work to that amount executed upon it, but owing to the depth of the spring, some little more requires to be done, the cost of which must be provided by deduction from elsewhere. In a third place where I had proposed the cleansing of two tanks situated close together at a cost of Rupees 250 each; on ascertaining that a better result would follow by expending the full sum of Rupees 500 on one of these tanks, I permitted this variation from the sanction already accorded by Government (which I hope may be approved,) and this work has been ere this also completed.

7. I took occasion on my visit to strike off the list of workmen here, some 400 of the most capable persons, with a view of their seeking work elsewhere. The allowance granted (Rupees 5,000) was fast reducing, (three-fifths having been already expended); while another difficulty offered is that the amount of suitable works, which might be undertaken during continuance of the famine, is limited in Sathparah. I am happy to say that, during my subsequent stay at Khoorda, nearly 100 of these men arrived and entered themselves on the road works there.

8. In my letter, No. 366 of 21st instant, I submitted proposal for works to be undertaken for completion of the Ferry Fund Road from Piplee vid Khoorda throughout its length in the Government estate, I need not therefore go into the matter at length again here. I will only briefly notice how that my official communication asking for sanction to a possible, but not anticipated, expenditure of Rupees 10,000 for execution of estimated work throughout by the piece system was followed at once by such a change in the position of affairs, that I was obliged to address you again demi-officially asking that in your application for approval to Government a further margin of 2,000 or 3,000 Rupees might be allowed as we found the extension of our operations called for. The change was indeed a rapid one. Mr. Barton having 500 men on daily labor, divided them and put half on piece-work; the following morning 200 of the coolies had disappeared, and the remaining few openly announced their intention of leaving work if the result of the measurement to be held on the third day was not satisfactory to them. We in turn simply stood to our resolution to close the whole work rather than forego piece-work, the conclusion of the whole was that on the 27th instant, when I left Khoorda, Mr. Barton had 400 men on piece-work, and the fresh coolies coming in were accepting the same without opposition. The advent, however, of a body of people from Sathparah, who were found unable to work the piece system upon the ground which is nearly as hard as rock, obliged us to have recourse to a reserve of daily laborers, for whom extra provision had to be asked. We are paying our piece laborers Rupees 2-5 per hundred, or yielding for a good day's work 8 to 10 pice a day, and the daily laborers 2 annas. Should our application for funds be sanctioned, and labor be plentiful as it now appears, I am sanguine we shall, excluding bridges to be added as opportunity admits, turn out the road in a state of completion during this season.

9. Regarding other works of improvement authorized to be undertaken in Khas Mehals, acting on your suggestion not to undertake too much at once, I have not attempted any thing further at present. I, however, occupy the present interval in making enquiries, and I have marked down certain works coming under the class of Improvement, which will be available for future operations if necessary.

10 (g.) Restoring the Narainder Tank. This work is in progress, Rupees 8,750 have been subscribed, of which Rupees 4,648 have been realized, and up to the time I left Pooree, early in the month, Rupees 2,100 odd had been expended owing to the nature of the work, which is chiefly building in stone; this is not a means of relief which makes much show in the way of keeping employed and feeding a large number of hands, but it may be reasonably hoped that in a general way the outlay of money at a time of scarcity is productive of benefit.

11 (h.) Famine Fund. The limits reached by this fund stands at a little over Rupees 5,000, of which some fully four-fifths was contributed by under a dozen residents of the district after personal canvass. I caused intimation regarding the fund and its objects to be conveyed to the entire number of the Landholders of the district without, in a single instance that I am aware of (I expect of course such amongst the Landholders who were included amongst the original contributors, and who were not therefore asked again,) any result being obtained. This indeed is highly discouraging. The Committee, having commenced their operations, have decided on the adoption of the system of relief by families and households as the only practicable method; great care is exercised in selecting families for relief; their history being inquired into, and the cause of their specially reduced condition examined after admission; they are maintained by aid from the fund in various amounts according to requirement, the average donation not exceeding Rupees 3 per family per month, while every safeguard is availed of to ensure the relief reaching those for whose benefit it is intended. By the accounts I have just received from the Secretary to the Committee, 376 families, at a monthly cost of Rupees 935, are now on the fund, all of whom, except four households, belonging to Parricood and Malood.

12. I am aware that the system of gratuitous relief has been objected to; indeed before this you have yourself urged disapproval of it in your official communication, but the Committee, having determined upon the matter after careful consideration, trust that they are justified in the course which they have followed with the insufficient sum at their disposal. It were vain to seem to compete in the labor market against a liberal system of public works which thus far, at all events, has been found to offer sufficient field for all who seek labor, while on the other hand there exists a class of destitute persons unable to save themselves from starvation by manual labor, to whom any thing that free charity may do for them affords the solitary chance of escape from destruction. There it is then, and in a field somewhat thus limited, that we desire to expend our exertions in the duty of relieving distress and to shew that our principles at all events are not entirely unsound. I am satisfied that I may assert on account of the whole body of the Committee that we shall freely admit our efforts to have failed if it be proved that under our system of relief a single person has been supported in idleness who was capable of maintaining himself. Finally, I may add, that it is a part of our plan to enforce some kind of labor in return for relief in all practicable instances, but if, as it may be supposed, the cases for relief are those of old and infirm persons, widows or orphan children, &c., I do not anticipate that this intention can yield much profit.

13. To the question asked by the Government order what more is required, I have already returned an anticipatory answer to the effect that, as matters stand at present, I do not consider that any thing further in the way of assistance is required, and I cannot feel that such an answer as this on my part is likely to be misunderstood or to be the means of tying my hands hereafter, if necessity compels me to come forward with further and new proposals for assistance on the part of Government. By saying that nothing further is now required, I do not mean to say that suffering and distress is completly at an end, and the country enjoying even a comparative degree of prosperity; again, neither do I imply that if I were to follow up many of the suggestions that have been offered me, I could not recommend various subjects for outlay and expenditure under the general plea that relief would be occasioned to some or other in scattered localities; but this is not the course which I understand it behoves me to take under present conditions. Government, in the pursuit of a liberal policy (the wisdom of which and the great advantages obtained to the district thereby are better perceived each day that the condition of affairs become more apparent) having been pleased to entertain many of the propositions which I have ventured to make for the object of affording the needed relief, I feel bound in every manner to exercise the strictest caution, and, if I may so explain it, keep myself under the strongest restriction in the matter of advancing suggestions as to what may be required from time to time, and it is my desire to propose nothing unless I can shew at the same time how the measure is required for the support, extension, or substitution of the regular system of operation now in hand. It is in this view then, and as seeing no particular measure at present called for, that I reply as I have done to the query of Government, implying as it appears to do a promise of further assistance at such times as it may appear necessary.

From the Hon'ble A. Eden, Secretary to the Government of Bengal, to the Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces,—(No. 178T, dated Darjeeling, the 1st May 1866.)

I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter, No. 132A., dated the 19th ultimo, and in reply to inform you that the Lieutenant-Governor entirely approves of the measures adopted by Mr. Barlow, the Collector of Pooree, for affording relief to the sufferers from scarcity of food in his district.

LEGISLATIVE.

Simla, the 4th June 1866.

THE following Bill and Statement of Objects and Reasons accompanying it are published for general information, by order of His Excellency the Governor General, under the 49th of the Rules for the conduct of Business at Meetings of the Council of the Governor General of India for the purposes of making Laws and Regulations :—

A Bill to legalize Horse-racing in India.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to exempt certain transactions connected with horse-racing from the operation of Act No. XXI of 1848 (for avoiding wagers;) it is hereby enacted as follows :—

Subscriptions or agreements to subscribe to plates, &c., may be lawful notwithstanding Act No. XXI of 1848.

1. No subscription or contribution, or agreement to subscribe or contribute, made or entered into after the passing of this Act, for or toward any plate, prize, or sum of money, of the value or amount of five hundred Rupees or upwards, to be awarded to the winner or winners of any horse-race, shall be deemed unlawful by reason of anything contained in the said Act No. XXI of 1848.

Nothing in this Act to legalize lotteries.

2. Nothing in this Act shall be deemed to legalize any transaction connected with horse-racing to which the provisions of Act No. V of 1844 (for the suppression of all lotteries not authorized by Government) apply.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The object of this Bill is to assimilate the law of India on the subject of horse-racing to the law of England.

Statute 8 & 9 Vic., cap. 109, Section 18, provides that all contracts and agreements by way of gaming or wagering shall be null and void, and that no money deposited in the hands of any person to abide the event upon which any wager shall have been made, shall be recoverable. The section, however, contains a proviso that this enactment shall not apply to any subscription or agreement to subscribe for any plate, &c., to be awarded to the winner of any lawful game. There is no doubt that, under Statute 18 Geo. 2, cap. 34, Section 11, horse-racing for a prize worth £50 or upwards, is a lawful game within the meaning of the former Statute.

The first section of the Indian Act No. XXI of 1848 is copied from the section above recited; but it omits the proviso. Hence the Calcutta Turf Club has urgently represented to the Government that in India dishonourable persons evade with impunity promises to subscribe to prizes and stakes. The present Bill, which is modelled on the proviso above referred to, accordingly enacts that no subscription or contribution, or agreement to subscribe or contribute, for or toward any plate, prize or sum of money of the value or amount of Rupees 500 or upwards, to be awarded to the winners or winner of any horse-race, shall be deemed unlawful by reason of anything contained in Act No. XXI of 1848. There is also a section, suggested by the case of Gatty v. Field, 9 Q. B. 431, declaring that nothing contained in the Bill shall be deemed to legalize transactions connected with horse-racing which are obnoxious to the provisions of the Lottery Act (No. V of 1844).

Provided that no greater expenditure shall be in any case incurred in the whole by reason of any such allowance, or of any allowance paid upon the absence on leave of any Officer or Servant of the Justices under this Act, than would have been incurred had no leave been granted.

Poll how to be taken.

XXXII. When the Justices are unable to acquire by agreement any land or building required for the purposes of this Act, the Government of Bengal in its discretion may declare that the land or building is needed for a public purpose, and may order proceedings for obtaining possession of the same for Government and for determining the compensation to be paid to the parties interested, according to any law in force for the acquisition of land for public purposes. Such land or building when acquired shall be conveyed to the Justices, on their paying the compensation awarded and all costs connected therewith.

estimated cost of such improvements so far as such cost can be fairly estimated without going into minute details. Until the scheme or proposal so submitted shall have received the approval of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, the Justices shall not, except with the express sanction in each case of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, have power to commence any works or acquire any immoveable or moveable property under this Act.

XXXVIII. After such notification as aforesaid has been published, it shall be lawful for the Justices from time to time to raise money, for the estimated cost of the works and arrangements proposed and approved, on debentures bearing interest, which shall be a first charge on all property acquired by the Justices for the purposes of this Act, and on all tolls, duties, rates, and charges leviable under this Act; and it shall be lawful for the said Justices at any time or times to raise the additional moneys (if any) required for the carrying out of any variations or additions under the last preceding Section, by the issue of further debentures to be a charge as aforesaid on the tolls, duties, rates, and charges leviable and property acquired under this Act. Application of surplus income.

XL. Whenever the half-yearly accounts directed to be laid before the Justices shall show a surplus for the half year of income over expenditure, such surplus or so much thereof as the Justices shall think fit, may be applied by them in paying off the debentures issued under this Act, or such surplus may in whole or part be invested by the Justices in the purchase in their Corporate name of Government securities, and the interest thereof may be accumulated and invested in like manner, with power to the Justices at any time to dispose of any such securities, and to apply the proceeds and interest thereof in paying off debentures or towards any of the other purposes of this Act.

Form of debenture.

XLI. All the debentures issued under the authority of this Act shall be in the form contained in the Schedule (A) to this Act, and shall be transferable by endorsement, and the right to sue in respect of the moneys secured by any of such debentures shall be vested in the holders thereof for the time being, without any preference by reason of some of such debentures being prior in date to others.

Payment of debentures by fresh mortgage of rates.

XLII. The Justices may at any time, with the approval of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, raise, by the issue of new debentures, any money that may be required to pay the amount for the time being due on any debentures issued in pursuance of this Act.

A Budget or Estimate of Income and Expenditure to be submitted annually to the Justices

XLIII. At a Special General Meeting to be held in the month of November in each year, the Chairman shall lay before the Justices a separate Budget or Estimate, prepared by the Committee, of the expenditure and income of the Trust under this Act for the year commencing on the 1st of January then next succeeding, in such detail and form as the Justices shall from time to time, by order passed at a Meeting, direct. Budget of Expenditure.

XLIV. The Budget shall show what expenditure it is proposed to incur for the purposes of this Act during the period to which it relates, and the manner in which it is proposed to meet such expenditure.

Revision and passing of Estimates.

XLV. It shall be in the discretion of the Justices to pass, or to reject, or to modify, the estimates of all or any sums entered in the Budget. No new work or series of works the entire estimated cost of which, as shewn in the Budget, shall exceed fifty thousand Rupees, shall be commenced without the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor having been previously obtained.

No new work the estimated cost of which exceeds 50,000 Rupees, to be commenced without the sanction of Government.

Accounts to be audited and examined.

XLVI. The accounts of the receipts and expenditure under this Act shall be audited and examined twice in every year for the purpose of being laid before the half-yearly Meetings under Section XV of this Act. The audit shall be made by such Auditors as shall from time to time be appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal. For the purposes of any audit and examination of accounts under this Act, the Auditors may, by summons in writing, require the production before them of all books, deeds, contracts, accounts, vouchers, and all other documents and papers which they may deem necessary, and may require any person holding or accountable for any such books, deeds, contracts, accounts, vouchers, documents, or papers, to appear before them at any such audit and examination, or adjournment thereof, and to make and sign a declaration with respect to the same: and if any such person neglect or refuse so to do, or to produce any such books, deeds, contracts, accounts, vouchers, documents, or papers, or to make or sign such declaration, he shall be liable for every neglect or refusal to a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees. All Auditors acting under this Act shall, in respect of each audit, be paid by the Justices such reasonable remuneration as the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal shall from time to time determine: Provided always that before each audit and examination of accounts under this Act, the Chairman shall give ten days' notice of the time and place at which the same will be made, by advertisement in the English Government Gazette, and in at least two of the daily English Newspapers published in Calcutta; and a copy of the accounts to be audited and examined shall be deposited in the Office of the Justices, and be open during Office hours thereat to the inspection of all persons interested, for seven days before the audit and examination, and all such persons shall be at liberty to take copies of or extracts from the same, without the payment of any fee; and within fourteen days after the audit and examination shall have been completed, the Auditors shall report upon the accounts audited and examined, and shall deliver such report to the Justices at a Meeting, who shall cause the same to be deposited in the Office of the Justices, and to be published in the Calcutta Gazette and in some one or more of the said Newspapers.

XLVII. As and when any wharf, quay, stage, jetty, or pier erected under the provisions of this Act shall have been made and completed, together with such sufficient warehouses, sheds, cranes, and moorings for landing and shipping goods from and upon sea-going vessels, it shall be lawful for the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal to declare, by publication of notice to that effect in three consecutive numbers of the Calcutta Gazette, that such wharf, quay, stage, jetty, or pier is ready for receiving, landing, and shipping goods from and upon sea-going vessels. And from and after such notification and publication, it shall be lawful for the Chairman of the Committee, or the proper officer of the Justices in that behalf, to call upon the Conservator of the Port from time to time when there shall be room at such wharf, quay, stage, jetty, or pier, to order any vessel he may think fit alongside of the said wharf, quay, stage, jetty, or pier, for the purpose of being laden or unladen by the Justices. And if after such order of the Conservator of the Port, the Owner or Master of any such vessel shall either take in or discharge cargo, save and except at such wharf, quay, stage, jetty, or pier, to which such vessel shall have been so ordered, the Owner or Master thereof shall be liable to a penalty of one hundred Rupees for each day that he or they shall land or ship or attempt to land or ship any goods in contravention of such order.

After notification all goods must be landed and shipped from and upon sea-going vessels at the wharves of the Justices.

XLVIII. When a sufficient number of wharves, quays, stages, jetties, and piers, shall have been erected under this Act for the landing and shipping of the cargoes of all sea-going vessels resorting to the Port, it shall be lawful for the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal to order, by publication of such order for one month in the Calcutta Gazette, that no goods shall be landed or shipped from or upon any sea-going vessel within the Port, save at such wharves, quays, stages, jetties, and piers. And whoever shall, after such order has been so notified as aforesaid, land or ship or attempt to land or ship any goods in contravention of such order, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred Rupees for every day that he shall so land or ship any goods in contravention of the said order. Provided always, and it is hereby declared that, notwithstanding any thing in this or the 51st Section contained, it shall be lawful for the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, by notice in the Calcutta Gazette from time to time, if he shall so think fit, to declare that certain specified vessels, goods, or cargoes, or class of goods or cargo, shall be permitted to be landed or shipped elsewhere and at such part of the Port of Calcutta, and for such time, as he may think fit.

After Notification, boats and country vessels prohibited from landing or shipping goods within prescribed limits, except at a wharf of the Justices.

After such publication as aforesaid, it shall not be lawful for any boat or inland country vessel to land or ship any goods at any place within the limits so specified, except at such wharf, quay, stage, jetty, or pier; nor for any such boat or inland country vessel while within such limits to anchor, fasten, or lay within fifty yards of the ordinary low water mark without the consent of the Justices. And if after such notification and publication any boat or inland country vessel shall while within such limits so anchor, fasten, or lay, it shall be lawful for the Officers of the Justices in that behalf to remove or cause the same to be removed out of the said limits.

Penalties in case of boat or inland country vessels landing goods or mooring within prohibited limits.

L. If the owner, manjee, or person in charge of any boat or inland country vessel shall, after such notification and publication as in the last preceding Section mentioned, land or ship any goods from or into any such boat or inland country vessel at or upon any place within the said limits, except at, upon, or from the said wharf, quay, stage, jetty, or pier, he shall be liable to a penalty of thirty Rupees for each day upon which any goods shall be so landed or shipped. And if any such owner, manjee, or person in charge of such boat or vessel shall anchor or fasten his boat or vessel, or shall lie within the said limits at a distance not exceeding fifty yards of the ordinary low-water mark, except with the consent of the Justices, and shall neglect or refuse to remove his boat or vessel out of the said limits, when lawfully required so to do, he shall be liable to a penalty of fifty Rupees. And in addition to the said penalties the Justices may seize and detain any such boat or inland country vessel until the said penalties respectively shall be paid.

When wharves completed, inland country vessels must land and ship cargoes at wharves.

LI. When and so soon as a sufficient number of wharves, quays, stages, jetties, and piers, shall have been erected under this Act for the landing and shipping of the cargoes of inland country vessels frequenting the Port of Calcutta, it shall be lawful for the Lieutenant-Governor, by notice published in three consecutive numbers of the Calcutta Gazette, to order that no goods shall be landed or shipped from or into any such inland country vessel within the Port of Calcutta, save at such wharves, quays, stages, jetties, and piers. And whoever shall, after the same has been so notified as aforesaid, land or ship or attempt to land or ship any goods from or upon any such inland country vessel in contravention of such order, shall be liable to a penalty of thirty Rupees for each and every day that he shall so land or ship any cargo from or upon any such inland country vessel.

Public landing places to be provided.

LII. The Justices shall make a sufficient number of public landing places in and upon which the public shall be permitted to land free of charge the following articles—that is to say, bricks, tiles, lime, soorkee, firewood, bamboos, hay, straw, vegetables, fruits, meat, and market produce. And the Justices shall make, and may from time to time alter and vary, such regulations and bye-laws for the use of the said public landing places, the time during which goods shall be allowed to remain thereon, and the removal of goods landed thereon, as they shall think fit. Provided nevertheless that such Regulations and Bye-laws shall be approved of by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

Ghauts and bathing-places to be provided.

LIII. It shall be lawful for the Justices, if they shall consider it necessary for the purposes of this Act, to occupy or remove any bathing ghaut or landing-place within the Port, and to prohibit the public from afterwards resorting to or using the same. Provided nevertheless that the Justices shall reserve, set out, make, and provide for the use of the public such sufficient bathing ghauts within the Port as shall be required for the convenience of the public, and as shall be approved of by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

Wharves, &c., to be appointed under Customs Act.

LIV. When the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal shall under Section X of the Consolidated Customs Act appoint any wharf, quay, stage, jetty, or pier, erected under this Act for the use of sea-going vessels, to be a wharf for the landing and shipping of goods within the meaning of that enactment, the Justices shall set apart, maintain, and secure on any such wharf, quay, stage, jetty, or pier, such portion thereof or place therein or adjoining thereto for the use of the Officers of Customs, as the Lieutenant-Governor shall in that behalf approve of or appoint.

Justices bound to provide servants, &c., for shipping and landing goods.

LV. After the publication of the order in Section XLVIII hereinbefore mentioned, the Justices shall provide and at all times keep and maintain sufficient servants, and apparatus, for the expeditious and convenient landing and shipping of goods from and upon all sea-going vessels coming to the wharves, quays, stages, jetties, or piers; and shall by their servants land and ship all goods from and upon any such vessel so coming to such wharf, quay, stage, jetty, or pier, unless where there is a legal excuse for refusing to land or ship such goods, or such vessel is by reason of the breach or non-observance of any law or regulation not entitled to have her cargo shipped or discharged. Provided that the Justices shall not be bound to land, ship, or move any single article or package exceeding thirty tons of twenty hundredweight in weight, except at such special charge as may be agreed on in respect of such article or package.

Tolls to be levied.

LVI. The Committee shall from time to time frame a scale of tolls, dues, or rates for the landing and shipping of goods at the wharves, quays, stages, jetties, and piers erected under this Act for the use of sea-going vessels, and for the storing and keeping of any goods stored in any premises belonging to the Justices, and for the removal of goods, and for the use of any moorings laid down by the Justices. And also a scale of tolls, dues, and rates for the landing and shipping of goods into and out of any country-boat or vessel, and also a scale of tolls for the use of the said wharves, quays, stages, jetties, and piers by any boat or inland country vessel in case the Justices shall permit the goods to be landed or shipped by others than their own officers and servants. Such scale of tolls, dues, and rates shall be submitted to the Lieutenant-Governor, and after receiving his approval shall be published in the Calcutta Gazette, and may from time to time, subject to the like approval and publication, be altered. Provided always that it shall not be lawful for the Justices to levy any tolls, dues, or rates or mooring charges on a scale higher than that given in Schedule B to this Act.

Recovery of tolls in arrear.

LVII. For the amount of all tolls, charges, dues, and rates duly leviable under this Act in respect of any goods, the Justices shall have a lien on such goods, and shall be entitled to detain the same until such tolls, rates, and dues are fully paid. Tolls, rates, and dues in respect of goods to be landed shall become payable immediately on the landing of the goods. Tolls, rates, and dues in respect of goods to be removed from the premises of the Justices or to be shipped for export, shall be payable before the goods are removed or shipped. The lien for such tolls, rates, and dues shall have priority over all other liens and claims, except for general average, the shipowner's lien for freight upon the said goods where such lien exists and has been preserved in the manner hereinafter provided, for primage, and for money payable to Her Majesty or the Secretary of State for India in Council under any law for the time being in force. Provided that nothing in this Act shall affect any power or authority vested in the Chief Officer of Customs under any law for the time being in force.

Goods may be removed to Public Warehouses.

LVIII. In any case in which goods without any default on the part of the Justices shall have been left for three days on any wharf or shed belonging to the Justices, it shall be lawful for the Committee to remove or cause the same to be removed either to any warehouse belonging to them or to the Public Warehouses, at the expense of the owners of the said goods, giving notice to the consignee or owner of such goods of such removal if the address of such consignee or owner is known, by letter left at such address or sent by post; and the consignee or owner of such goods, in addition to the expenses of the removal of the same, shall be liable, in case the goods shall be removed to any warehouse or store of the Justices, to a charge for warehousing for the time during which the goods shall remain in the said warehouses. In case the said goods shall be removed to the Public Warehouses, then the said consignee or owner shall be liable to the charges for warehousing goods in such Public Warehouse.

Lien for freight preserved after landing of goods, if notice of lien given.

LIX. If the shipowner at the time when any goods are landed at any wharf, quay, stage, jetty, or pier, erected under this Act, shall give to the Justices notice in writing that the goods are to remain subject to a lien for freight or other charges payable to the shipowner to an amount to be mentioned in such notice, the goods so landed shall continue liable to the same lien, if any, for such charges as they were subject to before the landing thereof. Such goods shall be retained either in the warehouses and sheds of the Justices, or, with the consent of the Chief Officer of Customs, in the Public Warehouses, until the lien is discharged as hereinafter mentioned. If by reason of the failure to retain the said goods any loss is occasioned to the shipowner, the Justices shall be bound to make good such loss.

Discharge of lien by payment or release.

LX. Upon the production to the Officer of the Justices in that behalf of a receipt for the amount claimed as due, and delivery to him of a copy thereof or of a release of freight from the shipowner, the said lien shall be discharged.

If tolls not paid or the lien for freight is not discharged, goods may be sold after the expiration of two months.

LXI. If the tolls, rates, and dues payable to the Justices in respect of the said goods under this Act are not paid, or if the lien of the shipowner for freight where such notice as aforesaid has been given is not discharged, the Justices may, and in the latter event if required by the shipowner shall, at the expiration of two months from the time when the goods were placed in their custody, or if the goods are of a perishable nature at such earlier period, being not less than twenty-four hours after the landing of the goods, as they shall think fit, sell by public auction the said goods or so much as may be necessary to satisfy the charges hereinafter mentioned; before making such sale, ten days' notice of the same shall be given by publication thereof in the Calcutta Gazette, unless the goods are of so perishable a nature as in the opinion of the Officer of the Justices in that behalf to render immediate sale necessary or advisable, in which event such notice shall be given by publication as aforesaid as the urgency of the case admits of. If the address of the owner of the goods has been stated on the manifest of the cargo, or in any of the documents which have come into the hands of the Justices, or is otherwise known, notice shall also be given to the owner of the goods by letter delivered at such address or sent by the post: but the title of a bonâ fide purchaser of such goods shall not be invalidated by reason of the omission to send the notice hereinbefore mentioned, nor shall any such purchaser be bound to inquire whether such notice has been sent. In every case of any such sale as aforesaid, the moneys received from the sale shall be applied as follows:—

1*st*, in payment of the expenses of the sale.

2*ndly*, in payment of the amount claimed by the shipowner as due for freight or other charges in respect of the said goods.

3*rdly*, in payment of the tolls, charges, and expenses of landing, removing, storing, or warehousing the same, and of all other charges due to the Justices under this Act in respect thereof.

The surplus, if any, shall be paid to the importer, owner, or consignee of the goods or to his agent, on his applying for the same; provided such application be made within one year from the sale of the goods, or good reason be shown why such application was not so made.

Port clearance to be withheld if mooring charges unpaid.

A. Grote, V. H. Schalch, } Members, Board of Revenue.

Rules made by the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces, in pursuance of Act XX of 1865, Section 37, for fixing and regulating the fees payable by the unsuccessful party in respect of the fees of his adversary's Pleader, in proceedings in the Revenue Courts and Offices in the Lower Provinces.

Scale of fees prescribed.

1. In pursuance of Section 37, Act XX. of 1865, the Board of Revenue are pleased to direct that, from, and after, the 1st day of July 1866 the sums which shall be payable by an unsuccessful party in any suit or proceeding in the Revenue Courts and Offices in the Lower Provinces of Bengal, in respect of the fees of his adversary's pleader shall be calculated at the rates specified in the following schedules.

Agent to have three quarter fees only.

If a Revenue Agent and not a pleader has been employed by the said adversary, a deduction of one fourth part shall be made from the fees calculated as herein deducted, and if, though a pleader has been employed, the Officer presiding in the Court or Office be of opinion that the employment of a pleader was unnecessary, and that it would have sufficed to employ a Revenue Agent, the fees shall be calculated as for a Revenue Agent only.

SCHEDULE.

In all suits or applications instituted under Act X. of 1859 of Act VI of 1862 B. C., and in all Judicial or quasi Judicial proceedings in any Revenue Court or Office :

If the amount or value of the property, debt, or damages decreed does not exceed 5,000 Rupees, at 5 per cent. on the amount or value decreed.

If the amount or value exceed 5,000 Rupees and does not exceed Rupees 20,000, on Rupees 5,000 at 5 per cent. and on the remainder at 2 per cent.

If the amount or value exceed 20,000 and does not exceed 50,000, on 20,000 as above, and on the remainder at 1 per cent

If the amount or value exceed 50,000, on 50,000 as above, and on the remainder at ½ per cent.

Provided that in no case shall the amount of any fee exceed 3,000 Rupees.

Where value cannot be exactly defined.

2. In suits or proceedings to enforce rights of which the pecuniary value cannot be exactly defined, as, for example, in suits for a kabulyut or pottah, or for abatement or enhancement of rent, or for ejectment, or re-instatement, or in proceedings for the division of an estate, if the plaintiff succeed, the Presiding Officer of the Court or Office may order the fee of the pleader or Revenue Agent for the plaintiff to be calculated upon the valuation of the claim, or upon such a sum, not exceeding the valuation, as the said Officer may think reasonable and may fix with reference to the importance of the subject of the dispute.

For when case is dismissed.

3. If any suit, application, or claim, is dismissed for default, or upon the merits, or is decreed for the defendant, the defendant's pleader's or agent's fee shall be calculated on the whole value of the suit.

When it is decreed in part.

4. If any suit, application or claim is decreed for the plaintiff as to part only of his claim, and as to the remainder, is dismissed or decreed for the defendant, the fees allowed to each party's pleader or agent shall be calculated upon the value of that part of the claim in respect of which he has succeeded.

When in a successful suit the whole damages claimed are not allowed.

5. If, in any suit for damages under the Rent Laws, the plaintiff fails to recover the full amount of damages claimed, the defendant shall not be entitled to any allowance for a pleader or agent's fee in respect of the difference between the amount of damages claimed and the amount recovered, unless the Presiding Officer of the Court or Office shall be of opinion that the amount claimed for damages was unreasonable or excessive, and shall for that, or any other cause to be specified, direct that a fee for his pleader or agent shall be allowed to the defendant. If specially allowed the amount of such fee shall be calculated upon the amount of damages disallowed to the plaintiff.

When the defence is joint or common.

6. If several defendants, who have a Joint or Common Interest succeed upon a joint defence, or upon separate defences substantially the same, not more than one pleader or agent's fee shall be allowed unless the Presiding Officer of the Court or Office shall otherwise order, for reasons which shall be recorded. If only one fee be allowed, the Presiding Officer shall direct to which of the defendants it shall be paid, or shall apportion it among the several defendants in such manner as he shall think fit.

When several defendants make separate defences.

7. If several defendants, who have separate interests, set up separate and distinct defences and succeed thereon, a fee for one pleader or agent for each of the defendants who appear by a separate pleader or agent may be allowed in respect of his separate interest. Such fee, if allowed, shall be calculated upon the value of the separate interest of such defendant.

In miscellaneous proceedings.

8. The amount in respect of the fee of an adversary's pleader or agent when allowed in any miscellaneous proceeding, or for any other matter than that of appearing, acting or pleading in a suit or application, or other judicial or quasi judicial proceeding prior to decree shall be fixed by the Presiding Officer of the Court or Office according to the following scale, viz.:—

In proceedings before the Board of Revenue or in the Court or Office of a Commissioner of Revenue, Rupees 10 to 80.

In the Court or Office of a District Officer, Rupees 4 to 16.

In the Court or Office of a Deputy Collector, Rupee 1 to Rupees 10.

Undefended cases.

9. In any suit, application or claim, in any Court or Office of Original Jurisdiction which is undefended the amount to be paid as the fee of the adversary's pleader or agent shall be calculated at one-half the sum at which it would have been charged had the suit been defended.

Revival or rehearing of suit.

10. In proceedings for, or consequent upon, the revival or rehearing of a suit, the pleader's or agent's fee, if allowed to the successful party, shall be fixed by the Presiding Officer of the Court or Office at an amount which shall not exceed one-half of the amount that would have been allowed by these rules in case of an original decree.

The fee allowed in respect of the revival or rehearing will be irrespective of any fee which may be included in any costs in respect of the original suit or proceeding which may be adjudged to the successful party by the judgment in review.

Appeals.

11. The amount to be allowed on account of the fees of an adversary's pleader or agent in an appeal, shall be calculated on the same scale as in original suits, and the principles of the above clauses as to original suits shall be applied, as nearly as may be, to appeals.

Joint Appellants.

12. When the interest of several Appellants is joint, not more than one pleader's or agent's fee shall be allowed unless the Presiding Officer of the Court or Office shall otherwise order, for a reason to be recorded. If one fee only be allowed, the Presiding Officer of the Court or Office shall direct to which of the Appellants it shall be paid, or shall apportion it amongst the several Appellants in such proportions as he shall think fit.

Several Respondents.

13. If several Respondents in one appeal appear by separate pleaders or agents, in determining whether several pleaders' or Agents' fees shall be allowed, the Presiding Officer of the Court or Office shall be guided by the principles laid down in Clauses 6 and 7.

14. Office memorandum No. 400R., ... 29th January 1866, I have ... to forward a Report on the ... wrecks sunk in the River ... the years 1863-64 and 1865. ... upon the effect of each explosion ... extremely monotonous, I have ... description of the means at ... ying out the work; secondly, ... the general plan of operations ... There are two dis... first, the necessity for per... conducting wire; and ... bility of ascertaining that ... exploding the charge.

WIRE.

Gutta percha covered, No. 16 gauge copper wire, was used in all the operations, but I do not think it is by any means the best form of conductor which might be employed with a magneto battery; for, ... is quite new, it is liable to be cut or chafed ... coming in contact with any sharp substance in a strong tide-way; it melts when exposed to the heat of the sun if not carefully looked after and wetted constantly, besides it deteriorates and is apt to crack after the wire has been used five or six times. If the gutta percha covered wire were paid over with strong tape soaked in a water-proof composition, a great source of uncertainty would be lessened. Professor Abel says, "a copper wire of the same gauge coated with India Rubber and provided with an efficient protective hemp covering is considered to possess undoubted advantages over gutta percha covered wire."

FUZES.

The Fuzes were similar to those invented by Professor Abel for Wheatstone's Magnetic Exploder, (vide R. E. Professional Papers, Vol. ...). The fuze composition consists of nine parts of ... subsulphide of copper, two parts of the sulphide of copper, and three parts of chlorate of potash; but in the composition prepared here the addition of one part of sulphur was found necessary, owing, perhaps, to a slight difference in the materials used, or in the mode of preparing them, which was as follows:—

SUBSULPHIDE OF COPPER.

Brask a crucible with charcoal; then melt in it as much sulphate of copper as can be got in, adding more as the sulphate becomes reduced by heat. Having brought the whole to a white heat, allow it to cool.

Raised to a very high heat in a brasked crucible for about one hour.

RECEPTACLES FOR THE CHARGES.

Hogsheads, half barrels and kilderkins were employed. They were capable of holding respectively 500, 300 and 150lbs. The two large sizes, which were used in almost all cases where the water was more than 3 fathoms deep, required strengthening at the ends to enable them to resist the external pressure. This was effected in several ways (vide Plate I.); but I do not think any method superior to that shewn in Figure 3, which was adopted by Sir C. Pasley in his operations upon the wreck of the Royal George. It is simple and effectual and would have been employed from the first had I known that coopers were available. Out of twenty-four barrels prepared on the plan shewn in Figure 1, only two yielded at the ends, although most of them were subjected to very severe trials. The method shewn in Figure 2, although apparently more efficient, was not nearly so successful: this I attribute to the work having been unavoidably executed without personal supervision; for, by referring to the drawings, it may be seen that, unless the two iron rods which pass through the head of the barrel are in contact with it throughout, they will be of little use as supports.

When the ends of the barrel have been strengthened, a leaden tube 12" long by 1" in diameter closed at the inner end, having a collar about 6" in diameter, soldered round the outer end, is let into a hole carefully cut in the side of the barrel for its reception, a washer of canvas soaked in pitch and tar is placed under the collar, which is then tacked down to the barrel. This done, the whole of the barrel after being well paid over with a mixture of pitch and tar, is sewn up in strong canvas and again paid over with the composition. The canvas is only necessary if the charges have to remain a long time under water, and may be dispensed with when they are to be exploded immediately on being lodged. Plate II., Figure 1 shews the fuze, and Figure 2 shews the manner of placing it in the bursting tube.

The fuze with the wires attached is inserted, a small quantity of powder is then poured in, and the remainder of the tube is filled with Kitt's composition, which is first worked up between the hands until of about the same consistency as glazier's putty and then well rammed in with a stick. Melting the composition and pouring it into the tube, a plan which answered very well in a cold climate like England where the cement became hard almost immediately, was found to be a very slow process here. Several compositions, consisting of pitch, bees' wax and tallow in various proportions were tried for closing the bursting tubes; but, owing to the difficulty of procuring good pitch, some disappointments were met with in the earlier ope[rations] Kitt's cement, which is an o[ld] in fitting the fuzes of shells) answered the purpose satisfacto[rily]

The barrels were slung and [sunk] in Plate III; the weight varyi[ng] size of the charge and the st[rength] Sometimes in a strong tid[e] 500lbs. of powder required [to] 400lbs. to sink it; whereas [less] than half the amount was suffi[cient]

BOATS.

The want of a trustworth[y] using the diving apparatus [was] Several amateurs and professiona[ls] no satisfactory results were ob[tained] The employment of any but [those] to be avoided in operations of [this] in the Hooghly; for in addi[tion] difficulties a man has to cont[end] the strength of the tide, t[he] quicksands, &c., he has to dese[nd] of wreck and risk getting his [life] entangled in the same.

PLAN OF O[PERATIONS]

Having ascertained the loc[ation] the next step is to mark its p[osition] this is done by sending dow[n] ropes to the bow, stern and a[t] points, such as the hatchway[s] ends of the ropes are then [fixed] pieces of wood. fathoms charges of between 450 and 500lbs. were found to answer very well, but I think they might have been increased with advantage at the latter depth.

Between 3 and 4 fathoms 250 and 300lbs. charges are generally the most economical, a larger quantity simply throws the water to a greater height without producing a corresponding increase in the destructive effect. If, however, the case is such as will admit of a barrel being placed in the hold or completely under the vessel, a charge of the larger magnitude might be employed with advantage. The Lady Franklin's deck was partly above water at low tide when a charge of 475lbs. was lowered down each of her hatchways, and a fourth charge of 275lbs. was placed under her stern at the port side; these were ignited simultaneously at high water; the explosion was not very violent, but the effect was quite satisfactory, although the demolition was by no means complete. Had the vessel been empty, instead of being heavily laden with rice, and situated in a strong tide-way, instead of comparatively slack water, it it quite possible that the simultaneous explosion of these four charges would have entirely destroyed the wreck. It has been stated that a strong tide is objectionable whilst these operations are being carried on, as it increases the difficulty and uncertainty of placing the charges, but at the same time it greatly assists the work by removing the pieces of wreck not quite detached, which would otherwise hang on.

The distance between the Charges.

In laying two or more charges for a simultaneous explosion care should be taken that they are not put too close together; for, in the event of one failing to ignite, it would be liable to collapse from the concussion produced by the explosion of the other. In estimating the safe distance, I think one should be guided by the depth of the water, and allow once and a half the depth to be the least distance between any two charges.

When operating upon the Southern Cross, the two first charges were placed 55 feet apart on the same side of the wreck, the depth of the water being 48 feet; only one exploded, and on the other being raised, it was found that the end had been partially stove in and the powder in consequence destroyed. The non-ignition was satisfactorily accounted for on examining the conducting wire, which was found to have been laid bare for about one inch from the gutta percha covering, having come in contact with some sharp substance, probably a projecting sheet of copper on the ship's bottom. A great source of inconvenience would be removed by [illegible] not be [illegible] flaw in [illegible] to ensure
